Note: <888> 05/31/10 Monday 12:25 A.M. I made and fried two 7.5 ounce salmon patties which I ate with seasoned rice and watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truvia and lemon juice.

The way I make the salmon patties is that I take a 14.75 ounce can of Bumble Bee Alaska pink salmon, and I opened it up, and I leave the lid on it, and I run cold water into it a few times and drain it. I then put the salmon on a plate, and I pick through its filets looking for any small round bones which I remove and any other small bones. I put the picked salmon in the Cuisine Art and I add an egg and two tablespoons of bread crumbs and season it all with Old Bay Seasoning and Italian spices to taste. I pulse it a few times, and then it use a mixing spoon, and I push it down to the bottom of the Cuisine Art, and I pulse it a few more times. I then shape two halves of it into round balls which I compress together, and I flatted them to about an inch thick and about five inches in diameter. I put several tablespoons of olive oil in a frying pan on medium high electric burner heat and after the oil heats after about three minutes, I add the salmon patties, and I cook them for four minutes a side.

For the rice I use this method:

<http://mikelouisscott.com/mlsrice.htm>

<http://mikelouisscottcom.cv.siteprotect.net/mlsrice.htm>

This time, when I added the rice and water to the microwave rice cooker, I also added two tablespoons of olive oil, a half teaspoon of chili sesame oil, Old Bay Seasoning, Italian spices and India hot curry to taste, and I put the lids on it the microwave rice cooker, and I microwave it for 11 minutes, and then I let it sit for 5 minutes. I ate half of the rice with the salmon patties and the other half I put in a Rubbermaid container in the refrigerator. CIO

I woke up at 5 P.M.. I emptied the bucket of bleach down the kitchen sink, and I rinsed off the white rubber bath mat in the kitchen that I had soaked in the bleach and water mixture, and I put it back on the side of the bathtub. It is now clean, but it is a bit worn out from the washer machine.

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I surfed the internet. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I chatted with a relative. I threw out the garbage.

I went downtown to the Greenwich Automotive Services Gulf station, and I bought $11 of self service premium gasoline at $3.359 a gallon for 3.275 gallons for 46.5 miles driving since Friday May 21, 2010 at odometer reading of 66013 miles for 14.1985 miles per gallon driving in mixed traffic. I cleaned the outside windows and the sun roof. I checked the tires all around for 32 PSI.

I then went by CVS, and I bought a 48 ounce bottle of Wesson vegetable oil for $2.49. I used the bathroom at CVS. I then walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. I used the ATM machine at the Chase Bank on West Putnam Avenue just west of Greenwich Avenue. There front door is broken, so anyone can enter the ATM lobby.

However, I can not get it to work in XP Professional. I think it need the latest CSI Bluetooth driver, which I can not find for free on the internet. I tried installing the Cirago Toshiba driver in XP, but that did not work. Worrying that I might have messed up the system, I restored the entire system from the backup, I made yesterday afternoon.

I found a new 96 ounce jug of bleach underneath the bathroom sink. I put a quart of the bleach in the wash basin in the kitchen sink and I put the rubber bath mat in it, and I filled it up with hot water. It seems to be working cleaning off the mold. I will let it soak while I sleep today. CIO

I tried installing the Hotkey drivers and software on the Windows 7 partition, but the driver would not install, and my keyboard started typing the Hotkey letters instead of the regular letters.

I restored my Windows 7 Complete PC backup of both partitions.

I then installed the Hotkey driver and software on the XP Partition again.

I then replaced my headset with another generic one, since the two I had tried did not work properly.

Now the headset works just fine and with the communications programs too.

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes.

I chatted with a relative.

I did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup of both partitions to the Samba external hard drive.

I put the old keyboard on the book shelf on top of the mahogany bureau in the bedroom.

I put the two faulty headsets in the parts bag underneath the chair beneath the living room stereo system.

I put clean linens on my bed.

I showered, and I cleaned up.

I started two loads of laundry, and I have 5 minutes to go on the wash cycle.

Note: <888> 05/29/10 Saturday 5:40 A.M. From what I last remember back in July 1976, when Queen Elizabeth II showed up in Manhattan with Prince Phillip during the bicentennial, there were two to four million people that showed up in Manhattan for the event, and it was quite busy during the holiday weekend. Alas with the recession in full swing, she might just get to see the local people in Manhattan, since the last time I reported a crime against me at the police box in front of the United States Mission to the United Nations www.un.org, the reply was that there was nothing they could do about it, and that was it. From my viewpoint rich people get additional security in Manhattan, but the ordinary people are left to fend for themselves. Besides, I do not like the busy activity in Manhattan, and I am not use to traffic and crossing busy streets, and there are not enough public bathrooms in Manhattan for someone like myself that has to go frequently if you get my drift.

I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go to bed soon. I suppose the daytime people will be out in full force today.

Note: <888> 05/29/10 Saturday 5:10 A.M. I called the Lake Forest, Illinois police department Contact the Lake Forest Police Department to see if they are still awake out there in Corn Flakes country. Lake Forest, Illinois is a wealthy town, so they can afford to have somebody working at night.

One can get hold of them by calling 1-847-234-2600 and working your way through the town directory.

However, unless one were Scandinavian, you probably would not want to live out there, since it can get very cold below zero degrees Fahrenheit in the winter, and they also tend to get quite a bit of snow.

Personally I prefer living here on the edge of the tropics in Greenwich, Connecticut despite the fact that the people that are left here tend to be so prosperous, they actually do not spend very much time here, and they seem to travel all of the time, until they retire elsewhere or end up at the senior and the arts center, if they can not afford to retire elsewhere.

I worry that I talk about it so much about Lake Forest College, that somebody they might not like in Lake Forest, Illinois might bother them, but at www.lfc.edu, we had students from all around the world, and they seemed to get along in the library late at night from what I could tell. Well at least the library was warm, when I attended college there. When the local kids return from college elsewhere in the world, the town tends to change in the summer, so I only spent about a month out there in the summer after I graduated, and because I could not get a job I return back east to where my father helped run a small photography company in the Boston area, but I got ambitious, and I came down to the New York City area to take over Wall Street and the Computer industry, but alas I never got a job worth mentioning besides being a dishwasher and a pot scrubber in Nantucket.

My computer activity is like doing needlepoint, it is just something that I know how to do after many years of experience. CIO

Note: <888> 05/29/10 Saturday 4:10 A.M. I was just thinking that since Helen Kress Williams was part German, and she started Billy Baldwin in the interior decorating business, and since her godson Fred Von Mierers <http://mikelouisscott.com/fred.htm> was suppose to take over Billy Baldwin's business, and since most of Fred's house guests at 420 East 49th street were German, more than likely the three of them were in cahoots with the Germans in some way or another. Billy Baldwin also lived on Hussey Street in Nantucket across from Jimmy Eldert behind India House, so more than likely Jimmy was in cahoots with the Germans. Also since John Bolton's great grandmother was part of the Kaiser of Germany's consulate staff in New York City, they were probably involved with the Germans. From what I can tell, more than likely since my mother's Dutch family in Holland, Michigan is from a small Dutch town near the German border, we have been keeping an eye out on the Germans for a long time. I have even been to Germany a few times, but also I only know a few words of German.

I ate a Kaiser Roll with Smart Balance spread. Kaiser rolls go stale very quickly in less than a day, so if you like fresh Kaiser rolls keep them in the freezer, and auto defrost them in the microwave oven at .3 pounds for a quick Kaiser roll snack. Up in Boston, they do not call them Kaiser rolls, they call them Bulkie rolls. Elsewhere, they call them Hard Rolls. CIO

Note: <888> 05/29/10 Saturday 3:35 A.M. When one British citizen showed up at the Greenwich, Connecticut hospital about 12 years ago with her daughter whom was sick, and they were just returning from Costa Rica, and they were refused treatment, because they did not have medical insurance, when I ran into them downtown, and they told me the problem, I suggested they buy Schweppes.com Quinine Water or Tonic water at the Grand Union food store when it was there, which is what they use to use for Malaria in the tropics. I do not know whether the daughter ever recovered or not. When I was in the tropics of south Florida, when I could occasionally afford it, I would drink a Vodka and Tonic Water with a twist of lime, but you do not really need the Vodka down south. I guess they could come up with a new alcohol drink with Rum and Tonic water, but they probably have that already, but I forget what it is called. The British I think used to drink Gin and Tonic in the tropics. I am not sure whether or not it was for health reasons or not. CIO

Of course, some people have different experiences and different routines than the ordinary people in the world have. What I have found from traveling a lot is that like military combat people, a lot of people whom travel a lot have what you might call "Traveler's Fatigue" Travel-related causes of Fatigue - WrongDiagnosis.com which might be similar to NIMH · Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder \(PTSD\) . Since I spent two winters from September 1976 to May 1977 and from October 1977 to May 1977 living outside homeless in South Florida, I could have possibly contracted some sort of tropical illness like "Alligator Fever" which the medical community up north does not know about. However, the British Way Up North, 1500 miles north of Hudson's Bay call it The Outward Bound Trust - UK and in America they call it Outward Bound . The head of Outward Bound went to www.lfc.edu , and he use to live in Greenwich, Connecticut. Since I was very poor, when I was living outside in the beach areas of south Florida, I did my own cheap version of Outward Bound, since I could not afford to go on the more expensive organized programs. When I got back from the Bahamas in January 1978, and I returned to my life of living outside in the wilderness area of Key West, Florida, Lord Batton Powell's grandson showed up, and said it was the The Scout Association . From my viewpoint, it was more like "Lord of the Flies". When I used to go occasionally go down to Washington D.C., and I chatted with Dr. Gillespie about Lyndon Johnson's heart problems, he told me that the worse cause of heart disease was not smoking or cholesterol but it was stress. He had done thousands of autopsies in his work as a heart surgeon.

From my experience, although I still smoke cigarettes to reduce stress, I try to exercise walk in a friendly environment for health reasons. However, depending on the time of day and the day of the week, Greenwich Avenue can be stressful or stress free.

I have to do laundry when I wake up later on today.

Not much really ever goes on in the world, except some times rich people hire writers to make it seem like something is going on, so they can make money off people when they visit those places that are written about.

I have traveled a little bit in my life, and generally one needs money when you get some place else, and since one is not familiar with the cheaper way of doing things in a new area, it frequently can be more expensive when one travels. I remember paying a few dollars in France for a hamburger made out of horse meat, but I did not know Cheval was horse at the time.

In New York City, the cheapest way to eat is to either live somewhere, where there is a cheap grocery store, or eat the cheapest things at your local deli or restaurant. There are always a few places that have reasonably priced food, since in New York City besides the Rich People, they have to feed the blue and white collar workers. Of course in my few trips that I have made in the last 20 years, I have noticed a lot of fruit stands on the corners of POSH neighborhoods and hotdog vendors.

There are fat people in New York City, but you do not always seem them walking around in circles like most the people there do.

I guess at 220 pounds and 6 feet tall, I might be classified as a fat person, but by back country Greenwich, Connecticut standards, I would not be considered over weight, because there are plenty of wealthy people in back country whom are quite a bit larger than I am, but they do not bother exercise walking downtown keeping an eye on the tourists.

When I first got into personal computers 20 years ago, I met someone whom was a friend of Nancy Rockefeller, and he weighed about 600 pounds, but he lived over in a very small house in Stamford, Connecticut near www.abb.com . He was a software engineer for Schweppes.com . Before the internet took off in those first few years, they use to have computer fairs in the surrounding areas, and I would see a lot of extremely heavy people at the computer fairs, so some of the original computer people are not necessarily as thin as some people think.

Having visited and lived in the Midwest, I have seen a lot of very big people. I guess the biggest person I have seen back east was the man at the Hauppauge, Long Island Microsoft presentation about five years ago. However, I got there early, and I saw him, but most of the thousands of people attending did not. I am not sure whether he was a Microsoft employee or a Hyatt Hotel employee, but generally when a person is that large, you do not bother him. I recall he was about five feet wide, so he could fit through two double three foot wide doors. CIO

I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. It is cooler today with the rain, so I have both air conditioners at higher temperature settings, and the apartment is comfortable.

You can buy the 8,000 BTU Frigidaire air conditioner that I bought at PC Richard and Son in Norwalk, Connecticut out in Nantucket from this web site FRA086AT7 by Frigidaire in Hyannis, MA - Frigidaire Window-Mounted Compact Room Air Conditioner . CIO

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 9:05 A.M. I took the power supply from the Husky lantern, and I put it on the little DVD player in the living room which is also 9 volts. The Coby universal power supply on that set at 9 volts was starting to get hot, because for some odd reason the little DVD player had been left turned on, although its lid was closed which should turn it off. I kept the 9 Volt tip from the Coby Universal power supply, and I threw away the Coby universal power supply along with the Husky lantern, and I left its lead acid battery on the side of the dumpster to be recycled. I put out two regular lanterns on the bookcases in the hallway along with the one already there, but one of them needs a new lantern battery. I went downstairs, and I chatted with the building custodian and some neighbors. I am a bit tired, so I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go to bed soon. Remember there are suppose to be thunderstorms this afternoon. CIO

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 7:25 A.M. I printed out the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 Service Manual, and I put it in a clamp binder. I left it on top of my Toughbook. I went outside, and I checked the outside of the building area. I said good morning to a tenant's relative.

The Husky lantern appears not to be taking a charge, so its battery must be worn out.

I took it apart, and it uses an SW 123 Lead Acid battery.

I could buy it here Sel SW123 Compatible Battery for $13.40 and $10 shipping, but the Husky lantern only cost me $20 at Home Depot about four years ago, so I do not think it is worth replacing its battery. Plus I do not ever recall using it, or if so not much at all. I will keep it around for a while, but I will probably end up throwing it away. CIO

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 4:35 A.M. I watched a little bit of television. The Turner Movie Channel is showing Memorial Day Weekend Films. CIO

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 3:30 A.M. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayo, and 1/4th of a 6.3 ounce tube of CVS reduced fat potato chips, and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch.

I put the two 17 inch laptop sleeves with the Targus laptop bag underneath the Samsung color laser printer on the oak dining table.

I opened up the automobile cigarette light power supply with adapters for laptops, and I put all of its parts in the black Eton radio bag. One has to know the voltage on the laptop power supply which should be labeled on the power supply, and set the automobile laptop power supply to that voltage along with the correct adapter. I put the Eton bag on the middle white book shelf at the kitchen entrance.

I turned up the air conditioners a bit, so it is a bit warmer in the apartment. It is suppose to be cooler today, and cloudy with thunder showers, so I should not get the direct sun light in my apartment, and hopefully it will be cooler.

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 1:05 A.M. I put the Frigidaire air conditioner information in the night stand drawer in the kitchen. When I sent its warranty, I noticed it goes to Augusta, Georgia. Since Frigidaire is owned by Electrolux which used to make vacuum cleaners in Greenwich, Connecticut; there is a local connection here.

When I knew Wiley Middleton in Fort Lauderdale, Florida in the fall of 1976, he knew a lot about hurricanes, and he did not even try to maintain a house in Florida after having lived there since World War I. He always wore a baby blue Augusta National Golf Course hat while he was running his various businesses down in Florida. He would just camp out or rent. It says he passed away in Tybee Island Online – Tybee Island, GA / Savannah's Beach Vacation Planning Guide at age 96 surrounded by his kin folk from the Middleton Place, Charleston S.C. . His nephew that I met back then looked like Bill Clinton. His nephew was from Brunswick, Georgia; and he was suppose to inherit Wiley's fortune. Wiley did not have any children by his wife whom had died the year before I met him. However, possibly he remarried and had children after I met him, so I do not know the real story. Since he started the General Motors Acceptance Corporation and the Middleton Shipping lines imported all of the coffee into this country, he had diverse business interests. He told me back in 1976, he was buying everything he could in Florida from the www.chase.com bank up north for 25 cents on the dollar, so possibly he made some money. CIO

Note: <888> 05/27/10 Thursday 12:20 A.M. It is 69.8 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room and 80.4 degrees Fahrenheit outside. It looks to be a full moon tonight. I did not get any mail today.

There are suppose to be scattered thunderstorms today and 56 to 79 degrees Fahrenheit.

Usually on a full moon on a hot night before it is suppose to rain, the fishing is suppose to be good, and if you look at this Tides.INFO: Ocean and river tide predictions for Cos Cob Harbor, off Goose Island, Connecticut Current , it will tell you about the local tides to determine whether the fishing will be good down on Steamboat Road this morning or not. However, on a warm evening; there are usually people down there anyway cooling off down by the waterfront.

Note: <888> 05/26/10 Wednesday 11:50 P.M. I am cleaned up. I found a power adapter in my power adapter box underneath the stereo system, and I plugged it into the Huffy two million watt lantern in the bedroom, and I am now charging it up. I will now throw out the garbage, and I will pick up the mail. CIO

Note: <888> 05/26/10 Wednesday 11:10 P.M. I was never charged the $18.02 for the clearance item here Laptop Cases | TBT006US | by Targus from Lenovo Outlet. I emailed them that I had not been charged, and they claimed they had charged me, so possibly I will not be charged for it. The charge occurred April 15, 2010. I put the Targus 15.4 Laptop case on the floor beneath the Samsung color laser printer in the living room to have available for carrying the Dell Latitude D410 laptops. However, I do not think it is big enough for the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 laptop computer. However, my red Swiss Army pack back that hangs behinds the apartment entrance door, is very good for carrying it. CIO

Note: <888> 05/26/10 Wednesday 10:50 P.M. I woke up at 8:30 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I chatted with a relative. I moved the brass Shield of Pall Mall from the side of the sideboard shelf unit in the bedroom to beneath the air conditioner in the living room. I moved the Picasso print on the bedroom wall above the side board shelf unit to the left living room window. It is just a generic cheap print, so I am not worried about the sun fading it, and it gives me a little privacy at the primary computer chair from being spied on by my neighbors, since I have no curtains in the living room anymore. I have the Space Shuttle print on bedroom window shelf to the left of the air conditioner. I move the younger Charles Lindbergh print from that location to where the Picasso print was in the bedroom.

I will now shower and clean up. CIO

Note: <888> 05/26/10 Wednesday 12:10 P.M. I went out, and I chatted with neighbors about 7 P.M.. I finished configuring the 90 day demo of Windows 7 Ultimate with Office 2010 60 day demo on the second partition on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 laptop computer. I am backing it up with the Windows 7 Complete PC backup program to the Samba external hard drive. I resized the second patition, so it takes up about half the hard drive space. I ate the remaining flavored rice with pieces of ham and cheese along with watered down punch. I have been awake for about 24 hours, so I will go to bed once the backup is complete.

Partly cloudy and 68 to 89 degrees Fahrenheit today. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and the Panasonic Toughbook backup should be completed shortly, and I will shut it down, and then I will go to bed. It is plenty cool in the apartment. CIO

Note: <888> 05/26/10 Wednesday 2:55 A.M. I installed my spare Belkin wireless LAN card on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 laptop, since it might have better range.

I installed the Paragon Disk Manager on it, and I resized its 38 gigabyte partition, so there is a second 14.7 gigabyte partition.

I am now installing the Windows 7 Enterprise three month demo on it. As a reminder on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 to get it to boot from an external USB hard drive, one sets the CMOS to boot from a CD/DVD drive, but when one boots as I discovered, one also has to press F5 to get it to boot from the external USB DVD drive. For dinner, I ate two 7.5 ounce salmon patties and a large helping of flavored rice with watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truvia and lemon juice.

I chatted with a relative. CIO

Note: <888> 05/25/10 Tuesday 8:20 P.M. I had a computer magazine telephone call at 10 A.M. this morning. I finally woke up at 1 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I chatted with a relative and a friend who also was installing air conditioners.

I threw out the garbage. I moved my car to its usual place. I mailed the $50 air conditioner rebate and the air conditioner warranty card in the mail room downstairs. I chatted with a neighbor.

I made 187 Premier Lights 100 MM filter Peter Stokkebye Norwegian shag pipe tobacco cigarettes while listening to and watching the Fox Business News . I went outside, and I picked up the mail. I went back outside, and I put my little cart back in the trunk of the Audi. I chatted with two neighbors. CIO

Note: <888> 05/25/10 Tuesday 5:10 A.M. Today is suppose to be partly cloudy and 63 to 83 degrees Fahrenheit. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go to bed soon. Hopefully unlike a lot of other times recently, nobody will be calling me up waking me up in the morning. CIO

Note: <888> 05/25/10 Tuesday 5:05 A.M. I sorted the magazines in order. I put a new Glade Hawaiian plug-in in the kitchen Glade scent holder.

I move the 12 inch Panasonic television from the small brass and glass coffee table to on top of the large Sony television with the Cable Box on top of it. I put hard place mats underneath the Panasonic television and the Cable box to make them more stable. I put the Panasonic TV remote on the small brass and glass end table with the Sony remote. I move the mahogany tea table with the telephones in front of the Danish bar. I moved the small brass and glass end table to the right of it in front of the left side of the mahogany bureau. I put the small DVD player and the brass shell lamp on it. It opens up that particular space a little bit more. I replaced a faulty two line telephone splitter with a good one that hopefully will not pull out.

I put a 12 pack of Scott toilet paper on the stereo speaker in the bedroom window with a roll of paper towels, so they are easier to reach than the rest on top of the file cabinet. With the sheet in the window, it should not be to hot there. CIO

Note: <888> 05/25/10 Tuesday 3:30 A.M. I put two rolls of toilet paper in the men's room downstairs. Possibly if someone is taking the toilet paper from the rest rooms downstairs, they should install one of those commercial toilet paper dispensers. CIO

I set the new air conditioner on energy saving. CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 11:00 P.M. I went out after the last note. I used the men's room downstairs. I have noticed the last few times that I have used it that there is no toilet paper in the men's room.

I went downtown, and I went by the Chase Bank ATM just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue. I then went by CVS, and I bought 12 pack of Lipton www.lipton.com 16.9 ounce bottles of diet green tea with citrus flavors for $6.99 and two 6.38 ounce Pringles salt and vinegar potato chips for $1.50 each for $9.99 total.

I then sat out for a while briefly downtown, and I watched Starbucks close at 10 P.M.. I then returned home back to my cooler apartment. All of the parking spaces are now filled up again.

I will now make and eat a 16 ounce Maria Callendar chicken pot pie which I will eat with a glass of watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truvia sweetner and lemon juice. CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 9:15 P.M. I chatted with a neighbor. I went out after the last note, and I drove on I-95 East in heavy traffic up to www.pcrichard.com in Norwalk, Connecticut. It is located where Circuit City used to be.

The salesman Mark Braxton helped me.

I bought All Products / Air Conditioners & Dehumidifiers / Window-Mounted Air Conditioners / FRA086AT7 8,000 BTU air conditioner with remote control for $219.97, and the PC Richard Onsite Maintenance and Replacement warranty for two years for $39.99 and air conditioner foam rubber strips for $4.97 and $15.60 Connecticut State Tax for $280.53 total. Also there is a $50 State of Connecticut Energy Star Rebate on the unit. The actual case is about 18.5 inches by 12.5 inches, so I knew it would fit into my window opening, which is just a hair larger.

I then returned west on I-95 West, and I got off at Exit 5 West in Riverside, and I stopped by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue, and then I drove back to my apartment in Byram on Putnam Avenue.

I used my little cart to bring up the air conditioner.

Frigidaire is owned by Welcome to Electrolux USA .

I chatted with a relative.

I unpacked the air conditioner. I did not used the window side panels. I put the one inch steel bar across the top with four screws.

I removed the air conditioner window opening with my hex driver kit. After I installed the air conditioner, I left the double pane window that I removed on the window sill just beneath the air conditioner.

The air conditioner fit in perfectly. I stuffed the top and sides with two strips of the foam rubber and I put a flat strip of foam rubber on the bottom inside. I opened the window above it, and I lined the outside top and two sides with duct tape. I did the same thing on the inside.

I closed the window. I put the two batteries in the remote control. I plugged the plug into the air conditioner extension cord that I had available. I did the plug test and reset on the cord plug.

It works just fine, and at medium fan speed and 66 degrees Fahrenheit setting it is plenty cool in the apartment and it is not too loud. I moved around some of the bric-a-brac on the window shelf. I put the tower fan from the hallway on the window shelf to blow the cool air around more.

I turned down the Panasonic air conditioner in the bedroom, so it is not as cool. When I first installed it as the sun was going down, it quickly dropped the apartment living room temperature from 90 degrees Fahrenheit to 78 degrees Fahrenheit. It is currently 71.4 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room. I also have the Clean feature turned on to remove any dust.

The air filter has to be cleaned once a month. I have the information on it sitting on top of the primary Dell D410 laptop on the dining table. The estimated yearly operating cost is $59, and the Energy Efficiency Rating is 10.8.

I chatted with a relative twice. I went downstairs, and I chatted with neighbors, and I picket up my mail. CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 3:10 P.M. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with neighbors and the building custodian.

I finished the backups and shut down the computers.

I chatted with a relative.

I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go up to Norwalk, Connecticut and get Frigidaire FAA065P7A Window Air Conditioner, Room Air Conditioners . CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 1:40 P.M. Since it was colder in the bedroom, I wore my L.L. Bean Union Suit over my pajamas while sleeping. I woke up at 10:30 A.M., when somebody called looking for someone with a similar name to someone that once lived in this building. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed.

I did a Vista Complete PC backup of the primary Vista computer to the Samba external hard drive. I did a Vista Complete PC Backup of the bedroom Abit computer to the Maxtor external hard drive. I am just finishing up doing a Vista Complete PC backup of the Epox computer to the Bytecc external hard drive. I also did another XP Professional ASR backup of the primary Dell D410 laptop to the Samba external hard drive. The backup I did last night did not write the right backup file extension.

I will now make up a fresh batch of punch.

When I got up at 10:30 A.M., it was 62 degrees Fahrenheit in the bedroom, and it was 69 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room.

Right now it is 62 degrees Fahrenheit in the bedroom and 74.3 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room, and 80.6 degrees outside by the windows that the sun has just started shining on in the last hour. CIO

Cloudy today and 58 to 72 degrees Fahrenheit.

I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 3:05 A.M. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayo, and 1/4th of a 6.3 ounce tube of CVS reduced fat potato chips, and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch.

I finished the backups.

I moved the two heavy glass ashtrays from the white book shelf at the kitchen entrance to the lower levels of the Danish bar. I move the bumble bee lamp from the living room window shelf to the white book case at the kitchen entrance. I will use it for low light when I go out at night.

It is rather uncomfortable that I have to leave the bedroom air conditioner on maximum where the bedroom is 62 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit, so with the fans moving the air into the living room, it is 75 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room at night. I will try to sleep in the colder conditions tonight, so it is cooler in the living room in the day time.

One the living screen is installed, and I have a smaller air conditioner for the living room, it should not be necessary to keep the bedroom air conditioner so cold.

I am installing the updates on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29. CIO

Note: <888> 05/24/10 Monday 1:50 A.M. Today is Queen Victoria's 191th birthday Victoria of the United Kingdom - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia .

In honor of Queen Victoria, I am removing the four betas Windows 7 from the four partitions they were on four different computers.

I used Download EasyBCD 1.7.2 - NeoSmart Technologies to eliminate the Windows 7 in the boot manager of the two computers with Vista as the primary partition on the two desktops and the two Dell D410 laptop computers with XP as the primary partition.

I used the Vista Disk Manager to delete the Windows 7 partitions on the two Vista machines, and then I resized the partitions, so the primary Vista partition was at its maximum.

On the two XP computers which are the Dell D410 laptops, I used the Paragon Partition Manager that I downloaded earlier and installed for free to delete the Windows 7 partitions, and then resize the primary XP partitions to their maximum.

I installed the updates on all four computers.

On the Vista desktops, I did Vista Complete PC backups from the first hard drives to the second hard drives.

On the two Dell D410 laptops, I am doing XP Professional ASR backups to the Samba external hard drive, and I have one ASR backup left to finish. CIO

Note: <888> 05/23/10 Sunday 10:15 P.M. After dinner, I chatted with a relative. I showered, and I cleaned up. I put a white sheet in front of the bedroom window, so I have a little privacy. I tucked it in between the two window panes, and I used four strips of duct tape to hold it up. I have the area in front of the Panasonic air conditioner left opened of course. I threw out the garbage.

Recently the building parking lot has been filled up, because some of the tenants have two cars. CIO

Note: <888> 05/23/10 Sunday 8:30 P.M. I am microwaving a 16 ounce Maria Callender chicken pot pie which I will eat with a glass of watered down punch.

I also earlier cleaned the Ionic Pro air purifier. I also put the new Lasko box fan at the hallway entrance in the living room on low speed blowing the air from the bedroom into the living room. I have the tower fan still in the hallway on high speed without oscillating blowing the cooler air from the bedroom into the living room. I also have the two fan in the bedroom blowing the air on medium speed into the hallway without oscillating. CIO

Note: <888> 05/23/10 Sunday 8:05 P.M. I woke up at noon, when a neighbor called to borrow cigarettes, but I was too tired to help out. I went back to bed until 3 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I dusted the entire apartment including washing the glasses and dusting the three levels of the Danish bar setup to the right of the stereo system setup in the living room. That involved washing and drying about a hundred dusty glasses. I also vacuumed the entire apartment using the dust attachment to pick up more dust along with vacuuming the rugs. Thus I spent about four hours cleaning. I updated the air conditioner note below.

Since it is 66 degrees outside, I currently have the bedroom air conditioner vent opened, and I have it on high fan along with the fans blowing the cooler air into the living room, which is currently 79 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 05/22/10 Saturday 1:40 A.M. The cable modem occasionally stops, so from the control panels, I turn off the cable modem, the router, the net switch, and the wireless router. Usually after about 10 minutes, it works fine, when I turn them back on in the same order, as I turned them off.

Well now much happening in downtown Greenwich tonight except the usual Friday night diners, and a lot of the restaurants looked busy. A few of the restaurants have tables on the sidewalk besides the Thataway patio which is much larger for Al Fresco dining.

I have heard from my friends overseas yesterday, and they are headed from Bremmerhaven, Germany to Venice, Italy for their second cruise. They are my only friends in Manhattan that I know about, so currently at the moment, I have no friends in Manhattan that I know of.

I actually did not know that many people in Manhattan, but a few people that I knew, knew a lot of people.

I have to phone in another work order for the building custodian to put in my window shades.

Also the building custodian told me, he might have a smaller air conditioner for my living room window.

The 8,000 BTU Frigidaires that I looked at on the internet are suppose to be quite noisy, so I did not order one, besides I really could not afford one.

I plan to go up to Kennebunkport, Maine to visit with family towards the end of June 2010 and the first of July 2010. I have to get a hair cut before then which will cost me about $30 plus the cost of driving to Maine.

In two out the last three years, during the first week of June, we had hundred degrees Fahrenheit days, and then it cooled off again until the heat of July. CIO

Note: <888> 05/21/10 Friday 11:45 P.M. I woke up at 1 P.M. today. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I made my bed, and I washed the breakfast dishes. I threw out the garbage.

The building custodian installed in my bedroom window a used Panasonic 11,000 BTU air conditioner. He put in Plexiglas on the left side held in by duct tape. I ran the orange heavy duty extension cord along the windows from the living room attached to the heavy duty air conditioner cord attached to the air conditioner plug in the living room to the Panasonic air conditioner in the bedroom. It works just fine. I moved the spare toilet paper and paper towels from the left side of the bedroom window on the speaker to on top of the filing cabinet in the bedroom. It is too hot in the window to store paper. I put the Lasko box fan on the left side of the window to the left of the Panasonic air conditioner to blow the cold air out into the bedroom. I put the tower fan that was on the floor of the living room at the bedroom side of the bedroom door by the white bureau to blow the cold air into the hallway. I put the new Lasko box fan in the hallway on the floor to blow the cold air out into the living room. I move the tower fan from the living room window shelf into the living room just before the hallway entrance to blow the cool air into the living room. I still have the Sunbeam table fan also in the living room.

I used dust tape, and I hung the Oregon Scientific weather station sending unit from the outside of the center living room window with it hanging from the duct tape taped to the outside. I move the base station to the living room window shelf on top of the Buckingham Palace miniature in the window near the weather station sending unit.

I gave the building custodian the new unopened Newegg.com - Recertified: Canon PIXMA iP2600 2435B022AA Up to 22 ppm 4800 x 1200 dpi InkJet Photo Color Printer that I had paid $14.99 with free shipping for. I never use inkjet printers except for envelopes.

This afternoon around 5 to 6 P.M. it was 115 degrees Fahrenheit at the inside of the windows in the sun. It was 87 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room, and 65 degrees Fahrenheit by the air conditioner in the bedroom.

At this hour, it is still 65 degrees Fahrenheit by the air conditioner in the bedroom with the Panasonic air conditioner set at 10 and maximum air speed.

It is 76.6 degrees in the living room with the cool air being blown into the room from the bedroom, and it is 61.9 degrees Fahrenheit outside right now.

After the air conditioner was installed in the bedroom, I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I picked up the mail. I chatted with neighbors, and the U.S. Census worker who was looking for two tenants. I watered the plants. I chatted with a relative.

I ate my usual London Broil dinner that I have eating recently. I showered, and I cleaned up.

I went out at about 8 P.M., and I went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. The senior and the art center was closed up tight. I stopped by CVS, and I used the bathroom. After my walk, I went by the Greenwich Automotive Services Gulf Station, and I bought $5.50 of self service premium for $3.399 a gallon for 1.617 gallons for 22.8 miles driving since last Saturday at odometer reading of 65966 miles for 14.1 miles per gallon driving in mostly local downtown traffic. I cleaned the outside windows and the sun roof, and I also cleaned off some sea gull craps from the driver's side rear side of the car.

I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought two six packs of day old Kaiser rolls for $1.25 a six pack, a 8 pack of Stop and Shop hot dog rolls for $1, 16 ounces of Smart Balance spread for $3.29, Stop and Shop sliced white American deli cheese for $4.99 a pound for $6.26, Stop and Shop sliced deli premium Virginia ham for $5.99 a pound for $9.13, and fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $2.13 for $24.31 total. I then returned home, and I put away my purchases.

I have a control panel in the living room window, and when one turns off the master switch, it turns off the three lights in the living room window, and the dolphin florescent light on the stereo cabinet, which I have done to use less light in the living room.

I moved the Lindbergh print and the Space Shuttle photograph from the left living room window to the floor in the bedroom in front of the white bureau, since the sunlight in the living room would be too intense for them. CIO

Note: <888> 05/21/10 Friday 12:10 A.M. Back around 1962, when my family first moved to Greenwich, Connecticut from Stamford, Connecticut; where we had lived for a year after moving from Decatur, Alabama; our first house in Greenwich, Connecticut on Baldwin Farms North had central air conditioning. It cost $75,000 to build on a two acre parcel of property, and it had a widow's walk like the houses in Nantucket. The following houses in New Canaan and in Greenwich on Baldwin Farms South did not have central air conditioning, so we gradually got use to the hotter summers here. Our houses in Decatur, Alabama and Pensacola, Florida had central air conditioning.

I think air conditioning came into common use around World War II, but I have read about houses that had it in the 1920s. The British Foreign Office classified Washington D.C. as a Tropical Zone, until air conditioning became popular in Washington D.C. around World War II.

I do not make my ice tea anymore, but the recipe is still available at:

<http://mikelouisscott.com/icetea.htm>

<http://mikelouisscottcom.cv.siteprotect.net/icetea.htm> .

A lot of people drink iced tea in the summer, but tea is a diuretic, and it makes one have to go to the bathroom more often.

I use to live in Nantucket without air conditioning, and I was a dishwasher and pot scrubber in very hot kitchens in the summer, so I have endured more than my share of warmer conditions.

Of course, I have a theory that in India, where it is very hot, they use curry to not feel the heat.

Thus one could try to take a 6 ounce glass of tomato juice or vegetable juice and put in about one eighth of a teaspoon of India curry, and one might not feel the heat as much.

I am not driving down around the waterfront on Steamboat Road anymore, since it is mostly Hispanic people down there, and I do not know Spanish. Plus in the last few summers, there has hardly been any place to park down there, whenever I have gone down there.

They are going to clean and stripe the Board of Education Parking lot downtown this Saturday, so it will be closed for parking.

There are still a lot of vacant store fronts on Greenwich Avenue, if anyone can afford to invest in a street business. CIO

Note: <888> 05/20/10 Thursday 10:20 P.M. I went out after the last note. I went by CVS on Greenwich Avenue, and I picked up a prescription.

I bought a Sunbeam 12" Oscillating Table Fan for $29.99 less a $5 off $30 CVS internet coupon and a $1.50 tax for $26.49 total. I then returned to my car, and I drove further down Greenwich Avenue.

I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. There were two art openings going on at the Senior and the Arts Center and at the art gallery on the lower left of Greenwich Avenue. Arts on the Avenue is also going on with various art works in the store windows. The renovation work at the Star Chinese laundry has a red stop work order from the building inspector in the window. I stopped by CVS again, and I bought two 45 ounce jugs of Xtra Tropical Passion detergent for $1.99 each and .24 tax for $4.22 total. After I finished my walk, I sat out for a while. I tried to use the bathroom at the senior and the arts center, but it was locked up. There might be a bathroom on the second floor. I will have to look for it sometime. I only recall being on the second floor once or twice in all of my years in Greenwich. I tried to use the bathroom at Starbucks, but it was locked for cleaning. I returned home, and I used the bathroom at home. I chatted with a relative.

I assembled the Sunbeam 12 inch fan, which is not too tricky. I put two round candy tins and a big Time Life cook book on the Samsung Color laser printer to have a level surface, and I put the fan on top of it. I set it on low set speed to oscillate. I have it turned mostly at the computer work area, but one could rotate it clockwise about 90 degrees to cover the recliner and the television area. It is now 81 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room and 72 degrees Fahrenheit in the bedroom window. CIO

I made my bed, and I washed the breakfast dishes. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage.

I put two new AA alkaline batteries in the Oregon Scientific weather station sending unit, and I changed it to channel 2. I dropped its wire stand in a hole in the wall by the window, so it no longer has a wire stand. I have it propped in the left side of the bedroom window, and it is working now.

Note: <888> 05/19/10 Wednesday 12:40 A.M. I watched a little bit of television. I have a 3:30 P.M. appointment today.

It does seem like the worldwide Obama recession has pretty much brought the whole world to a stand still. I guess whom ever still has money left in the world is hiding out in some obscure location that nobody knows about. It seems like everyone that used to be around Greenwich has left and gone away, but that might just be the people from the neighboring communities whom can no longer afford to visit here anymore.

One neighbor told me that gasoline is suppose to up, and a relative told me that gasoline is suppose go down. Basically I never see any customers in banks, so it is hard to tell why there are building so many banks in this area.

Maybe they hope somebody will show up and put money in the bank. I know in Europe when I last visited during the Albertville, France winter Olympics in 1992, they had two sets of bullet proof doors at every bank entrance, and one had to be buzzed through one set of bank doors, before they would let one go into the other set of bank doors.

Besides the computer activity, my life has been so simple for most of my life, I have had not had to change too much in my routines since the recession started a couple of years ago.

In my youth, there were a number of ways to make a little bit of money, but I am not longer fit to dive for golf balls in golf course ponds. I also do not think there would be much of a market for homemade pot holders and place mats made with fabric loops.

One can make their own beer at home legally, but I am not sure if the cheap bulk ingredients are available anymore.

It seems to me that the people whom I see in Kennebunkport, Maine in the summer are more self sufficient, but I do not have those northern skills that they have acquired over generations.

I am basically an office geek, and I know how to run my office as best I can.

Not many people communicate, so I guess nobody has anything to communicate. It is like we might be in Greenwich, Russia; and New York does not even exist. The young people seem to be content with their younger activities. It is sort of hard to tell if any of the republicans that were once around here in the Bush administration ever had any money, or if they were just driving around trying to look official like it was some sort of automobile rally.

From all I know from television here, the current President once left the White House to buy hamburgers from a fast food operation, and they have not shown any other activity to speak of happening down there. Most of the nightly television seems to be police shows which I do not find too entertaining.

I enjoy the cooking shows, but it is like they ran out of food here, and they are just advertising bottled water. We tend to have plenty of water in the eastern part of the United States, unlike the less fortunate people out west whom have always lived without much water. I remember seeing a six foot sign once in Santa Cruz, California asking people to limit showers to five minutes. Here I use a water flow restrictor shower head, and I only take a couple of minutes shower, and I turn it off, when I am lathering with soap. However, that is save on hot water energy and not water.

I find that by driving less, I have less gasoline and maintenance costs, so I am able to do more with computers. However, currently my inventory of computers and computer expenses have exceeded my budget, so I do not plan any other computer hardware purchases. I am not sure what I need the three laptops for, but if need be I could always try to sell one or two on Ebay, but I think they are worthwhile configurations to keep for a long time, and since they are well built equipment, they should last for a long time.

I do activities based on my routines and my limited circle of movement downtown in a women's shopping area. At the second to the last Microsoft conference I attended five years ago, they were showing software to use for women's online purchases of clothing, but I guess it never caught on with the general public, and the women seem to like visiting the stores anyway versus ordering online.

I think most of the young teenagers and college students are into computer games and music, so they probably do not have the same perspective on the internet that I do after 20 years.

There is not much news out of California anymore now that it is bankrupt, so I guess people are pursuing simpler routines in their depleted economy.

I can see the flight pattern of Westchester County airport out of my new windows which have no curtains or shades, but I only see and here a couple of jets a week Westchester County - AirportMonitor - by Megadata - powered by PASSUR , so I guess nobody can afford to travel into this area anymore.

I did read this story today Senior Center members get a taste of changes to lunch program - GreenwichTime .

State's new M-8 railroad cars make first independent test run

Possibly the people whom commute into Manhattan make some money, but they do not seem to share the wealth out here.

From experience, generally when I go into Manhattan, my life gets worse, and the economy gets worse, so I think it is safer to stay out here in the green belt.

I just remember I have to renew my AT&T Go Phone by May 24, 2010, so I think I will do that now.

Note: <888> 05/18/10 Tuesday 9:30 P.M. I chatted with a relative. We decided for now, I would have the Greenwich Housing Authority Custodian install the General Electric Profile 15,500 BTU air conditioner with remote control in the right side of the bedroom window. I will place a work order with them tomorrow. I can run a heavy duty extension cord that I have from the air conditioner plug in the living room to the bedroom, and the windows installers left a space to run the cord along the windows between the two rooms. I will place a tower fan at the bedroom door entrance to blow the cooler air from the bedroom into the living room area. I am worried that the Frigidaire 8,000 BTU unit might be too noisy, and I already know the General Electric unit is relatively quiet. I checked out my bedroom window, and the screen lifts up, thus I could put the 15,500 BTU General Electric Profile air conditioner on the right side of the bedroom window, and I could use a tower fan to blow the cold air from the bedroom in the living room.

I figure this Frigidaire - MS II Compact 8,000 BTU Window Air Conditioner - White - FAA082P7A is the best air conditioner for the living room, so I might order it tomorrow once I get the word from the same associate. It would not be too difficult to install the GE air conditioner in the bedroom, if I had somebody to help me lift the unit into place in its frame. I closed the bedroom window, until it is only opened 4.5 inches. I need to dust and clean the Danish bar area with all of its glassware. The associate suggested that I get rid of some of the items at that location. I do not plan to hold any receptions or cocktail parties with all of the electronics in my apartment, so the Danish bar area is left over from a time when I allowed for that contingency. From what little I have read about the BP oil leak in the Gulf of Mexico, the capture device they built and sunk to the sea floor did not work, because methane gas crystals blocked its pipe at the top.

Possibly they could construct a capture device like an upside down toilet bowl which would suck the oil out from lower down the sides of the device, and they could pump the hot water into the top of the device to dissolve the methane ice crystals that build up. However, from what little I know oil floats on top of water, so possibly if the methane gas crystals were dissolved with hot water, the oil would rise above the hot water, and from the lower sides of the capture device, only the hot water would be returned instead of the oil. It would seem to me that since oceanographers frequently work in tens of thousands of feet of water, they would have equipment and expertise in the situation.

I know the Cousteau Institute is in Monte Carlo, and the Japanese whom are suppose to have a lot of money are also suppose to be the world's best oceanographers as well as being expert engineers as we all know.

Possibly a lot of the visitors that south Florida once experienced are now going to larger warmer areas like Brazil, so nobody knows where some people have gone if they happen to have money to travel during the worldwide recession. It does seem to me that a large company like British Petroleum would be owned by a lot of different worldwide funds, so possibly it is not really a local British problem but that of a worldwide corporation owned by the general worldwide population with just a British name. My family and I stayed one month in Tobago in the spring of 1971 in a house next door to the former chairman of British Petroleum, Mr. Colon at the Mount Irvine Club, but that is about all I know about the company other than the fact that Trinidad and Tobago like Venezuela have large off shore oil assets. Note: <888> 05/17/10 Monday 10:15 A.M. I had a survey telephone call at about 10 A.M. this morning, and I told them I was asleep. I then went back to bed until noon. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I made my bed, and I washed the breakfast dishes. I showered, and I cleaned up.

I chatted with County TV and Appliance - Appliances and Electronics in Stamford, Greenwich and Norwalk, Connecticut , and they said they would call me back if they had a 8,000 BTU Frigidaire air conditioner that fits into a 12.5 by 18.5 inch opening. I called them back, and I discussed P12B by Friedrich in Stamford, CT - ZoneAire ® Portable Air Conditioners: P12B which is $599 and at 11,600 BTU it probably would be strong enough to cool my apartment.

I then went out, and I chatted with neighbors. I threw out the garbage. I went by the Cos Cob shopping center, but the appliance store is no longer there. I toured CVS. Brita water filters are 20% off this week. I then went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I bought a Amazing 8's scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I used the bathroom at the senior and the arts center. I then stopped by CVS during my walk. I bought four 14.75 ounce cans of Bumble Bee Alaska canned salmon for $1.50 each for $6 total. I also bought two Degree Adrenaline Sport Defense Invisible Anti-Perspirant and Deodorant for $3.50 each and .42 tax for $7.42 total. I then finished my walk. In the economic Obama recession times, there was hardly anyone downtown. At about 6:30 P.M., I tried using the bathroom at the senior and the arts center, but it was locked, and I was told by the building custodian the place was closed, and that was the first time I had been ever told that in the last ten years. It is usually open on week days until 10 P.M.. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I then went by the Greenwich Library, and chatted with a few staff members and a local. The place was not busy at all. They have a lot of volcano books on display. I checked out "Volcanoes of the Earth" by Fred M. Bullard, the second revised edition with a new chapter on the Volcanoes of the Cascade Range. Everyone downtown looked pretty grumpy today. I guess with the British Labor government officials having to return back to England, the locals liberals have nobody to network with. I then returned home, and I picked up my mail. My www.time.com subscription is about to expire, and I will not renew it. I never had time to read it. I chatted with a relative. I chatted with a friend. I straightened up the bathroom bookcase with my bathroom supplies in it. I already had spare deodorant, so I did not need it. I also put a new Walgreen's Bowl Fresh blue toilet tank cleaner jar in the toilet tank earlier today.

I will now make and eat my usual sautéed 10 ounce London Broil with steamed vegetables with olive oil and Smart Balance spread and a glass of watered down punch with a cup of green tea with truvia and lemon juice. CIO

Note: <888> 05/16/10 Sunday 11:05 P.M. I had a minor financial misfortune this week. I usually carry two little leather change purses with me. One I have with pennies, nickels, and dimes; and the other one I keep quarters in. I sometimes carry them in my www.army.mil passport pouch, however; when I take out my cigarettes; they can fall out by mistake. I seem to have lost or misplaced the little leather change purse with $2 to $3 in quarters in it. I will now put my remaining change in the remaining change purse.

Yesterday, I narrowly avoided an automobile accident. I had picked up the fellow walker, and we were driving down Arch Street towards Grass Island. At the intersection of Arch Street and Indian Field road, I stopped at the stop sign going south. However, it is an awkward intersection in that the north bound traffic from the railroad and turnpike area is permitted to continue on Indian Field Road making a left turn as if it were a straight road. As I started to moved out into the traffic lane, my passenger warned me that there was an on coming truck, which from my perspective was going much to fast. It was a double size red dump truck accelerating fast to make it up the hill on Indian Field Road. If such a large vehicle had hit my small Audi, it would probably have been a fatal accident on my side of the car. I think they should have stop light at that intersection, since a lot of the non local drivers are not familiar with the irregular traffic pattern. Much could be said about a number of other roads in this area which basically developed out of cow pasture lanes from the old days. CIO

Note: <888> 05/16/10 Sunday 10:30 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I threw out the garbage. I put the small folding cart back in the trunk of the Audi. I use it when moving heavier items which I did recently.

Not much really every goes on in Greenwich, Connecticut; but we get a lot of visitors here hoping something might happen. I suppose it is because so many of the residents travel, one is not always sure whom is here and whom is not. Since Pan American Airlines started in Greenwich, Connecticut; we have an experience group of travelers. However, it seems for the traveling public; it is hard to tell how things get done. I suppose as a conservation or green belt area, we are not prone towards development, and Stamford, Connecticut gets all of the things we really can not be bothered with. Since I have lived here quite a long time, I know my way around the estate areas of Greenwich, Connecticut; but I am not sure if any of the people I once knew have managed to hang on to their local turf here or not, since the public media does not really tell whom comes and goes. I guess the California newspaper better known as the GreenwichTime is not too tuned into the traditional Yankee lifestyle versus the fast paced California lifestyle. It seems sort of queer that a California company would run a newspaper in Greenwich, Connecticut; but they must make money some how, or they would not be in business. I know all of the Asians starting showing up here in Greenwich, Connecticut, when Malcolm Pray used to advertise his car dealerships on the Las Angeles airport television monitors. Thus the local business community here have a long tradition of not respecting people's privacy; despite what other people might think. Basically having lived in Manhattan, I know the drop dead walking public is basically wearing out shoe leather despite the exercise that is worthwhile. Greenwich Avenue is mostly women's shops, but since I do not know anything about women's shops, I do not know how the compare what is available here to what is available elsewhere in the area or what their prices are compared to other areas. It seems like if they can afford to pay the high rents in downtown Greenwich, they must be making money; unless they are some sort of front operations for other types of activities. It is hard to tell. CIO

Note: <888> 05/16/10 Sunday 8:15 P.M. I ate a bowl of Cheez-its, when I woke up from sleeping. I chatted with a friend this morning. I woke up at noon. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I chatted with a relative. I put clean linens on my bed. I washed the breakfast dishes. I showered, and I cleaned up. I did two loads of laundry. I chatted with neighbors while doing laundry. I made 221 Premier Lights 100 MM filter Stoker's Number 2 Ultra Light cigarettes. I gave a neighbor 4 cigarettes. I listened to the BBC World Service off the Asus Internet Radio connected to the apartment stereo system while making the cigarettes. The United States Census taker was here today interviewing neighbors whom had not filed their census reports. I also moved my winter shirts to the fall left side of the bedroom closet, and I put my summer shirts in the left center of the bedroom closet.

I will now cook a Stouffer's 21 ounce frozen lasagna which I will put grated parmesan and Romano cheese on, and I will eat it with a glass of watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truvia and lemon juice. CIO

This Tuesday May 18, 2010 is the 30th anniversary of Mount St. Helens eruption Mount St. Helens VolcanoCams - Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument . The following two winters in New York City in Manhattan it was extremely cold, and the temperature in February of those years went down to minus 26 degrees Fahrenheit.

To repeat for simple non English speaking program, I saw a program on the History Channel about a week ago at 1 A.M. in the morning, and it said the current volcano activity in Iceland was caused by a smaller volcano, and it disrupted European air traffic as we all know.

What has the volcano community worried is that historically that volcano with the long un pronounceable name has a history that when ever it erupts, the larger volcano just to the east under a thousand feet of ice erupts shortly there after. The last time that happened was around 1784, and it created global disruption in the northern hemisphere with much colder winters, crop failure and famine.

Note: <888> 05/16/10 Sunday 2:40 A.M. I left a message with an associate whom is suppose to pay a visit to my apartment this Tuesday afternoon. I am a bit tired from my recent efforts, so I will not be doing anymore apartment maintenance for a while, and I will try to get back to some of my normal routine. The two pictures that I had in the bedroom window can not go there, since there is no room for them with the Lasko fan in the window. I put the old print of Charles Lindbergh in the left living room window with the NASA Space Shuttle picture along side of it. Apparently a lot of people are being laid off by NASA, so there are experienced high tech individuals available for hire in the high tech field.

The General Electric Profile 15,500 BTU air conditioner with remote control cost me about $600 eight years ago, and it still works fine, when I uninstalled it this fall. I could put it in the bedroom window, but with the lay out of my apartment, it would not cool the living room much at all. I have an opening in the center living room window for a 5,000 BTU air conditioner, but it might cool my hotter apartment well enough. The Greenwich Department of Social Services said they would pay for me to get a new air conditioner. There are portable upright air conditioners that have exhaust hoses that could be fit into the small opening in the living room. Basically one probably would either have to cut Plexiglas to fit where the exhaust mount left a gap. It could be put in front of or behind the recliner. They run from about $300 to $600 depending on the make and BTU. A local appliance shop should be able to install one. Of course I would have to pay the electricity for it, which will be expensive. If one got one of the units that have a heat pump, one could use it for both cooling in the summer and heating in the winter. I think one is suppose to insulate the exhaust tubes for it, for them to be more effective. However, they are not as efficient as the window units. They have them at www.newegg.com cheaper than local appliance stores, but it is general not a good idea to order large appliances for shipment, because there can be damage in delivery. CIO

Note: <888> 05/16/10 Sunday 1:25 A.M. I chatted with three out of town security agencies and a local security agency. Basically living on SSI Disability income for the last 26 years, I have developed my own set of routines based on limited income. In Europe which is more affluent, the mandatory retirement income is 60 years old. Thus I am officially retired from any European duties. I still have what remains of my private not for profit volunteer effort <http://mikelouisscott.com> . The only friend that still talks with me anymore is a long time New York investigator, so I occasionally chat with him about New Yorkers trying to impress Connecticut people. However, having been fairly established in Massachusetts before the 1973 stock market crash, I have a larger network of people that probably have long since forgot about me. The old guard families in Massachusetts did not like me, since

I had a southern accent, and I smoked tobacco, and I occasionally drank a beer, which people up north seem to disapprove of. Alas, I have lived most of my life in Fairfield Country, Connecticut, and what most people seem to ignore is the Scott Family having been in America for 400 years have a large network of friends and associates that come in handy particularly if you enjoy eating food. From what I know the people who bought computers and whom are not making any money off them, obviously do not know how to use them in terms of their daily activities in terms of whatever that might be. Basically everything is out there on the internet, but you have to remember people in China only make about $200 a month, and people in India probably make less than that in the computer field. Thus if you are thinking about being an international computer business person in the personal computer field, you might take a big salary cut if you happened to have a more profitable job or like eating. There are so many unemployed younger people around, and they are now doing most of the not for profit observing around town based on their younger experience, but I am not sure how profitable it will be in the long run. I obviously do not get involved in activities which I can not afford. From what I know, since Greenwich is suppose to be a wealthy town, a lot of people based on New York City incomes tend to expect the ordinary general public to respond to them like New Yorkers, and from what I know if they can afford $10 to come out here on the train, they might find out that earning $10 out here in the wilderness of Connecticut is not too easy unless you happen to have a specific set of job skills that somebody with money needs. Having lived in this area since 1961, I pretty much know that once the retired people show up on Monday mornings, this area gets really cheap. I do not live lavishly, but I work quite hard on a limited income maintaining my own private environment based on my experience and not what some salesman or junk man would have you think. From what I know, not much is going to change around here, because a lot of those so called visitors to this area seem to be profiting off their business connections in this area which we seem to ignore. Since I lived down south before I moved here in 1961, I know something about Southern Business, and I dare say just because some holding company like Berkshire Hathaway has a bit of stock in www.coke.com , it is not going away as a business. If they made money when a bottle of Coke was a nickel they probably are still making money. Besides going to a few Microsoft business conferences over 20 years, the only business contact that I have had off the internet over 20 years is that somebody from the Ukraine email me about getting the Amway Global franchise for the Ukraine. I emailed them about the people in Grand Rapids, Michigan. From what I remember about Amway, besides having the biggest yacht in Nantucket, their most profitable franchise for one individual was the entire Disney www.disney.com World franchise in Orlando, Florida. Basically everyone else in the world ignored me, because there was no interest in my internet activity. I did deliberately make my internet activity boring, so nobody would bother my privacy; so I could keep busy in my own way doing my own activity. One observer in Greenwich, Connecticut from a more international country told me, I am suppose to keep doing what I do, and I am not suppose to know what goes on, and I am suppose to get a hair cut, when I can afford it, and I am suppose to stay focused. Alas I have not run into him in a while to give him an extra Bing Crosby Christmas CD that I happen to have. Maybe with the new Tory government, he got shipped back to England or some other diplomatic outpost in the world. CIO

Note: <888> 05/15/10 Saturday 11:50 P.M. One of my relatives that I chatted with thinks I am too speedy today. Quite frankly in the last 72 hours, I have done 16 hours of furniture moving. Plus in the last 24 hours I was in my apartment with all of the fumes from the caulk that was used to install the windows. Also the last time I took down the curtains four years ago and washed them at the Cos Cob laundry, I rehung them, and I ended up in the Greenwich Hospital, because all of the accumulated dust and pollen and other air born detris was in the curtains, when I was moving them around. Thus I was once again exposed to what I call the Billy Baldwin Amazon.com: billy baldwin: Books Curtain Dust Removal Syndrome. It goes away after a day or two. I like the four big four foot by eight food windows in my apartment opened to the daylight, although the bedroom window is partially blocked by stored toilet paper and paper towels on the window shelf. Lots of sunlight raises one's dopamine level, and one feels better. Thus my apartment now has more of a loft appearance. However, the brighter light shows all of the imperfections such as dust and other detractions such as old carpet and dirty walls. However, I have put area rugs over some of the carpets. I also have art work hanging on all of the walls like the Pitti Palace , so instead of painting the apartment, I just use glass cleaner to clean the glass on the art work. I have 21 years of experience in doing what I do in my apartment, and a Greenwich Police Detective keeps bothering me pretending to be a Greenwich Housing Authority inspector, and the individual does not know anything about computers, electronics, or decorating based on a limited budget. I know the individual is a detective, since I saw her wearing a badge, when a neighbor across the hall died a couple of years ago. CIO

Note: <888> 05/15/10 Saturday 11:20 P.M. I chatted with an English Security officer in a tropical zone.

Basically what is going on in New England is that we have had a very dry i.e. no rain spring. Along the New England Coasts with lots of damp swampy wetlands, when there is no rain, they tend to dry out, and the general population gets Ergot - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia poisoning. From what I know, the natural cure is nicotinic acid such as what one gets from smoking cigarettes. One can also take Vitamin B3 better know as Niacin Niacin - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia, but that causes red flushing, where Niacinamide Nicotinamide - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia . My expert on Ergot poisoning is currently away on a European cruise for six weeks, so I guess he knows while at sea there is less risk of exposure. Ergot poisoning is also known as Swamp Fever or Bog Fever. Niacin is commonly added to flour, so the general population gets treated whether they know it or not. CIO

I then drove back to downtown Greenwich, and I caught up with a friend, and we went for a drive all the way down by Grass Island. We sat out in the park there for a while enjoying the waterfront. I then dropped the friend off at his apartment. I then went by the Greenwich Library, and I used the bathroom. I cleaned the outside windows, and I checked the tires for 32 PSI. I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a 16 ounce container of Smart Balance Spread for $3.29, a half gallon of Tropicana low acid orange juice for $3, a 21 ounce box of Cheez-its for $3.99, a 21 ounce bottle of Jack Daniels original Number 7 barbecue sauce for $2.99, a 64 ounce container of Stop and Shop cranraspberry juice for $3, a 64 ounce container of Stop and Shop lite grape juice for $2.69, a top round London Broil for $2.99 a pound for $4.84, fresh Chiquita bananas .69 a pound for $2.11 for $25.91 total. I then returned home. I picked up my mail, and I put away the groceries. In the bedroom I took off the three two way splitters on the Verizon telephone line, and I installed the five splitter that I got from Radio Shack. The Verizon telephones still did not work. I finally noticed that the Siemens Verizon telephone at the kitchen entrance was off its hook, so I hung it up and all of the phones on both lines worked properly, except the two line AT&T bathroom telephone. I could not get it to work, although both lines were fine. I finally installed a Princess Radio Shack volume control telephone on the wall in the bathroom for Verizon and a Southwestern Bell black princess telephone for the Optimum line. Thus the telephones are now in good working order.

You can get the five telephone line splitters here Telephone 5 Outlet Splitter with 7 foot Cord 6P4C for $3 each , but the shipping eats up one's savings. CIO

It is currently 91.8 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room, and it is 86.2 degrees outside by the temperature sending unit in the bedroom window. I little while ago, it was 102.9 degrees Fahrenheit.

Note: <888> 05/15/10 Saturday 2:45 A.M. After the last note, I chatted with neighbors. The windows installers finished about 3 P.M.. I did not see the space shuttle fly by in the southeast sky, since there was some minor cloud cover.

The windows look really great. They still need to install a screen for the center living room window, so it is a bit warm in the living room without the window open. They also need to install the left trim strip on the left window. The bedroom window opens normally, and it has a screen.

I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayo, and 1/4th of a 6.3 ounce tube of Pringles salt and vinegar potato chips, and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch. I chatted with a relative. I tried to go to bed, but I noticed that the Verizon telephones in the apartment were not working. After fiddling with the connectors, I think the problem is that I need a new five splitter. I have it setup now just for the Verizon phone by the bed to work. All of the Optimum phones work.

I slept until 7:30 P.M., when a friend and a relative called. I chatted with a relative about 9 P.M.. I worked until 1 A.M. putting everything back in the apartment and setting it up the way that it was before the windows were installed. I threw out all of the curtains. I saved the curtain rods and hooks. They are suppose to install shades in the new windows, but that will probably mean moving more stuff again. Thus the apartment is back to normal again. I have the Lasko box fan going in the bedroom window. I ate a cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with watered down punch.

I showered, and I cleaned up. I made up a fresh batch of punch. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go back to bed. I will eat an English muffin before going to bed. CIO

I might be too tired to move the furniture and bric-a-brac back into my apartment this afternoon, but I could always do it tomorrow morning. Some of the finishing touches like the window shades and screens might take a while yet.

Still it will be great to have warmer windows this winter. Hopefully they will install the big sliding window in the living room, so I can use my existing big air conditioner.

I tried chatting with a few friends and relatives on my wireless, but nobody was there. I have to recharge the AT&T wireless account by May 24, 2010 with another $26.50.

The building custodian just looked at my computer.

This Deal Train Mania items - Get great deals on Auctions, Notebooks items on eBay Stores! is where I bought the Panasonic Toughbook Cf-29 for about $140 with tax and shipping, but after the other parts, I now have $320 in it, and so it was a bit expensive. It was a birthday gift from a relative. CIO

Friday, December 14, 2010, 8:50 A.M.. I chatted outside with neighbors. They have all four windows removed in my apartment. I chatted with a relative. They have four men working on my apartment windows.

I do not plan to rehang the curtain rods and the curtains. I only had them up for extra warmth in the winter. With double pane windows, I probably do not need them. I will wait and see how the windows are installed before I throw away the curtains and the curtain rods.

They said they would be installing the window shelves today also. However, I am not sure the building custodian will have time to install the shades or not in which case I would have to move some items for him to install the window shades.

It is an overcast day, and it is not raining. The wireless did not work at first in the community room, but it is now working.

Of course once the windows are installed, I still have to put the stuff back in my apartment which will take three to four hours.

I figure I better stay around here in case they need me for anything. I could always run out to McDonalds for lunch if I get hungry after having breakfast so early.

I slept lightly last night, so I did not get a good night's sleep.

The Panasonic Toughbook seems to be working just fine. I am using it with the mouse which is easier. CIO

Friday, December 14, 2010, 8:15 A.M..

The Windows installers started working on my windows at 7 A.M..

The way that I cleared out the windows' area was just fine.

They were able to get the cherry picker close enough to the roof to use it.

I chatted with neighbors. They almost have the three living room windows removed.

I checked the oil in the Audi, and I put in a third of a quart of Castrol 10W30 oil.

I am using the wireless internet in the community room. CIO

Note: <888> 05/14/10 Friday 6:40 A.M. I chatted with a friend. I will posted a link where I can post notes from my laptop. I have the Toshiba laptop ready to use in the community room today. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer and wait for the windows installers to arrive. CIO

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I threw out the garbage. CIO

Note: <888> 05/13/10 Thursday 9:00 P.M. I got a pair of khaki shorts and a orange shirt sleeve shirt from my relative, and they fit just fine. I put the toughbook touchscreen pen in its carton behind the toughbook. I hooked up the USB 2.0 port device to the toughbook. I put the new left antenna cover on the left side, and I move the old one from the left side to the right side. I covered up the small bit of exposed area on the right antenna cover with black electrical tape. I threw out the garbage. I told a neighbor he could not park where the orange cones are by the building entrance, since they need to have that parking area opened to do my windows tomorrow. I chatted with a relative. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I will go to bed soon.

Scattered thunderstorms tomorrow and 57 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 05/13/10 Thursday 7:55 P.M. I woke up at noon today, when I chatted with a friend. I chatted with a relative. There was a note tapes to my front door that they are going to install the double pane windows in my apartment tomorrow. I did not eat breakfast, and I went over the Greenwich Hospital, and I had my blood drawn for my follow up on my cholesterol. I then returned home. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with truvia and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed.

I then spent the next four hours removing the items from in front of my four windows in the apartment along with the curtains and the curtain rods. I have them stored out in the hallway.

The mail person delivered me a package from a relative.

Note: <888> 05/11/10 Tuesday 8:45 P.M. As I recall, the first job I ever had out on Nantucket was in the summer of 1975, I hung out at the Nantucket bakery making bread and pastries for free in exchange for some free bread and pastries to eat. Later on I worked briefly as a dishwasher at Captain Toby's before I left the island and returned to Greenwich. The follow summer, I returned in July 1976 after the Tall Ships in New York Harbor, and stayed at a guest house owned by the telephone company people near the White Elephant. I left the island after a week or so of vacation. I returned the following April 1977, when I opened sea scallops and opened restaurants. I then worked at Captain Toby's, the Nantucket Bakery, the Skipper Bakery, and the Gordon Folger for most of the summer as a pot scrubber, and that fall at the Languedoc restaurant Le Languedoc Bistro a Nantucket Restaurant and Inn. Serving French cuisine on Nantucket for over 30 Years as a dishwasher. The following year around May 1978, I went out there with a friend, and I worked at the Gordon Folger, the Languedoc and the India House, and I also worked as a house painter. In June of 1979, I went out there with the same friend, and I worked as a carpenter on a gift shop near the top of Maine Street before leaving the island after a couple of weeks. I next returned on my own as I recall in March of 1983, and I worked mostly at the Languedoc for the whole season until December 1983, when I left the island for good. I also did some house painting that season. I think when I first got to the island in March of 1983, I might have worked briefly at the Jared Coffin house as a dishwasher, since the Languedoc was not opened yet. I returned to Nantucket around July 1988 for a weekend with a friend. I recall staying at Mrs. Florence's guest house at 31 India Street, and at the owners of the Languedoc on Hussey Street. The last weekend trip, I stayed at the Harbor House. In the beginning and end of some of the seasons, I would make trips on and off the island. CIO

Note: <888> 05/11/10 Tuesday 8:10 P.M. As I recall the first time I ever visited in Nantucket was in the summer of 1969. My family was living in Weston, Massachusetts, and I was working as a research photographer at Polaroid. We knew the Emberson family whose father was the Station Master in Boston for the British Overseas Aircraft Corporation. They had twin sons Craig and Ian who were my age. They had also been stationed in Chile and Hawaii. I went out to Nantucket with Ian Emberson, and we walked out to the south side of the island, and Ian borrowed a surf board from another surfer and practiced surfing at Surfside Beach. I do not recall, if we spent the night there or not. I recall visiting Nantucket in the summers after that until, we moved back down to Greenwich, Connecticut in summer of 1972. I did not return to Nantucket until July in 1975, when I went out there. I spent more time out there until December 1983, when I moved back to Greenwich, Connecticut. One of the first times out there, I recall staying with a lot of kids from Greenwich in somebody's apartment on Orange Street, but I am not sure if it was before or after I visited the island with Ian. I overheard somebody from Manhattan chatting on a cell phone downtown the other day. They were trying to figure out how to get to www.nantucket.net from Greenwich, Connecticut. They thought Newport, Rhode Island was an hour east of New Haven, Connecticut.

From what I remember from several decades ago, one can take the Amtrak Amtrak train from Stamford, Connecticut to Providence, Rhode Island. If one looks at How to Get to Cape Cod, Massachusetts, it says you can take Bonanza Bus Lines from Providence, Rhode Island to the Steamboat Ferry Dock in Hyannis, Massachusetts. From there you take the Steamship Authority to Nantucket. However, during a recession there is not much work out on Nantucket except for summer help once the resort season starts around the Fourth of July. When I use to go out there in April in the late 1970s and early 1980s, the only work was opening sea scallops and opening up restaurants which they have a lot of. Of course rentals for island help are expensive, and everything on the island tends to be 25% more expensive, since everything pretty much has to be imported onto the island. CIO

Note: <888> 05/04/10 Tuesday 12:25 A.M. Well, back during the recession of the 1970s and early 1980s, I recall spending a lot of time walking around observing the local activity where ever I happened to live in such diverse areas as Greenwich, New Canaan, Manhattan, Long Island, Nantucket, Key West, and California. I recall, one sort of gets use to walking around in circles observing life. I seem to be doing better today, because even when times were better during the last 15 years before the new Obama recession, I never let my lifestyle get too far out of control. Once I got involved in personal computers slightly over 20 years ago, I focused so much time on technology, I did not; and I still do not know what is going on around me, other than what I read in the local press and on the internet. I have observed there still appears to be wealthy people in Greenwich, Connecticut; but when I am downtown; I notice a lot more people whom seem to be just getting by on whatever means they have available. There was never any money earned in computer technology and the internet for me, and it was just a way for me to keep busy in an effort in which I felt comfortable working at. Even though I am somewhat efficient in my computer activities, I know the scope of the internet, and there was never much interest in my efforts to explain how one can live on a minimal income in Greenwich, Connecticut. I obviously know how to work the keyboard.

Back in Manhattan on and off for 10 years, I would chat with many people and I knew people whom had literary back grounds and lived in publishing neighborhoods. However, they were more conscious of current fashion trends in hoping of making money, where as I usually would return to the suburbs and work on more simple routines around the family house or where ever I was staying. I learned in the period that I washed dishes and scrubbed pots and pans in restaurants in Nantucket and Florida that it is a very noisy job, and one has to go at a very hectic pace, which the landed gentry around me currently do not seem to be familiar with.

When I built the garage apartment out on Long Island in 1982, it took 6,000 hours; and I was paid $1.15 an hour after the project was completed. However, even in periods when I had a little extra money, the money would go very fast, because in wealthy areas; there always seems to be a group of people out there waiting to separate one from their money, and they are quite clever at it. I noticed a lot of people of means dress down trying to blend in, but they still have expensive habits in terms of their lifestyles.

Basically in my own personal routine, I frequently pay more for some items, since the gasoline to drive to some place like Wal-Mart in Norwalk, Connecticut where prices might be cheaper would cost more than my savings. Plus there is also the wear and tear on the automobile. Thus I have learned to shop locally here in Greenwich, Connecticut based on my experience. About once a year, I got to Home Depot in Port Chester, New York, if there is an item that I can get cheaper there such as light bulbs.

I order computer parts off the internet, and I frequently search web sites for months, before I make a purchase. For example, I started looking at used Panasonic Toughbooks CF 29s about last October 2009. I originally bought the Dell D410 laptop then, and when I found a similar one at Christmas time, I bought it at a very good price. Thus I had a backup laptop. I bought the Panasonic Toughbook CF 29 in case I need to work outside, or possibly in the library, since moving the Dell Latitude D410 laptops around might be more risky, since they are more fragile.

The friends that told me they might need an emergency office if something ever happened in Manhattan in terms of terrorism, told me about a month ago, they would simply go the Hyatt Hotel in Old Greenwich or some other similar place. Once I set up a very good office over these last years since 911, I have kept working at it at considerable expense. Since it is such a complex and expensive environment, I try to keep my working office private, and I am well aware plenty of people with more money whom have many portable devices to work in multiple locations with wireless and other communications access. Still I keep busy at my own activity based on my own experience.

Thus although I have the three laptops, I do not use them that much, since I have the four desktops also. I will use one of them up in Maine this summer. Since I frequently have to go the bathroom anymore, if I used a laptop in the Greenwich Library, I would have to get up every half hour and take the laptop to the bathroom, since I do not think one should leave laptop computers unattended in the Greenwich Library.

Thus as I have said many times before, I do things bases on my own experience, and not a modern salesman's experience. CIO

Note: <888> 05/03/10 Monday 10:45 P.M. Today was a Bank Holiday in Jolly Old England, because May Day fell on a Saturday.

I noticed today that the Chinese Laundry next to the Apple Computer store has closed, since their building is being remodeled. I was told by the Chinese proprietor that it would reopen at the same location, once the building is remodeled. I lived on the second floor of that building back in April and May 1984, when I rented a room from the tenant in the apartment. However, the tenant drank and partied all of the time, so I moved to 700 Steamboat Road in June of 1984, where I lived until I moved into this building in December 1988 as I recall.

I noticed the COLLECTION - Bang & Olufsen across from the Chinese laundry was also closed today.

Now that the dollar is so weak, I have noticed more tourists on Greenwich Avenue enjoying the cheaper travel with the cheap dollar.

I also used the bathroom there after my walk. I stopped by CVS, and I bought a .75 inch by 60 yard roll of 3M masking tape for $4.19 and .25 tax for $4.44 total. I can use it to label cables when I have to disconnect them. After I finished my walk, I went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a six ounce jar of Gold's Horseradish for $1.59, a 16 ounce package of Smart Balance spread for $3.29, a 59 ounce carton of Tropicana Premium orange juice with calcium for $2.50, Stop and Shop deli premium sliced ham for $4.99 a pound for $7.58, Stop and Shop deli sliced provolone cheese for $5.99 a pound for $5.93, six 21 ounce Stouffer's frozen meat lasagnas for $2.50 each, a 12 ounce generic honey for $2.49, a 40 pack box of Pure Via sweetener for $2.49, a quart jar of Hellmann's mayonnaise with olive oil for $4.39, two 48 ounce Quaker Old Fashioned oatmeal for $4.99 each, two 64 ounce Stop and Shop grape juice for $2.69 each, two 64 ounce Stop and Shop lite cranraspberry juice for $3 each, fresh Chiquita bananas for .49 a pound for $1.37, fresh broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.51 for $72.49 total. I gave the checker a $4.50 off $50 store coupon, but she forgot to ring it up. I will have to show them the slip and get my $4.50 next time I got in there. I chatted with a local. I then returned home, and I brought up and put away my groceries.

Note: <888> 05/03/10 Monday 1:10 A.M. Morning thunderstorms today and 57 to 78 degrees Fahrenheit.

I will now shut down the Microsoft Vista Primary Magical Mystery Tour Computer. Who needs Windows 7 when Vista works just fine for me. I am not doing too much complicated work on the computer that I need the newer system. I once got two emails from Bill Gates about 20 years ago, when I emailed him about the NASA Radar Imaging Satellite which could x-ray his nearby volcano at Mount Rainier. His first email was "What is this all about?". His second email was in PGP encryption, which I did not know how decrypt, so I guess they have some sort of problem out there with Mount Rainier which they are trying to keep secret USGS Cascades Volcano Observatory (CVO). Ronald Reagan Junior use to work at the Cascades Observatory, so he might know more.

Cousteau Society is in Monte Carlo, if I am not mistaken. Radio Monte Carlo Swiss Radio Monte Carlo is what I have been listening to.

He use to be in Key West, Florida; when I lived there study the volcanic activity in Martinique - Caribbean Islands, Caribbean Tourism , so I guess I lived around some volcano experts down there in Cayo Hueso Live Duval Street Web Cam in Key West, Florida :: Sloppy Joe's Bar :: . I guess I got so darkly tanned down there, they thought I was a Cuban refugee, when I came north to Nantucket A Complete Nantucket Island Travel Guide - Nantucket Island, MA 02554 . Fred Von Mierers <http://mikelouisscott.com.cv.siteprotect.net/fred.htm> was down there before me, and he knew Tennessee Williams. Fred was raised in Beverly Farms, Massachusetts by his Aunt Agatha; so he know some Old Guard Massachusetts people who seemed to know him in Nantucket.

Of course nobody knew anything about www.polaroid.com in Massachusetts in the old days.

I will now eat another Kaiser roll.

Note: <888> 05/03/10 Monday 12:20 A.M. Of course back in December 1983, when I was staying at the Anglican Seminary in Toronto, Canada, I ran into a Air Canada employee that looked like Tony Snowden. He gave me an Air Canada flight bag which I still have along with my Pan Am and KLM and possibly an American Express flight bag. Back then I explored around Toronto in the winter, since they have 40 miles of underground streets, it was not too cold up there in the winter as long as one stayed inside. I did go to a bar called "The Barn" that had about 2,000 seven feet tall Canadians a lot of whom had beards. What was very strange is that it must have been over 90 degrees Fahrenheit in the bar. It was across from the Toronto Arena, and it was letting out with thousands of Nordic youth coming from a Zodiacs soccer game. I had my usual Vodka and Tonic, and I suddenly felt a bit faint, and I figured someone might have drugged me, so I took a taxi to the Toronto Hospital, and after a while they said I would be all right. That is when I bought my Icelandic white and brown knit cap for $40 which I still have. Thus I was at the Anglican seminary at the University of Toronto for about two weeks. I learned while there that Toronto is about 25% Chinese. I tried to go to the Toronto Needle tower, but I could not figure out how to get into the place, and it was possibly closed. I did tour the Hudson's Bay Department store. I had visited Toronto a number of times before including visiting George Cary up there when he was working for the Ontario Jockey Association. I think I first visited Canada, when my parents were returning from vacation in Holland, Michigan; and we visited Niagara Falls, Ontario. I guess I am fortunate to lived down here in Greenwich, Connecticut in the tropics. However, hot weather is not good for computers, and one usually needs to run air conditioning. I turned off the Linksys Wireless Router, and when I shut down the primary Vista computer, I will also shut down the Netgear Router and the Netgear Switch. I will leave the Motorola Cable Modem going though. It seems strange that nobody that I ever once knew uses the internet. I guess they possibly enjoy other activities like cocktail parties.

From what I know about personal computer activity after 20 years, it is extremely useful for a variety of tasks. However, it does use up quite a bit of money that people on limited income might have other priorities for. I guess with www.ibm.com nearby in Armonk, New York; there are a lot of secretive computer people around here.

George Cary once lived near the IBM Country Club in Sands Point, Long Island; so he might know some other IBM people. George likes horses; so he is not too tech savvy, and when bothered by technology, he always says "Let the Chinese Take Care of It". Maybe he would be happier working at a Horse Race Track in Hong Kong, China which is suppose to be very profitable. I use to go to bars in the old days not to drink alcohol, which I never drank much of, but to listen to the latest music which if they had an ASCAP license they always seemed to play in various pubs. Alas after 20 years on the internet, I have lost track of the music scene. Also I do not go to Manhattan late at night anymore, since I got mugged there about 17 years ago, when I was the designated driver for a friend that does drink alcohol. It would seem to me that New York City people have lots of entertainment available, but it is hard to figure out what the local city people do for work versus what the tourists do for work.

Once the Rockefellers were out of political office in New York and Jerry Ford was no long President; there was no much interest in me; but I managed to stay there until February 1982, when my roommate had me move out; so her son could move in. It happened to be minus 26 degrees Fahrenheit, so I stayed with someone I met that lived above an Episcopal Church on East 52nd street. After a week, I went down to Key West, Florida, and I was back in Connecticut after another strange adventure around the First of May in 1982, when there was six inches of snow on the ground. Of course that was a colder winter.

Note: <888> 05/02/10 Sunday 11:25 P.M. I installed the Windows Updates. I ate two bowls of Cheez-its. I am listening to Radio Monte Carlo, which seems to have some pretty good music.

I noticed the other day when I was at the senior and the arts center, I saw an older lady playing Chess. I never played Chess much in my life, and I do not think I even know its basics anymore.

Back in February 1981, I came out to Greenwich on the commuter train from Manhattan. I left my bags at the Y.M.C.A., when they had no place for me to stay. I noticed in the Greenwich Train station that most everyone that I recognized was a Canadian business person. I spent the day in the Greenwich Library reading. I called a relative in New Canaan to let them know I was out here, and the relative told me that Ronald Reagan had been shot in Washington D.C.. I looked at the big screen television up on the second floor of the Greenwich Library. I then went and got my bags that I had left at the Y.M.C.A.. I sat for a while more in the Greenwich Library. I then took a Greenwich Taxi Cab to Westchester County Airport which cost about $7.50 back then. I sat in the airport bar not drinking but watching the news. A person in military uniform told me that the Government was probably on alert. Figuring that there might be some major nuclear confrontation coming up, I took the Airport Shuttle to J.F.K. Airport for $9. I happened to have a current Pan Am Clipper Club card which I paid $20 a year for, so I checked into the Pan Am Clipper Club in case any military activity might take place, I figured they could land the Air Calvary at Kennedy Airport. They had a free computer chess game there, so I spent the rest of the evening playing computer chess on the machine. I called my relative in New Canaan, and I told them I was ready to evacuate if necessary. My relative told me Ronald Reagan condition was unknown. I then called my roommate in Manhattan who was the former wife of a U.S. Government official, and she told me I should return to Manhattan. Thus about 11 P.M. when the Pan Am Clipper Club closed, I took the train or subway into Manhattan, and I returned to my roommate's apartment in Manhattan on West 74th street. Thus one time when I tried to return to Greenwich, Connecticut it was a major disaster day. It took about three years, before I finally was able to return to Greenwich in December 1983 after being homeless in Manhattan for a month with only having family telephone numbers and W. Averill Harriman's sister's garage apartment, where her nephew lived. I sometimes think if I had called that telephone number, I might be living out on Long Island instead of Connecticut, but having lived out on Long Island for a year when I built the garage apartment in Plandome Manor, Long Island and also in the late 1970s in Port Washington, Long Island, I felt Long Island was too busy for me after the more quiet days in the center of Nantucket. Depending on one's timing Greenwich, Connecticut can be a pretty quiet town, if you learn how to avoid Rush Hour. CIO

I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I chatted with two relatives. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown, and I went by CVS on Greenwich Avenue. I picked up a prescription. I bought a 20 inch spare Lasko box fan for $22.99 less a $4 off $20 CVS internet coupon and $1.14 tax for $20.13 total. I now have a spare Lasko box fan in case the one that I am currently using should malfunction. I can not put in my General Electric Profile 15,500 BTU air conditioner with remote control until after they install the new double pane windows in my apartment some time in the future depending on their other project they are also working on. I then went further downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I was told by the ticket clerk at the Greenwich Train Station that I can get the half price off peak rate should I ever need to go into Manhattan if I use my Connecticut state Medicaid card to show that I am disabled. I chatted with a local. I used the bathroom at the senior and the arts center. I stopped by CVS again on my walk. After I finished my walk, I sat out some more on the warm day. I used the bathroom at the senior and the arts center. I then went by the Greenwich Library which was busy. I toured its ground floor. It looked to be the usual group of regulars. I then returned home. I chatted with a neighbor. There are suppose to be thunderstorms this evening and rain tomorrow. I was told by a neighbor, they are going to change around the windows on an apartment that has already been done tomorrow, since they installed them improperly. I was told by anther neighbor who had her windows already done that they are cheaply poorly made windows. To me they look pretty much like standard windows. With Lasko box fan going in my right living room window and the two tower fans going in the living room, it is 83 degrees Fahrenheit in my apartment right now. I do not think it is good for the computers to be running in warmer temperatures, but I built them with lots of cooling fans, so hopefully they are running cool enough. CIO

Note: <888> 06/28/10 Monday 12:55 P.M. I left a $5 tip for the motel maid yesterday. I will be leaving Kennebunkport a little after noon on Friday July 2, 2010 to drop a relative off at the Manchester, New Hampshire airport, and then I will drive back to Greenwich, Connecticut.

After the last note, my relatives had some guests over. I drank some watered down orange juice. I then went with another relative to the Ramp in Cape Porpoise, where we had dinner with two friends of the relative. I ate a hamburger with cold slaw and French fries and a tonic water with a lime. We returned back to my relative's house. I went to bed about 11 P.M.. I woke up at 10 A.M.. I ate breakfast of Cheerios with a blue berry muffin and watered down orange juice with vitamins and supplements and coffee with half and half and sugar. I showered, and I cleaned up.

I called up the VIP garage in Arundel, and they wanted $180 to replace the brake fluid, where as in Greenwich, Connecticut; they will do it at Audi for $160, so I will get it done there. VIP would charge $305 to replace the serpentine belt which they have for the Audi. I looked at the Audi serpentine belt with a relative who is an engineer, and we figure the serpentine belt is still good, and it was replaced about 30,000 miles ago. There is no noise when the air conditioner is turned off at low speed, and at high speed the air conditioner does not make noise. It might be a bearing on the air conditioner compressor, but I figure it could be low on coolant, so the compressor is cutting in different RPMs than it might normally cut in on it. Thus, I will not get anything done on the Audi while I am here, and I will get it checked out at Audi, when I return to Greenwich. I chatted with a relative.

I am going to remove the IBM Netvista from the guest room downstairs, and I am going to setup an HP desktop that a relative brought up. I have to remove my files from the IBM Netvisa. The Kennebunkport dump has a thrift shop where I can donate the IBM Netvista. CIO

Note: <888> 06/27/10 Sunday 5:45 P.M. I went with a relative to a friend of my relative's house for a brief visit.

At Bed and Breakfast Inns for Sale, Inn Consultants and Brokers, Inn Consulting, Virginia, North Carolina, Maine, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Florida, New England, Ohio, Pennsylvania. , they have this bed and breakfast inn For $1,250,000.

I was told to meet their tax bill, the Rectory at St. Ann's Church Saint Ann's Episcopal Church, Kennebunkport Maine is for rent before and after the summer season.

We then drove around the Kennebunkport waterfront, and we went to the Bradbury's grocery store. We then drove out the end at Cape Porpose. I returned to my relative's house. We are now doing some house keeping routines. We have guests at 5:45 P.M.. CIO

Note: <888> 06/27/10 Sunday 3:30 P.M. The $18.02 for the laptop computer bag that I bought from Lenovo this past April 2010 finally was taken off my accounts, so I have less money. I brought up the Hawking wireless 4 inch diameter dish that I have, and I will leave it in the bunk room in the computer desk shelf on the left side in the family house for times we do not have wireless internet, so we can pick it up from a neighbor's house. It has its USB cables and CD disk with the drivers. CIO

Note: <888> 06/27/10 Sunday 3:10 P.M. A relative went away until Friday, but forgot his laundry in the drier. I folded it, and I put it on his bed that I made. I am now drying some towels. I also started a load of laundry for myself. I went outside briefly, and I chatted with relatives. I chatted with a friend earlier. CIO

Note: <888> 06/27/10 Sunday 2:35 P.M. I woke up at 7 A.M. this morning. I dropped a relative off at another relative's house. I ate the same breakfast that I have been eating recently, but instead of oatmeal and English muffin, I had a muffin and banana. I showered, and I cleaned up. I packed my belongings. I took them to a relative's house. I then brought back a relative, and we moved the relative's belonging to the relative's house. We then picked up a Styrofoam chest that other relatives forgot at the motel. We went to a brunch with many relatives, and I had coffee. We then went to my relative's house, and I ate pulled pork, marinated corn, cold slaw, and watered down orange juice. I moved some items from the garage to the basement. I said goodbye to some relatives leaving. I gave a relative two 1 gigabyte PQI SD memory cards, so the relative could take some more pictures in the future. I unpacked in the bunk room in the basement downstairs. I set up the Dell Latitude D410 laptop computer in the basement. We have wireless internet in the house. I am definitely staying here probably until Friday, when I have to take a relative to the Manchester, New Hampshire airport. In which case I might drive down from there to Greenwich. It all depends on my relative's other house guests. The air conditioner on the Audi makes noise at idle speeds like the serpentine belt might be a little lose. I am suppose to have it checked out this week, and also have the brake fluid changed. There is a place in Kennebunk that works on foreign cars called something like VIP garage. CIO

Note: <888> 06/26/10 Saturday 10:35 P.M. I chatted with relatives. I showered, and I cleaned up. I went over to a relative's house. We went to an event with other relatives. We then went to a family dinner. I ate stuffed chicken with asperagus and sweet potatoes and three glasses of tonic water on ice with a lime wedge. I chatted with a number of relatives. I dropped a relative off at another house. I returned to the motel with another relative. CIO

Note: <888> 06/26/10 Saturday 2:45 P.M. I sat outside for a while. I chatted with some relatives. CIO

Note: <888> 06/26/10 Saturday 2:15 P.M. I woke up at 9 A.M. this morning. I went with my relative to H.B. Provisions, and I ate the same breakfast as yesterday. We ran into some other relatives. I returned with my relative to the motel. I then dropped my relative off at a relative's house. I returned to the motel, and I showered, and I cleaned up. I drove up to the Kennebunk Circle K car wash, and I got the Ultimate car wash for $12. I had not washed the Audi, since I was here last September 2009. I towel dried the Audi. I vacuumed the Audi for $1.50. I checked the new tires for 36 PSI. I then drove over to the Kennebunk beach, and I walked to the break water with a relative whom was there. We met up with some other relatives. I then returned back to the motel with my relative. I then dropped the same relative off at a relative's house. I waited for the motel room to be cleaned. I ate the same lunch as yesterday. I have to pick up two relatives at 4:30 P.M..

There might be isolated thunderstorms and a few showers between 4 P.M. and 9 P.M.. However, around the waterfront the weather can always change. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 10:35 P.M. My relative got another ride back from the beach. I chatted with my relatives. We went over to a relative's house. We chatted for a while. We went to another event with lots of relatives. For dinner, I had southern fried white chicken breast, pulled pork, marinated corn, slaw, corn bread, and Canada Dry Club soda with a quarter of a lime on ice. I dropped a relative off at another house. I returned back to the motel with my relative, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 4:20 P.M. My relative arrived back at the motel with my Audi. We sat out for a while. I then dropped my relative off at the Kennebunk beach. I drove up to Kennebunk, and I went to the Irving Circle K gasoline station, and I bought $18 of self service premium for $2.959 a gallon for 6.083 gallons at 151 miles since the Massachusetts turnpike yesterday at odometer 66406 for 25.17 miles per gallon driving mostly in highway traffic. I could not get a car wash there, since the car was closed there.

I then went to the Hannaford supermarket where the Stop and Shop use to be, and I bought bought two blueberry muffins for .99 each, sliced deli Hormel ham for $2.99 a pound for $4.36, Finlandia Swiss cheese for $5.99 a pound for $6.05, red potato salad for $2.99 a pound for $2.30, a package of eight Kaiser rolls for $3, a quart jar of Hellmann's mayonnaise with olive oil for $3.49, a 16 ounce bag of Hannaford wavy potato chips for $2.50, a box of three different type of eight each plastic cutlery for $1.19 a 13.5 ounce box of Cheez-its for $2.50, and bananas for .53 a pound for $1.34 and .06 sales tax and .14 meals tax for $28.91 total. I then returned back to the motel. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayonnaise and some potato salad and watered down orange juice. I will now go visit with my relatives at the beach. I used Scott blue mechanics paper towels which I had in the rear of the Audi, since I forgot to buy paper towels and paper plates.

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 1:20 P.M. I walked over to the Colony Hotel Beach, and it is full of young families with little children. There are a few fishermen on the breakwater. There might be a relative around from Illinois, since I saw a cardboard six pack container for Pabst Blue Ribbon beer on the ground. I sat out by the Breakwater Inn docks. There is a piece of property 4.6 acres with what looks like a house on it for sale at the entrance to the harbor on the west side. They have a telephone number on the sign across the harbor. I noticed Chick's lobster house is selling crab meat rolls for $7.99 and Lobster rolls for $9.99. Mabel's restaurant looks quite busy. Quite a few people are shopping the shops in the lower village. A lot of cars are parked over at St. Ann's, so I guess a few people enjoying the ocean view from there.

I chatted with a friend in Bridgeport, Connecticut. A lot of downtown Bridgeport and Stratford, Connecticut was damaged by the 60 mile an hour winds yesterday.

The motel room has been cleaned. I have the air conditioner going to stay cool. I am waiting for my relative to return with my Audi, before I eat lunch. A lot of the places in Kennebunkport do not take credit or debit cards, so sometimes cash comes in handy. My relatives had to pay cash for the dinner last night at the Captain's Table in Cape Porpoise, since they do not take charge cards. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 11:55 A.M. I walked downtown from the Lower Village to the Dock Square area of Kennebunkport, Maine. I sat by the waterfront, and I had a cigarette. I stopped by the Big Apple gasoline market store. I went to H.B. Provisions, and I ate a small bowl of oatmeal with honey and a toasted English muffin with butter for $4.16, and I gave them a 75 cent tip. I bought a half gallon of Tropicana Premium orange juice with calcium for $4.79. I said hello to some distant relatives walking by as I left. I sat out by the waterfront in the Dock Square area again. I used the bathroom at the public parking public restrooms. I said hello to my two other relatives driving through town to get fishing tackle. I sat out by the waterfront at Perkins Park. I then returned to the motel. I drank a 50% orange juice and 50% water mixture. The house keeper is working on the neighboring apartment, so she will be cleaning our room soon. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 9:50 A.M. Three relatives took off for a walk and to forage for breakfast. Another relative took my Audi to go to a relative's house to iron some clothes and have brunch. I showered, and I cleaned up. I took my vitamins and supplements with a glass of water. I will now go out for a walk downtown, since I do not have the Audi until the relative returns at 12:30 P.M.. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 9:00 A.M. I chatted with my relative. I had a cup of coffee and a blueberry muffin. I chatted with three other relatives. CIO

Note: <888> 06/25/10 Friday 6:45 A.M. My other relatives arrived at the motel after the last note. We chatted for a while. About 6:30 P.M., we went to another relative's house for cocktails and dip. More relatives showed up, and we all chatted. One friend's son has the new Iphone that came out yesterday. About 8 P.M., we all drove in several cars, and we went to the Captain's Table in Cape Porpoise for dinner. I had the fried seafood combo with French fries and a glass of water. A lot of the relatives were drinking wine and beer. Two other relatives showed up later. One relative came from England and another relative came from Seattle, Washington, so we tried to figure out which relative traveled the furthest. Two other relatives came up from Palm Beach. One relative had been down in Key West recently, and he worked on rescuing a stranded whale on the beach down there. About 10 P.M. we left the restaurant. I dropped three relatives off at Federal Jacks. My relative that I am staying with and I went to bed about 11 P.M.. We sat out briefly by the harbor. It looks like it might be a full moon tonight.

Note: <888> 06/24/10 Thursday 4:45 P.M. I woke up at 6 A.M. this morning. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance Spread, watered down punch with vitamins and supplements and a cup of coffee with milk and pure via sweetener. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage. I had packed the car the night before. I went through my short list of things to do before I left. I finally left at 8:15 A.M. after chatting with neighbors.

I drove east on Putnam Avenue to north on North Maple to north on North Street to the Merritt Parkway east. I took a pit stop at the New Canaan and Orange rest areas. I stopped at the I-91 North rest area. I then took I-84 East, and I stopped at the Vernon rest area. I stopped at the Massachusetts turnpike east rest area. I used the bathroom twice there. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich that I brought with me. I chatted with a relative. I bought $18.25 of self service premium gasoline for $3.049 a gallon for 5.987 gallons for 140 miles driving since I filled up at Sunoco two days ago at odometer reading of 66255 miles. I got 23.384 miles per gallon driving. I got off at the next exit at Worcester, and I paid a 50 cent toll. I took I-290 North to I-495 East. I stopped at the Lowell rest area, but their facility was closed today, so there are no bathrooms available there. I got on I-95 North, and I stopped at the New Hampshire rest area. I paid a $2 toll. I stopped at the Maine rest area. I paid a $2 toll. I got off at the Wells, Maine exit from the Maine turnpike. I stopped at the Wells Amtrak train station. I drove along the beach in Kennebunk, Maine, when it started to rain. I checked into a motel near my relatives. Another three relatives were checking in at the same time, and we are waiting for another relative that I will share the room with to arrive. I have wireless internet available. I unpacked. I cannot smoke cigarettes in the room, but there is a nice porch to smoke in front. CIO

Note: <888> 06/23/10 Wednesday 8:35 P.M. I went outside, and I chatted with neighbors a few times. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayo, and 1/4th of a 6.3 ounce tube of Pringle reduced fat potato chips, and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and the FIC server and the Network. I will then eat a three day old muffin, and I will go to bed soon. I will try to be up by 6 A.M. in the morning to leave around 8 A.M.. My notes from Kennebunkport, Maine will be posted at: Michael Louis Scott's Notes Kennebunkport, Maine, June 2010 .

According to

<http://mikelouisscottcom.cv.siteprotect.net/audi1998.htm>

the old Michelin tires were put on the Audi by Tire Kingdom in Vero Beach, Florida on 4/21/2003 at 28,945 miles, and they were Michelin Energy MXV4 Plus, 205/55HR16, 71970 and were 30,000 mile tires, and they cost $704.

Thus they had 37170 miles of wear on them. Mavis told me according to the side wall of the Michelin tires they took off, they were manufactured in the year 2000.

www.mavistire.com had a 150 locations in the New York area Mavis Discount Tire Locations where I can get the tires serviced if need be with the road hazard warranty. Also I can get the tires rotated for free at the Greenwich, Connecticut location, when they need rotation.

According to this the Goodyear Allegra is a 75,000 mile tire warranty manufactured for Samsclub Goodyear Frequently Asked Questions

However, www.samsclub.com does not show the tire in my size, so one can not compare it with the price that I paid.

Note: <888> 06/21/10 Monday 11:00 P.M. New bill to put tax on pipe tobacco:

Message Follows:

TIME June 21, 2010

Mr. Michael Scott
71 Vinci Drive
Apartment #206
Greenwich, Connecticut 06830

Dear Mr. Scott:

Thank you for contacting me with regard to H.R. 4439, the Tobacco Tax Parity Act. I appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Tobacco products are subject to excise taxes, which are taxes levied on the production, importation, or sale of particular products. In many cases, excise taxes are used to fund particular national priorities or programs. For example, proceeds from the excise taxes assessed on tobacco and tobacco-related products are used to finance the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP), which provides access to quality health care to millions of uninsured children.

As you may be aware, tax rates for roll-your-own cigarette tobacco and pipe tobacco are substantially different. Currently, roll-your-own cigarette tobacco is taxed at a rate of $24.79 per pound, while pipe tobacco is taxed at $2.83 per pound. In order to address concerns that some tobacco companies have simply begun labeling roll-your-own tobacco as pipe tobacco in order to avoid the tax, Representative Steve Cohen (D-TN) has introduced H.R. 4439, the Tobacco Tax Parity Act. This legislation would amend tax law to make the rate of tax for pipe tobacco the same as for roll-your-own cigarette tobacco.

This legislation has been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means in the House of Representatives. At the time of this writing, no similar legislation has been introduced in the United State Senate. Please be assured that I will keep your views in mind should this or similar legislation come before the Senate for consideration during the 111th Congress.

Again, thank you for contacting me. If you would like to stay in touch with me on this or other issues of importance to you, please visit my website at <http://dodd.senate.gov> and subscribe to receive my regular e-mail issue updates. Please do not hesitate to contact me again in the future if I may be of assistance to you in any way.

Sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER J. DODD
United States Senator

I finally moved the center window lamp with the small white shade to the far left of the window shelf, and I put the one on the far left with the larger shade on the center of the window shelf.

I went outside, and a neighbor had locked himself out of a vintage Oldsmobile sedan, so myself and another neighbor tried to open the door with a coat hanger. I was able to latch the inside door handle, but the door would not open, since the car was automatically locked from inside preventing the inside door handle from opening the door. Note: <888> 06/19/10 Saturday 1:45 P.M. After the last note, I took off the rough silk Victorian lamp shade off the center living room window lamp, and I stored it away. I figured with the hot sun shining on it in the summer, it might be a fire hazard. I put a smaller generic white cardboard lamp shade on it, and I will use the Victorian lamp shade in the cooler months, when the sun does not shine on the living room windows. I could look for a larger cardboard one, but there is no rush. I put the Lasko box fan on the floor beneath the living room, and I moved the other Lasko box fan to the left side of the bedroom air conditioner, so the box fans do not block the air conditioners' air intake. I woke up at 10 A.M. this morning when a relative called. I gave a neighbor three cigarettes. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a 50% to 50% mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with pure via and milk. I then drove further down Greenwich Avenue. I said hello to a couple of infrequent visitors whom smoke cigars and were driving a new grey SUV. I chatted with a relative on the wireless phone. I tried to use the bathroom on the ground floor of the senior and the arts center, but the men's room was locked. I used the men's room on the third floor at the east end of the building. I chatted with the night custodian. I then chatted with a regular outside of Starbucks. I then walked lower Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I then sat out for a while watching the dog walkers. I then returned home without walking upper Greenwich Avenue, since I had to install the new fan. I moved the box fan from the hallway entrance to in front of the Frigidaire 8,000 BTU air conditioner with remote control in the living room to blow more colder air out into the living room. I assembled the new Lasko stand fan per instructions which was simple enough, and I set it up at the hallway entrance in the living room blowing air around the living room on number one fan speed with oscillating enabled. mixture of fruit juice punch and cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with pure via and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage. I went to my 1 P.M. appointment. I gave the pair of small sunglasses with quilted case to the receptionist to give to the other volunteer receptionist tomorrow when she volunteers. I then went downtown, and I stopped by the Merry Go Round Mews thrift shop. They have a nice love seat in there that somebody might need. It would not work in my apartment, since I need the Ethan Allen recliner more. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by the Apple Ipad store, and I checked out the new Ipad. My homepage picture comes out very long on the Ipad. It does work for me. However, at $500 for the 16 gigabyte basic wireless model, I could not afford it, and I do not really need it, since I already have three very good laptops <http://mikelouisscott.com/computer.htm> . I chatted with one of the staff from Meli Meli who was from Nice, France; and they will be moving into the new location on the northwest corner of Grigg Street and Greenwich Avenue where the Chinese Laundry use to be. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I played a "Spicy Hot Cash" scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I toured the parking lot of the Antique Car showroom across from the Greenwich Train station. They still have Aristotle Onnassis' small orange Fiat with the wicker seats for sale that use to go on his yacht. I gave the Rolls Royce mechanic a few tips on fixing old Mercedes. I walked upper Greenwich Avenue, and I toured CVS. They have 12 packs of Schweppes ginger ale in cans there for $5.99 plus can deposit of a nickel a can. There is a bathroom in back opposite the photo counter, but it was locked. They are still remodeling. I mentioned to a staff member from Scotland, I used to get bored in New Canaan, Connecticut in the winter, and I once drove up to Canada on the New York thruway, and I crossed into Canada north of Buffalo, and I went to the duty free liquor store, and I bought a 1.5 liter bottle of Welcome to Grand Marnier website for about $30, and I returned back to New Canaan the same day. That was when I had the yellow 1971 Subaru that got 52 miles per gallon. I also stopped by Lake Placid on the way back, but not much was going on right before the opening of the winter Olympics there. I think that was around 1980. I finished my walk of Greenwich Avenue. I use the bathroom at the Senior and the Arts center. I sat out for a while in the rear park, and I smoked a couple of cigarettes, since the front park was busy with non smokers. I chatted with a friend and a relative. The relative is getting me a size 17 inch neck Oxford white shirt with 35 inch length sleeves. I then went by the Greenwich Library. Somebody had a Lazy W emblem on their GMC from the King Ranch, but it was a Connecticut vanity plate. Maybe there are people from Texas here. I toured the Greenwich Library, and I chatted with a staff employee. I then went to the Stop and Shop, and I bought a six pack of Yesterday's Kaiser rolls for $1.50, a four pack of Yesterday's muffins for $2, 16 ounces of Smart Balance Spread for $3.49, a six pound whole Eye Round of beef for $2.99 a pound for $18.03, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.99, and fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $2.14 for $29.95 total. I then returned home. I picked up the mail. I put away my groceries, and I chatted with a relative twice. I will cook have of the eye round medium rare seasoned generously with garlic powder, ground black pepper, Italian seasoning and with Jack Daniels barbecue sauce on it at about 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 48 minutes in the Sharp convection oven and freeze the other half uncooked. I will eat two half inch slices of it with my usual steamed vegetable mixture with olive oil and Smart Balance

Note: <888> 06/16/10 Wednesday 9:55 P.M. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer, and I guess I will go to bed soon. Although, I pay a lot of money for digital cable television, I frequently find it a distraction from my own personal reality.

Partly cloudy and windy tomorrow and 54 to 78 degrees Fahrenheit. I have a 1 P.M. appointment tomorrow. CIO

Note: <888> 06/16/10 Wednesday 9:25 P.M. Basically the summers around Greenwich, Connecticut which is where I think I am at are very short summers. Thus when we have the warmer weather we try to enjoy it, but we also try to do whatever we can do for another long cold winter, when we have plenty of time to rest.

Remember Aesop's Fables The Ant and the Grasshopper . Since I work with personal computers and the internet, I try to keep busy with it during the warmer months during the summer. Basically my activity is based on my own personal experiences which might be different from other people in the area.

I did not make it outside much last winter except for when it was sunny and above 40 degrees Fahrenheit, so I got a bit of rest. I did spend a lot of time worrying about them replacing the windows with double pane windows. It took a number of days for me of moving furniture to down size the apartment to make the window work area open for the window installers. Thus the apartment has a different look. However, there is no longer a sofa or other comfortable chairs except one, but there are still plenty of chairs set up at computers along with a couple of other chairs that are reasonably comfortable, but the seating arrangements are not in a comfortable pattern for conversation groups, but since I never have guests anymore, that is really not a problem. It is nice having a little bit more space in the apartment. I still have to use a lot of my storage space for the spare computer parts that I have acquired for my older desktop computers. However, for the type of computer activity that I do, such as blogging, email, and reading the news, I do not need any faster computers. I am not a computer gamer, so I have not invested in that faster technology.

I guess by modern standards, I might be stuck in the stone age, but I do not travel except for summer trips to Kennebunkport, Maine to visit with family. By not wandering around the Greenwich, Connecticut area which I have done many times in the past over the years, I am able to save a bit of money for my personal computer and internet activities. I have lived in Manhattan, so I do not feel the need to revisit areas that I have seen many times before. Having also lived on remote islands like Nantucket and Key West, I enjoy the quieter life in Greenwich while at the same time I am able to take advantage of some of the more modern conveniences which one does always find in remote locations. I want to make you aware of a Connecticut Department of Transportation (ConnDOT) pavement marking project beginning on Route 1 in Greenwich.

The ConnDOT will be installing new epoxy pavement markings on Route 1 at various intersections in Greenwich starting the week of July 6, 2010.

The new pavement markings include crosswalks, stop bars, and pavement arrows on state-owned roadways and at town road approaches to intersections.

Night time lane closures will occur between the hours of 9:00 PM and 5:00 AM in addition to a full closure lasting 15 minutes at times to allow for markings to be installed and dry.

I then went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I was a bit hungry, and I looked at some of the restaurant windows, but they are all too expensive. One could always buy a pastry at St. Moritz, but I felt like saving my money. I noticed at the renovation site where the Chinese Laundry use to be at Grigg Street, the listed name of the owner is a business around where Versailles restaurant is located on Greenwich Avenue next to Starbucks, so maybe Versailles is moving there. I was told by my 3 P.M. appointment at the southern end of Indian Field Road at Railroad Avenue near the Pet Pantry there is a rotisserie chicken restaurant where one can get a half of chicken and two vegetables for about $9. I stopped by the Greenwich Hardware store, and they sold me another spare Duracell 6 volt lantern battery for $5.25 at cost, since they consider me a wholesale customer. They do not carry Lye or Hydrogen Chloride, but I decided it would be do dangerous to make bacon soap. Plus the lye might cause the paint to come off my measuring cups and stain my other plastic mixing bowls. You can not use lye with metal. I stopped by CVS, and I picked up a prescription. They are now remodeling the pharmacy area. I stopped by Bestever Cleaners, and I picked up my two Oxford shirts with light starch for $4.20 total. I stopped by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue. I finished my walk. I put my purchases in the Audi. I tried to use the bathroom at the senior and the arts center, but they now lock up the bathroom after the senior center closes. I think there is probably one upstairs on the second floor. Let the buyer beware. However, they do have better ones at higher prices.

When I tried the Ipad at the Greenwich, Connecticut Apple www.apple.com on the day before my birthday, it was too small for me to read, and since I seem to have cold fingers, because I smoke cigarettes, it would not respond to my finger movements.

However, if you look at what I have spent on the Panasonic Toughbook CF29 that I have with all of its parts http://mikelouisscott.com/computer.htm , I could have bought the basic Ipad, but I have a feeling that the used Toughbook might be easier for me to use and might be more durable. Who knows. I guess I am not really up with the times. However, it is the nature of being a senior citizen, I think older items are like new. I saw senior citizens today in Cos Cob driving thirty year old cars, so I guess as one gets older, it gets only more extreme. CIO

Greenwich Food Pantry :: Neighbor to Neighbor

I want to invite you to participate in a Father's Day Donation Drive with Neighbor to Neighbor.

The Neighbor to Neighbor Fathers' Day 2010 drive began on June 7th and concludes on June 22th.

I believe Neighbor to Neighbor provides an important role for residents in Greenwich, especially during these tough economic times.

Too often men, living on the financial edge, are not a focus or beneficiary of collection efforts, yet they are 35% of the Neighbor-to-Neighbor clients. We would like to utilize Father's Day 2010 as an opportunity to provide resources for personal products just for the men.

We are asking residents to join them in celebrating Fathers' Day 2010 with donations, financial or in-kind, to Neighbor-to-Neighbor. The goal is to collect men's toiletries (razors, soap, shave cream, deodorant, etc.) in addition to funds and food.

Neighbor to Neighbor is located at Christ Church Annex 248 East Putnam Avenue Greenwich, CT 06830.

Best regards,

Lile Gibbons

The Bluetooth device and the Motorola H780 wireless ear piece were recognized by the Bluetooth software, but the device driver for the Motorola H780 was not installed, so it would not work. On the Windows 7 Demo partition, the software gave it the blue screen crash. I removed the Bluetooth Device, and I put it with the bedroom Abit computer, and I will install it there later. I took the Bluetooth device that was with the bedroom Abit computer, and I will use it on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29, since although it does not work with XP Professional, I know it works with the Windows 7 demo partition. I restored Windows 7 Complete PC backup of both partitions. I am now installing the XP Professional Updates again. I will then install the Windows 7 Updates, and I will do another Windows 7 Complete PC backup of both partitions to the Roswell external hard drive. The USB 2.0 hub on the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 does not work if it is plugged in all the way into the rear USB 2.0 port, it needs to be slightly pulled out for its hubs to be recognized.

I had to pay $50 for Le Blanc up in Norwalk, Connecticut to get rid of my 1976 white Volvo sedan, when I got the black 1998 Hyundai Accent which I had for a couple of years and then the 1998 green Volvo 850 wagon which got flooded after a couple of years followed by the 1993 Burgundy Buick Roadmaster wagon and finally the current grey 1998 Audi A6 sedan. Before the white Volvo sedan I had a yellow 1976 and then a green 1978 Volkswagen Dasher wagons. Before that I had a 1972 Burgundy Volvo sedan and before that a yellow 1971 Subaru wagon and before that a blue 1971 Volvo sedan and after that a 1966 blue Chevrolet Biscayne sedan and before the blue volvo a number of vintage Mercedes and before that my first family kids car was a 1965 black Mustang Convertible. After so many cars, I used to like driving, but I can not bring myself on my limited budget to spend so much on gasoline, and also since the 1998 Audi A6 was an expensive car, when it was new, I do not want to risk having to many expensive maintenance bills, which I really can not afford, so I do not drive it too much.

I have noticed when I have visited Old Greenwich over the years, they use to promote a lot of different beers at the entrance of the Greenwich Food Mart. On my visit yesterday, I noticed several of the shop windows are now filled with wine corks, so I guess Old Greenwich has become more upscale in their recreational beverage consumption. I guess with all of those over worked people walking around Tod's Point, they need a little bit of relaxing alcoholic beverage after their days at the beach. CIO

I felt like there was something else on the beach like a sea monster or something, and it made me nervous, so I worked my way back up the cliff, and I rode my Moped back into town. Note: <888> 06/07/10 Monday 4:10 P.M. I went outside a couple of times, and I chatted with neighbors. I walked around the building. I chatted with a busy friend.

I was shot at while walking out to the picnic area of the southwest park of Tod's Point here in Greenwich, Connecticut about 10 or 11 years ago during the last Thursday of May. I told a number of people including the Greenwich Police. There was a florescent orange target marker about 1.5 inches square nailed in with a galvanized nail at the base of a tree where the shot knocked the bark off the tree from the limb above me. I also noticed that there were bullet holes in the no clamming signs in that area. Today, when I mentioned it to the French biker, I mentioned there were no boats on the water then, and the land was two to five miles away on the opposite side, which is too long for a sniper shot. The French biker said that Navy Seals can pop out of the water and shoot at their targets, which got me to thinking more about the unsolved incident. That day earlier, I had chatted with a Doctor Palai from India who wore a black turban, when he was viewing the waterfront on Steamboat Road. Perhaps, he was involved with henchmen that thought I was Warren Anderson from Union Carbide, and they wanted revenge for the Bhopal disaster - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia . That same day George W. Bush showed up on television here from Kennebunkport, Maine, so before he was President, he could have been campaigning in this area, and I was mistaken for him. It was a colder day, so I was wearing my New Zealand brown leather bomber jacket with my green Australian bush hat, so I could have been mistaken for someone else. I called up Donald Trump, and I told him; they might have thought I was him. He lived in the waterfront in this area at the time. Also at that time John F. Kennedy Junior was a regular jogger at Tod's Point, so they might have thought I was him. There was also a Connecticut State Policeman from this area with the last named Major that died recently, and he had a bit of my look. I have a bit of former Lieutenant Keegan's look of the Greenwich Police Department back then. Also that day, there was a lot of traffic of people coming from down south moving up north for the summer. When I was coming back from Tod's Point, I saw a 1954 two tone dark blue and light blue Ford station with a surf board on the roof with South Carolina license plates on it which I had seen in the area before. As I was crossing the Indian Field Road bridge passing the Ford wagon, the driver waived at me. At the time, I also looked a bit like William Clay Ford who was well photographed then. Whatever, the case; the net result of the event is that no law enforcement agency ever interviewed me, and the Town of Greenwich, Connecticut just replaced the No Clamming signs with the bullet holes in them at Tod's Point. When I just called up the www.fbi.gov in Bridgeport, Connecticut to remind them of the event, they just hung up on me midway through the telephone call. It sort of makes me wonder what the United States Government is doing with our taxes or even the local government, if all they do is cover up events that to them do not matter. If that happened in Illinois, every state trooper for a hundred miles would be on alert. CIO

Note: <888> 06/07/10 Monday 2:30 P.M. I made up a batch of tomato meat sauce along with a box of linguine, and I ate one half with grated parmesan and Romano cheese on it along with watered down punch, and I refrigerated the other half.

I then cleaned the outside windows, and I checked the tires for 32 PSI all around. I was told the station will be closing in two weeks. I then went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. On the way up Greenwich Avenue, I stopped by Zen stationary, and I bought a package of Vaquero light cigar cigarettes for $3. I chatted with a local whom I had not seen in a while. I tried one of the Vaquero cigar cigarettes, and I think my home made cigarettes taste better, but I guess they would solve a nicotine urge. After I finished my walk of Greenwich Avenue, I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I then drove over to Old Greenwich. I walked around the downtown area of Old Greenwich looking in the many shop windows. It does not cost to park in Old Greenwich. At that hour of the morning, only the bagel shop was opened. A bagel with cream cheese costs $1.95, but I did not get one. I used the ATM machine at the Chase Bank. I chatted with staff from Feinsod True Value hardware store. I then got my hair cut very short at the The HairCut Place for $24 and a $6 tip, since I do not get my hair cut that often for $30 total. I then used their bathroom. I then stopped by CVS, and I got some change. I then went to the Feinsod True Value Hardware store www.truevalue.com, and I bought a Peak 2.5 Million Candlepower Spotlight PKCOTN for $27.99 and $1.68 tax for $29.67 total. I then drove out to Tod's Point. I parked at the southwest parking area, and I chatted with a bike rider from France. There was a fisherman there that was not having much luck. I then used the bathroom at the southeast concession area. I then returned back to central Greenwich, and I went by the Greenwich Town Hall. I have a Senior Pass for Tod's Point, but I got this year's parking permit for free at the Greenwich Town Hall. You need your automobile registration to get it. I then went to downtown Greenwich, and I sat out briefly. I used the bathroom at the senior and the arts center. I then returned home. I used my Stanley scraper, and I removed the old beach parking sticker, and I put the new one in the driver's side lower window. I read the instructions on the Peak Spotlight, and it says to charge it up the first time for 24 hours and then 15 hours after that at least every two months. It lasts about 35 minutes of usage. It says not to turn on the spotlight while charging since one can damage it. It also comes with an automobile 12 volt adapter for charging. I used an extension cord to connect it up for charging. I have it sitting on the right middle side of the bedroom sideboard with its instructions and 12 volt adapter. It should be fully charged by 11:30 A.M. tomorrow. CIO

For a change instead of listening to the BBC, I am listening to UK AWAY FM local english radio station for Lanzarote & Fuerteventura .

Having been in Lanzarote for three in February 1972, I know a bit about how remote out in the middle of nowhere, it is. Still the local expatriates seem to enjoy it. I think they probably have some British wave surfer types whom go there.

There use to be a bunch of hippies living on the northeast corner of the island which was still very active volcano wise with it gradually evolving out of the ocean.

There is no natural water on the island, so people have to be very conservative with water, and they only flush after number 2 and not number 1.

five pounds of Peters Stokkebye Norwegian Pipe Tobacco \(ounces\) would be $94.25 and 13 cartons of Premier LIGHT 100MM Tubes \(200ct\) would be $37.70 for $131.95 with free shipping for enough to make 12.5 cartons of cigarettes or $10.56 a carton figuring 2.5 cartons per pound of tobacco.

Thus there is a considerable savings of about $6 a carton in making one's own cigarettes. However, while up in Kennebunkport, Maine, I might want to spend less time making cigarettes, and enjoying my vacation with my family. Considering it take close to 3 hours to make a carton of cigarettes, one is saving $2 an hour when making one's own cigarettes. When I use to own this car Michael Scott 1992 Buick Roadmaster Station Wagon , I had more room to move stuff. However, I do not move much stuff anymore.

I do not go to the Greenwich Hospital Thrift shop anymore, since they opened their new shop across from the Hamilton Avenue school, they are mostly women's dresses and a few household items, but they no longer carry electronics which is mostly what I use to buy there. CIO

Note: <888> 06/04/10 Friday 10:50 A.M. I walked around the building when I went out earlier. New Country Audi of Greenwich CT | Westchester and Fairfield County Audi dealer serving Stamford wants $169 to change the 1998 Audi A6 owned by Michael Scott brake fluid.

I have one and a half bottles of Final Detail | Auto Detailing Wax | Car Interior Detailing spray car wax. One of these days, if we ever get a cooler overcast day, I could spend $8 to get the car washed across the street, and it only takes about a half hour to wax the car with the Final Detail car wax spray. You apply it like furniture polish, you do not need to have to work to buff it. I was so busy recently with the windows installation and rearranging the apartment and computers, that a lot of the other seasonal activities that I do, I have not been able to do.

I am leaving on Thursday June 24, 2010 for a week to two week vacation with family in Kennebunkport, Maine, so sooner or later I have to get more ready for that. I also should probably get a short hair cut about two weeks before I leave, so I have that more "Conservative Old Guard" look that is very common in the more rural parts of New England. CIO

Note: <888> 06/04/10 Friday 10:00 A.M. I went outside, and I threw out the garbage. I chatted with a neighbor. Yesterday, the service light came on my Audi at just over 66,000 miles. I looked at the service manual, and it said the fluids should be checked which they have done recently, but it also said the brake fluid should be changed every two years regardless of the mileage used. I will have it done, when I am up in Maine this summer. I chatted with a relative. CIO

Note: <888> 06/04/10 Friday 8:10 A.M. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayo, and 1/4th of a 6.3 ounce tube of Pringle salt and vinegar potato chips, and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch. One useful connection I have in my neighborhood in Byram, Greenwich, Connecticut for those people whom go to www.nantucket.net in the summer or go up to Vermont skiing in the winter or other similar areas is that there is www.jeep.com dealership across the street from JEEP CHRYSLER DODGE CITY | New Chrysler, Dodge, Jeep dealership in Greenwich, CT 06830 which might come in handy for those environmentalists whom like driving vehicles on environmentally sensitive beaches in such areas as Nantucket. Note: <888> 06/03/10 Thursday 5:40 P.M. I went out after the last note, and I went to my 3 P.M. appointment. After my 3 P.M. appointment, I returned home. I picked up my mail. I then went by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue. I then went by the Wachovia Bank on Havemeyer Place, and I paid my rent to the Greenwich Housing Authority. I then returned home. I chatted with neighbors. It was not very busy downtown today, and I made four trips downtown, so I guess the Obama recession has slowed down the local downtown business activity in this area. Of course, we get the commuter traffic on our roads, which makes it seem busier, but when one is in the commercial areas, it is not very busy. I was thinking in case we ever get many travelers in this area, possibly they should open an American Express office on Greenwich Avenue in case any of the traveling public every shows up. CIO

Note: <888> 06/03/10 Thursday 2:00 P.M. I chatted with the relative again. Apparently the relative is without internet access and Cable TV, since a storm last night. I will now shut down the primary Vista computer and head out to my 3 P.M. appointment. CIO

Note: <888> 06/03/10 Thursday 11:30 A.M. I went out after the last note. I went by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue, and I used their ATM machine. Their front door still does not have locks. I then sat out downtown for a while. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I walked up to the Greenwich Hardware store, but they do not open until 8 P.M.. I tried to used the bathroom at Starbucks again, but they were busy. I then went by the Stop and Shop at 7 A.M., when they opened.

I bought a six pack of day old Kaiser rolls for $1.25, two 8 packs of Stop and Shop hot dog buns for $1 each, a dozen Egglard extra large eggs expire June 29, 2010 for $3.29, a half gallon of Florida Natural orange juice with calcium for $3, deli sliced Land-O-Lakes white American cheese for $5.99 a pound for $9.13, deli sliced Stop and Shop premium Virginia ham for $4.99 a pound for $7.71, a 38 ounce bag of Eight O'clock French Roast coffee beans for $11.99, two 12 ounce generic honeys for $2.49 each, two quart jars of Vlassic kosher dill pickles for $2.50 each, a 40 pack box of Pure Via sweetener for $2.49, two 48 ounce containers of Quaker Old Fashioned oats for $4.99 each, two Stop and Shop 64 ounce grape juice for $2.69 each, two Stop and Shop 64 ounce cranberry juice for $3 each, buy one get one free of Nathan bun size beef franks for $5.29 both, a three pack of boneless pork medallions for $3.59 a pound for $3.94, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.99, fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $1.94, broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $2.43, and a five pound bag of red potatoes for $3.99 for $100.77 total.

I then returned home, and I used my cart that I brought with me to bring up the groceries. I then put them away. I then went back out, and I chatted with a neighbor. I then went back out, and I went by Christ Church Neighbor to Neighbor. I chatted with the custodian whom I have met, and I gave him a telephone number of a mutual friend. I gave them the smaller size pants that I had brought with me.

I then went downtown, and I went by CVS. I picked up a prescription, and I bought a 48 ounce bottle of Wesson oil for $2.49, and I also used the bathroom there. I then I went further downtown, and the parking at the senior and the arts center is no longer available in front, but one has to park on the north side of the building or along Havemeyer Place along side the Wachovia Bank and the Town Hall Annex. I sat out for a while downtown.

I walked back up to the Greenwich Hardware store, and I bought a 6 volt Duracell Lantern battery for $4.29 and .26 tax for $4.55 total. I then sat out for a while. I chatted with a local painter. I then returned home. I put the new Duracell Lantern battery in my larger yellow lantern. I took the one from that I put it in the yellow Ever Ready lantern that had a worn out battery. Thus all three lanterns on the hallway bookcases have good batteries.

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 2:40 P.M. I went out after the last note. I chatted with a neighbor. I went all of the way over to the far east side of Greenwich, Connecticut to the Staples just east of exit 5 on the John Davis Lodge thruway, however I took Putnam Avenue. I bought a package of three clamp binders for $8.29 and a box of 100 Staples slim CD Jewel cases for $14.99 and $1.40 tax for $24.68 total. I returned home directly. There seems to be a lot of weekend commuter traffic which I am use to dealing with.

I picked up the mail. The order for the faster 8GB Class 10 PQI 8GB 150X SDHC Secure Digital High Capacity Card (Class 10) - Meritline.com for $19.99 with free shipping and the order for two CANON PowerShot SD780 IS Digital IXUS 100 IS 2.5 inch Scratch Resistant Screen Protector Film, FREE Shipping, CANON PowerShot SD780 IS Digital IXUS 100 IS PHONE 2.5 inch Scratch Resistant Screen Protector Film for $2.97 each less 10% off with coupon code "cfcl10" and $2.69 shipping for $8.04 total arrived. I put them with the Canon Digital Camera.

There is a sale today at PQI 8GB 150X SDHC Secure Digital High Capacity Card (Class 10) - Meritline.com with coupon code "MLCK116490073013NL1" you can get one for $15.99 with free shipping. I do not need another one. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 12:15 P.M. I ordered two NEW Portable Travel First Aid Kit, 70 Pieces, Plasti... - eBay (item 400140268209 end time Jul-31-10 08:00:47 PDT) for $5 each with free shipping for $10 total. I also ordered another one for a relative for $5. There is a three item limit on the order. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 11:35 A.M. I found a bluetooth ear piece downtown, but I can not figure out whether it works on not. I put it by the Motorola bluetooth ear piece I have by the FIC server. The ear piece I found uses the same charging plug, but it has only a very tiny button and no light to tell if it is working. It might be a Motorola, but I can not figure out the model number.

I ate three scrambled eggs and five strips of fried bacon and a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread and a glass of watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truevia sweetener and lemon juice.

While walking downtown, I noticed a fisherman with two fish in the back of his truck. He took one to the restaurant across from the movie theatre, and he left one in the back of his car. From what I remember, you are only allowed to catch one stripped bass per day in Connecticut, and he told me that one was a striped bass, but I do not know if the other one was a blue fish or striped bass. I told him about fishing on the beach at the end of Lyon Farm Road in Nantucket. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 10:20 A.M. I now have six quart jars of the pipe tobacco. I did not put the two 8 ounce packages of cigarette tobacco in quart jars, since they come in heavier packaging. I figure if I bought in the future 85 ounces of Peters Stokkebye Norwegian Pipe Tobacco (ounces) to get free shipping on over a $100 order, I would three quart jars for each pound of 16 quart jars. Thus if I do not manage to quick smoking sometime soon, I will have to buy another dozen wide mouth Ball quart mason jars. I bought the last ones they had at the Greenwich Hardware store, but they still have the regular mouth size Ball quart mason jars, but it is easier to stuff the tobacco into the wide mouth jars. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 9:45 A.M. I went out after the last note. I went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I stopped by CVS, and I bought a 1.4 ounce Fiber One bar for .89. I ate it shortly there after. I finished my walk, and I sat out for a while. I then drove over the Greenwich Hardware store, and I bought a case of 12 Ball Wide Mouth quart Mason jars for $16.99 and $1.02 tax for $18.01 total. I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a six pack of day old Kaiser rolls for $1.25, a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.29, a half gallon of Tropicana orange juice for $2.50, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2, and broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.69 for $8.73 total. I then returned home, and I put away the groceries. I will now put my loose tobacco in the mason jars, so it stays fresher. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 6:25 A.M. I had to turn off the wireless internet in my apartment, since my computers were being hacked, possibly through the wireless internet. I am not saying that any of my neighbors were hacking me, but possibly the web sites that they were looking at were causing my IP address to be hacked and my computers. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I watered the plants. I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go out for a walk.

Mostly sunny today and 60 to 82 degrees Fahrenheit.

The only reason, I buy it quantity from Peters Stokkebye Norwegian Pipe Tobacco (ounces) is that I get free shipping on a $100 order. Time to shower and clean up. CIO

Note: <888> 07/30/10 Friday 4:20 A.M. I chatted with two relatives after the last note. I went back to bed until midnight. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I chatted with an out of town security official. I went back to bed until 3:30 A.M.. I have been sleeping a bit more recently, since I have a hard time taking the heat of the hot summer we have been having recently.

I paid my www.cablevision.com Digital Cable Television bill, Optimum Online Boost Internet bill, and Optimum Voice long distance bill, my www.cl-p.com electricity bill, and my www.verizon.com telephone bill.

I will now wash the breakfast dishes and make my bed. I will then shower and clean up.

Cablevision now requires a digital cable box. The direct cable line into a television no longer works without the digital cable box. There is not much going on here. Note: <888> 07/28/10 Wednesday 3:05 A.M. I called up Canada at 1-613-996-8885, and I chatted with them about Economics. Apparently the company that Ian Greenshields who I worked with in Nantucket 26 years ago which was owned by his father up in Montreal, Canada is now called Richardson Greenshields which was bought by RBC in 1995

Canada's Biggest Bank/Brokerage Firms Working on Merger thus they are now part of RBC RBC. What do you want to Create? which is suppose to have an office on West Putnam Avenue here in Greenwich, Connecticut. Thus probably sooner or later when the weather gets cooler, we will probably having some Canadians showing up here to enjoy our warmer winters here on the edge of tropics. We usually have 40 degree Fahrenheit days here in the winter except for a month or two of colder weather. CIO

Note: <888> 07/28/10 Wednesday 2:15 A.M. I was told by www.chase.com that they manage six trillion dollars in assets. It sort of makes one wander how much money the government is printing out there and is in circulation, and whether the money is worth anything if too much of it is out there. Next thing we will be like Germany in the 1930s where a trillion marks would only pay for a postage stamp with the Kaiser's picture on it.

From what I know about this area in Greenwich, Connecticut we are rather peaceful and thrifty area, but we get a lot of people out of New York City working this area on a daily basis. There seems to be a lot of Italian Mafia figures from the Queens area of New York City claiming to be respectable local business people here. Having worked both Manhattan and Greenwich, Connecticut; I have a different perspective than somebody that just lived in one area. I suppose the Queens people work the local airports in the New York City area for business connections and other questionable purposes. CIO

For example, the Greenwich Country Club GreenwichCC - Golf & Country Club pays $271,027.58 a year. It says here that Prince Harry was entertained at the Greenwich Country Club PRINCE HARRY AT GREENWICH COUNTRY CLUB - TV.com which it seems the Greenwich Time www.greenwichtime.com

Of course as a Greenwich Country Club member back in February 1978, I was entertained at <http://www.paradiseislandbahama.com/> by a British fellow that looked like Prince Charles, but he gave me the name Richard Mercy of Eaton Square London, who is suppose to be a banker. A relative of mine returned recently from a vacation trip to Harbour Island Bahamas - Harbor Island - Briland Eleuthera . When I stayed at Mrs. Frances' boarding house in Nantucket at 31 India Street during the 1970s and 1980s, she told everyone that she had not left the island since the 1930s, but back one cold day in December in 1983, she told me she actually left the island every winter and went to Lyford Cay Homes: Lyford Cay Real Estate - Bahamas Real Estate . CIO

Note: <888> 07/27/10 Tuesday 11:05 P.M. While napping, I had a telephone call about Linda McMahon for Senate . I guess I am the only voter left in Greenwich with everyone away on vacation, so possibly my vote counts more. I woke up at 10 P.M.. I chatted with a relative. I think the Connecticut Republican Primary Candidates | Connecticut Republicans | CTGOP.org is August 10, 2010. With so few voters left in town, I might write my own name in and possibly win.

I was thinking a nice town of Greenwich job I should apply for would be Golf Course Inspector, and one could get paid in season to go out and play golf. I suppose out of season, one could be the out of town resort inspector where many Greenwich people might be. One could be the ambassador from Greenwich, Connecticut to Manhattan, but that probably would be too stressful. I will now eat a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread.

I noticed today while at the Greenwich Town Hall, the new parking violations bureau where one pays parking tickets is on the lower back side of the building on the southeast corner in what looks like a cubby hole that was once some sort of maintenance room. It is not part of the main building, but part of the brick archway that supports the rear of the building on the southeast outside terrace. Thus one parks in back or on the south side and walks around to the separate outside lower entry to pay a parking ticket. CIO

I tried using the Sony TV monitor off the FIC server, but I had a cable connected to the Sony TV monitor that kept it from working, so I removed the cable, and the Sony TV monitor now works as a remote monitor for the FIC server. I need to check my various

It seems like the FIC server was hacked again, so I restored the backup again. I am now backing up the few changes again.

There was a news program on www.foxnews.com about the politics in Port Chester, New York about the Hispanics trying to get an elected representative, but apparently most the Hispanics in Port Chester, New York are not U.S. Citizens although they make up 42% of the population in Port Chester, New York. Possibly if they can not get one of their own elected, they could find some local that might speak Spanish. I know the mayor of Mexico City had a house in New Canaan, Connecticut back in the 1960s, so there is nothing new about Mexicans and other Hispanics in this area.

Apparently because the nearby Rockefeller family have business connections in Latin America, there have been connections with them for a long time. Whether they actually stay here during the colder months is opened to debate.

When I first moved here in 1962, Port Chester, New York had a large African American population whom possibly have moved into other areas.

I normally do not go to Port Chester, New York, because I can not afford to shop in their Big Box stores which they have quite a few of.

I know since Rye, New York and other neighboring New York State towns have smaller downtown areas, a great many of people from those areas also shop in the Port Chester shopping areas. CIO

Note: <888> 07/25/10 Sunday 2:05 A.M. Before dinner, I chatted with a relative. After dinner, I cleaned the Ionic Pro air purifier, and I also cleaned the two air conditioner filters. CIO

Note: <888> 07/25/10 Sunday 12:25 A.M. I woke up at noon today. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I went back to bed until 3 P.M.. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed.

The order for this sound card for the FIC server Buy.com - Siig SoundWave 5.1 PCI for $19.75 with free shipping arrived. I installed it in the Abit computer, and I installed the drivers from the CD that came with it. It works just fine with Windows 7. I did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup of the Abit computer from the first hard drive to the second hard drive and then to the Maxtor external hard drive.

It was 72 degrees Fahrenheit in the living room this afternoon, when it was a 118 degrees Fahrenheit outside my windows over the flat black roof facing the western sun. I guess having the new window shades in the living room drawn down keeps it at least 10 degrees Fahrenheit cooler inside the apartment.

I ate two hog dogs on buns with ketchup and mustard and 1/4th of a 5.3 ounce tube of Pringles salt and vinegar potato chips and a dill pickle slice and a glass of watered down punch.

We had a fire call about 5 P.M. when the building fire alarm went off for a cooking smoke alarm. Four fire engines responded on the call. During the incident one rude neighbor expected me to carry in her groceries totally unaware of the other activity. We have shopping carts in the building for bringing in groceries. I picked up the mail.

I then watched some television, and I took a nap in the Ethan Allen recliner.

I showered and I cleaned up. I went out at 9 P.M.. I went by the A&P, and I bought a 33 ounce bag of Eight O'clock Columbian coffee beans for $14.29 less a 5 cent bottle deposit for $14.24 total. The air conditioning was broken at the A&P. I then went downtown, and I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. The train station was opened late tonight. It was busier out tonight than last weekend. I chatted with a relative on the wireless telephone. After my walk, I sat out for a while.

I then went by the Courtesy Mobil gasoline station at 623 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $7.01 of self service premium gasoline at $3.299 a gallon for 2.125 gallons at odometer reading of 66872 miles for 22.8 miles driving in the last two weeks for 10.73 miles per gallon driving in mostly local traffic. I checked the air in the tires for 36 PSI. The air pump is free there, but they were out of tokens, so I paid a quarter.

I then returned home. I will now make and eat the same dinner as last night. CIO

Note: <888> 07/24/10 Saturday 3:55 A.M. I watched a little bit of television. I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go to bed soon. I ate a muffin.

I ate a sautéed 10 ounce top round CAB London Broil with my usual vegetable mixture with olive oil and Smart Balance spread along with watered down punch and a cup of green tea with truevia sweetener and lemon juice. I chatted with a relative. I put clean linens on my bed. I started two loads of laundry, and I have 45 minutes to go on the dry cycle. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature, and I watered the plants. CIO

Note: <888> 07/23/10 Friday 3:55 P.M. The Plantronics DSP500 headset works good enough on the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop computer, but it does have a little bit of static. I ate a 18 ounce can of Progresso New England clam chowder with some croutons in it and a glass of watered down punch.

I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go to bed soon.

Partly cloudy tomorrow and 77 to 92 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 07/23/10 Friday 2:50 P.M. I moved the gaming headset from the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop to the FIC server, and I connected it to the motherboard audio. I connected the Plantronic headset to the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop which has Windows XP on it, so it will work with the Plantronics headset. CIO

Note: <888> 07/23/10 Friday 2:15 P.M. The window shades are installed, and they darken up the apartment quite a bit, which is the way that I like it. I put back the Sony television and the desk and the FIC computer. I might have one of the audio connection cables from the Sony television to the stereo system plugged in wrong, but I will have to figure out that later. The Plantronics headset does not work now on the FIC computer, and I tried various USB ports to no avail, so I took it off. CIO

I finally woke up at 3:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up.

I moved the Sony television and its cabinet out of the living room into the hallway. I disconnected the wires to the FIC server, and I moved the mahogany desk out into the hallway. I went downstairs, and I sat outside briefly. I left a note for the building custodian that the furniture is moved, and the living room is ready to have its shades installed this morning. CIO

Note: <888> 07/22/10 Thursday 7:50 P.M. The building custodian was here. He only has the three shades for the living room, but he does not yet have the bedroom shade. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I have Vista Ultimate on the FIC server along with an ATI 9550 video card. I took the monitor video plug off the Epox computer, and I plugged it into the FIC server. I connected up the USB remote mouse to the FIC server. I then installed the ATI catalyst program for the 9550 video card on the FIC server, and it works just fine in clone mode on the Sony television monitor, so I can now watch the internet programs on the Sony television. I then did a Vista Complete PC backup from the first hard drive to the second hard drive. I started another backup to the Bytecc external hard drive. I went out to my 1:30 P.M. appointment. I mailed the $5 check to the George W. Bush center in the mail room downstairs. After my 1:30 P.M. appointment, I went by the Stop and Shop.

I bought four yesterday's muffins for $2, two six packs of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.29 each, two 8 ounce tubs of Smart Balance lite spread for $2.99, a 28 ounce bottle of Jack Daniel's original number 7 barbecue sauces for $2.39, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.99, fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $1.36, broccoli crowns for $.99 a pound for $.69, two cucumbers for .75 each, a 10 ounce bag of fresh baby spinach leaves for $3.99, two 5 ounce bags of Marzetti garlic and butter croutons for $1.50 each, plum tomatoes for .99 a pound for $1.74, and a five pound bag of red potatoes for $3.99 for $29.22 total. Thus there is now TV sound on the Abit computer. I also took out the old Creative Labs Soundblaster MP3 Live sound card which does not work with Windows 7, and I stored it on the bookshelf above the mahogany bureau in the bedroom. However, the LeadTek XP Expert PCI TV card does not work with the Windows 7 Media center, but it does work with the LeadTek TV program. I chatted with a friend for quite a while. I did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup of the Abit computer from the first hard drive to the Maxtor external hard drive. Note: <888> 07/19/10 Monday 3:35 A.M. I finished configuring the Windows 7 partition on the Epox computer. It is about 17 gigabytes in size on the 160 gigabyte first hard drive. I did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup from the first hard drive to the second hard drive. I then tried installing the ATI Catalyst program for the ATI PCI 9600 video card, however the program would not work. The Sony monitor shows up on the Windows 7 display items, however when one selects it, it is in black and white with a rolling screen. Thus I will not be able to use the Sony TV as a monitor with the Epox Windows 7 computer. I tried restoring the backup to get the previous configuration, but it would not work. Note: <888> 07/18/10 Sunday 7:50 A.M. Configuration of the Windows 7 Partition on the Epox computer is coming along fine. I probably have another couple of hours to go including the time to back it up to the second hard drive. I might have to take the Plantronics headset off of it, and use the Radio Shack Gigaware headset from the FIC server on it. However, the Plantronics headset I do not think will work on the FIC server. I have not tested it yet on the Epox computer with Windows 7. CIO

Note: <888> 07/18/10 Sunday 5:00 A.M. I got the product key for Windows 7 Ultimate for the Epox computer. I could not resize the hard drives, and I did quick low level formats of both hard drives with the Seagate Utilities. I then still could not get Windows 7 to partition the drives. I opened up the case, and I changed both hard drives from master and slave to cable select, and that solved the problem. I also took the Eizo 19 inch LCD monitor off the Epox, and I put it as the right monitor on the FIC server. I moved the Acer 19 inch LCD monitor which is sharper and newer to the Epox computer. When I repartitioned the hard drives with Windows 7, it created a first smaller 100 meg. drive, and then secondary 160 gigabyte drive. I also created on the second hard drive a full 160 gigabyte partition. I finished installing Windows 7 and activating it, and I am now installing the updates. I still have to configure the Epox computer with Windows 7. It is a lot faster than the older slower XP and Vista partitions which probably were corrupted over time. I really never used the Epox computer very much, so its components are fairly new, except for the two hard drives which came from my primary computer years ago, but they were never used too much once installed in the Epox. The Epox computer has the Hauppauge 1600 TV card, so it is already setup for multimedia in terms of hardware and connection to the Sony television in the living room. It was also setup as a backup server, which I will probably do again. CIO

Note: <888> 07/18/10 Sunday 2:05 A.M. After I finish resizing the first hard drive on the Epox computer, I will go ahead and install Windows 7 on it in about a 70 gigabyte partition. I have three days to enter the product key. CIO

I chatted with a friend.

I moved the fairly new white 25 foot telephone cable back from the Panasonic 2 line telephone to the Radio Shack wall telephone in the kitchen. I put the new black telephone handset cable on the Panasonic 2 line telephone. I moved the short black handset cable from the bathroom black princess style telephone to the AT&T two line telephone in the living room. I removed its longer black cable since it had static. I put the two new white 25 foot telephone handset cables on the two telephones in the bathroom. I stored the possibly defective telephone handset cables in the lower drawer of the night stand on the right side of the bed. The corded phones now all seem not to have static. I put the AC transformer on the middle left bookshelf of the bookcase at the kitchen entrance.

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted New York Everything bagel with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I gave a neighbor two cigarettes, and asked the neighbor to quit bothering me over such a trivial matter. I put clean linens on the bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I started two loads of

I was able to get the Netgear SC101 LAN storage device to work with Windows 7.

I downloaded the software from here SC101/SC101T SCM Utility Version 3.0.6 Build 6 \(for US customers only\)

I used the procedure on this page listed by "djassa1" SC101 and Windows 7 - NETGEAR Forums procedure:

After spending few hours, got it working in Windows 7.

There are the steps involved:

Requirement: SCM utility needs to be already installed on another vista machine with all SC101 drives attached.

1- Install SCM utility version 3.06 in Vista compatibility mode.

2- Use custom install and change program location to something like "C:\program Files\SC101". The default long path gives an error when installing the driver.

3- Accept all drivers when prompted by Windows 7 compatibility warning.

4- Don't try to run the SCM utility in any comptability mode, it will not work. Anyway, the purpose is to attach to drives not to configure them.

5- Now on the vista PC where the SCM is already installed, run the registry editor and go to "HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\Zetara\Client" key.

6-In regedit, export this key and all subkeys to a file. Make sure that this file can be seen from the Windows 7 machine. Use a shared or USB drive for that purpose.

7-From the windows 7 machine, using admin privileges, double click or open the previously exported registry key file. Accept all the security warnings and import in registry.

8-Go to the Services panel (Run services.msc). Locate and restart the "Z-SAN Service".

Wait few seconds and all the drives should appear in the explorer. Windows 7 will automatically assign letters to these new devices.

Enjoy SC101 in Windows 7.

Like usually, use at you own risks because this by far an unsupported solution.

end procedure:

Also Windows 7, when doing the above procedure, I disabled the Windows 7 Firewall, which after the SC101 device worked, I enabled the Windows 7 firewall. The note above the procedure says to also disable the Windows 7 Defender, but I do not have that enabled on my computer.

Thus the Netgear SC101 LAN storage device works just fine on my Windows 7 partition on the primary computer. I believe in backing up my files, so that will be useful.

I then did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup of both partitions from the first hard drive to the new backup third hard drive.

I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw the garbage out. I chatted with neighbors. I picked up the mail. CIO

I drove over to the Greenwich Hospital Outpatient Dental Clinic, and the hygienist cleaned my teeth. I had a bit of swelling along side my crown on the lower left side of my mouth, so they gave me a local anesthetic and cleaned it out more thoroughly. The dentist examined it too. I was told to use the Water Pik on lower pressure parallel to my teeth and not to shoot the water down into the gums, or one can get debris stuck in the gums. I have to gargle with a teaspoon of salt and warm to hot water after brushing my teeth after every meal for the next few days to help reduced the swelling on the gum along side the crown. I chatted with the person that I left the sun glasses for three weeks ago, but they were not given them, so they went to check in the lost and found to see if they were there. Today mostly sunny and 65 to 89 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 07/08/10 Thursday 1:10 A.M. Now we all know the GreenwichTime is owned by the Hearst family which is heavily involved in California real estate, so from their business perspective, they are probably trying to promote California life styles and get people from New York to move there, so they make more money.

However, if you look at February 1982 <http://www.fi.edu/weather/data2/1982.txt> when I know it was minus 26 degrees Fahrenheit in this area after the eruption of Mount St. Helen's almost two years earlier, the data does not reflect that fact. So it would appear someone is messing with the data records at the Franklin Institute for some purposes unknown to us. Thus the other data records online might not be accurate.

However, I spent four years at college at www.lfc.edu in Illinois which is a lot colder than this area, plus my family lived in Boston which is a lot colder than this area, plus my family is from the Midwest which is a lot colder than this area, so more than likely I will survive any winters in this area for the rest of my life. There are a lot of Nordic people in this area during the colder months, and they seem to enjoy the warmer weather here during the winter than in the extreme north countries such as Scandinavia or Canada or Russia. CIO

Note: <888> 07/08/10 Thursday 12:35 A.M. As I recall, my family first moved from Decatur, Alabama to Stamford, Connecticut in July 1962, and as I recalled in the fall or late summer of 1963, we moved to Greenwich, Connecticut. I have told people it was cold when we first moved here, but they do not believe me. If you look at the this weather graph from the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia for Philadelphia weather <http://www.fi.edu/weather/data2/1963.txt> there was a low of 4 degrees Fahrenheit in Philadelphia on December 31, 1963, and cold weather that winter of 1964 <http://www.fi.edu/weather/data2/1964.txt> , so since Greenwich, Connecticut is further north, it would have been even colder here. Charts are here Philadelphia Weather Data @ Franklin's Forecast brought to you by Ben's Institute The Franklin Institute , so it does not hurt to be prepared for a colder winter. CIO

Note: <888> 07/07/10 Wednesday 11:55 P.M. I do things in Greenwich, Connecticut based on my experience on living here for all four seasons of the year, and I am not just a summer resident. Frequently we use the warmer months to get ready for the colder winters, when we have more time to rest at home on the cold days.

I moved the box fan from underneath the Frigidaire air conditioner in the living room back into the hallway to blow more of the cooler air from the bedroom into the living room. I moved the small tower fan from the hallway to underneath the Frigidaire air conditioner in the living room to blow more of the cool air around the Ethan Allen recliner. I frequently chat with people informally downtown, whom I have seen around walking for many years, particularly those whom seem to have similar experiences as I have had. CIO

Note: <888> 07/07/10 Wednesday 11:10 P.M. I went out after the last note. I drove all the way back east at least a mile or so way off to Greenwich Avenue. I used the ATM machine just west of Greenwich Avenue at the Chase Bank. The front door of the ATM lobby of that Chase Branch still does not lock properly. They have it on an electronic magnet lock at the top of the door, but the pressure on the door swing mechanism that slows it down, keeps it from making contact with the magnet, so the front door still does not lock, unless one pushes on it to close it all the way. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I used the bathroom at the Senior and the Arts center which was locked up at 8 P.M.. According to the Greenwich Time, they are leaving it open until 7 P.M., so people can cool off. I stopped by CVS. They have three 13 ounce boxes of Post

Cereals for $10 all three, or 12 ounce bags of ground Starbucks regular or French Roast coffee for $5.99 down from $9.99. After my walk, I used the bathroom at Starbucks, and I told them about there brand of coffee being cheaper up Greenwich Avenue. They told me they were not allowed to compete on prices. I chatted with a relative on the wireless telephone. I then went to the Stop and Shop. I chatted with my building custodian who will be going away for a week. I bought a fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $1.69, and a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.99, and a Yesterday's Pie apple pie with lattice top crust which is 12 inches in diameter and weighs 72 ounces for $4.99 for $9.67 total.

I then returned home. I did not get any mail today. I chatted with the same relative again.

I moved the green empire lamp to center of the window shelf with the two brass lamps on either end of the living room window shelf. I put the new lamp shade on the green empire lamp, and it looks just fine. Since it is linen cover over plastic, it should not catch fire in the bright sun that hits it in the summer. For dinner, I had baked haddock, barbecue steak tidbits, cold slaw, corn on the cob with butter, and watered down orange juice. I watched part of a DVD movie with my relatives. I went to bed at 10:30 P.M.. I was awake at 8 A.M. this morning. I ate the same breakfast that I had been eating for the last couple of days. I showered, and I cleaned up. I put the last few items in the Audi. I said good bye to my relatives. I left with another relative at 10:15 A.M.. We stopped by Chick's lobster house, and my relative bought me a lobster roll that I ate for dinner tonight. We stopped in downtown Kennebunkport, and my relative tried to go to a pet store, but it was closed. We stopped at the Amtrak Wells, Maine train station, and I used the bathroom. We got on I-95 south, and my relative paid the $2 Maine Turnpike toll. We cross into New Hampshire, and we got off at exit 2, and my relative paid the $1.50 toll. We took Interstate 101 west to Manchester, New Hampshire getting on I-93 North briefly, and we got off at Brown Road, and drove south to the Manchester, New Hampshire airport. I used the bathroom on the side of the road twice. We parked in short term parking. We use the bathroom. I then helped my relative bring in the luggage. I helped the relative check in for the flight which was not until 4:20 P.M.. I left the airport about 12:30 P.M.. I paid $3 to park. I returned the same way back to I-93 South, and I took it to I-495 West. I took a pit stop at the Lowell rest area. There was a traffic wreck east bound with traffic backed up at least 20 miles. I took I-290 South to the Massachusetts Turnpike. I got off the Chalmers rest area, and I used the bathroom. I ate a half of a chicken salad wrap that I brought with me.

I filled up at the Gulf self service pumps with premium gasoline at $3.049 a gallon for $22.11 at 7.250 gallons at odometer reading of 66672 miles for 176.5 miles driving since two days ago for 24.35 miles per gallon driving mostly at highway speeds. I paid a 50 cent toll, and I got off at I-84 West. I stopped at the Connecticut rest area. I took I-91 South to I-15 West on the Wilbur Cross Parkway. I stopped at the North Haven rest area. I next stopped at the New Canaan rest area on the Merritt Parkway. I took the North Street exit to downtown Greenwich, Connecticut. I stopped by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue. I then stopped at the Courtesy Mobil station just across the street from me. I bought $15.01 of self service premium for $3.299 a gallon for 4.551 gallons at odometer reading of 66803 miles for 131 miles driving since the previous fill up for 28.785 miles per gallon. I then returned home. I brought up some items. I turned on the air conditioners and the fans. The apartment was 100 degrees Fahrenheit inside, so it took a few hours to cool down, and it is not 75 degrees Fahrenheit. I chatted with a relative. I unpacked the car, and I put the items that I had stored in the apartment back in the Audi trunk. I ate the lobster roll with watered down punch. I unpacked my baggage. I watched a Laura Bush interview on www.foxnews.com. I chatted briefly with a relative. I started up the FIC server and the primary Vista computer. I installed the updates. I started the server.

I paid my www.cablevision.com Optimum Boost Cable Modem, Digital Cable Television and Optimum Voice bill, my www.cl-p.com electricity bill, and my www.verizon.com telephone bill. I printed out my Microsoft Money 2007 June 2010 Income versus spending report.

Note: <888> 07/01/10 Thursday 12:10 P.M. I use to look like Tommy Tucker <http://www.tucker.com/> whose family recently sold a $80 million farm in Nantucket, and people in Nantucket were always asking me, if I were living at my grandmother's house, so I guess they though I looked like him. Tommy was in the class behind me at the Taft School in Watertown, Connecticut; and he was from Bedford, New York. However, now that I weigh 220 pounds, I probably no longer look like him. His family were famous for the Tucker Automobile :: The Official Tucker Club of America :: . However, since my branch of the Scott family have lived in America for 400 years coming from Virginia, I probably have a few relatives that look like me that are not too prosperous. I once read that Friends of John Jay Homestead John Jay's mother was a member of the Scott family which owned two farms in Manhattan around 1700, and were among the first two thousand residents of New York City. Thus members of the New York branch of the Scott family might have been able to hold on to some assets which the Virginia branch of the Scott family which ended up in Illinois in the railroad, soy bean, field corn and popcorn business were just average citizens. Of course food is probably cheaper in Illinois. CIO

Note: <888> 08/31/10 Tuesday 11:20 A.M. I chatted with a relative. I went outside, and another tenant is moving out. Thus I think there are three vacant apartments in the building unless somebody moved in recently. However, there is suppose to be a long list of tenants applying for public housing at the Greenwich Housing Authority. This building is not as desirable, since it is Connecticut Public Housing, which means the utilities and electric heat are not included in the rent unlike the other public housing units in Greenwich, Connecticut which are Federal Public Housing. A few days ago, I ate a couple of scoops of Edy's Caramel de Leche ice cream. Yesterdays, I ate two scoops of Edy's French Silk ice cream. The reason that I have been not going downtown as much recently is that I have been working on my computer systems. Also I am paying a lot to stay cool in the apartment, so there is no point sitting outside on a hot day unless one has nothing else to do.

I will now make

Note: <888> 08/30/10 Monday 5:05 A.M. I woke up yesterday at 9:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I went back to bed until 4 P.M.. I watched a bit of television. I chatted with two relatives. I went back to bed until midnight. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes twice. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. The toilet plunger broke ripping off its stick. I threw out the garbage. I drove over to Walgreens in Old Greenwich, and I bought a new toilet plunger for $5.79 and .35 tax for $6.14. I then went by CVS at the Riverside shopping plaza, and the same toilet plunger there is $2.90 more. I bought two CVS Adult Low Strength 180 count 81 mg aspirin for $7.49 each less a $5 off $15 CVS coupon for $9.98 total. They said they might get the English muffins that are on sale there for a $1.99 a 12 pack with delivery later on today. I then drove over to downtown Greenwich Avenue. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. They have five new Town of Greenwich Newspaper boxes on Greenwich Avenue. Each one contains five different publications including the www.greenwichtime.com . There are still some old Greenwich Post newspaper boxes out. The street cleaning machine did a U-turn on Greenwich Avenue coming out of West Elm Street, and he almost ran me over. After my walk, I returned home. The new toilet plunger works just fine. I will throw out the old one the next time I go outside. CIO

End of Scott's Notes week of 08/29/10:

Note: <888> 08/29/10 Sunday 2:45 A.M. I chatted with www.cablevision.com . On my bill that I will pay at the first of September 2010, they charged me for two Optimum Voice telephone lines, when I only have one. They corrected the bill, and the amount due on the first of September 2010 is $161.05. However, that is a little bit over $4 more than I have been paying, so once the updated bill is posted I will have to figure out what the additional amount is for. I watched a bit of television. They have been showing Peter O'Toole movies today on the Turner Movie channel. At my age I have seen a lot of their movies, but sometimes I try to relax and watch a little bit of the television. I cleaned the two air conditioner filters. I think when I take both air conditioners out later this fall, I will store them in my apartment, so they are available once it gets warm in the spring. I can put the smaller one underneath the chair at the hallway entrance. The slightly larger one can fit behind the Ethan Allen recliner or underneath the oak dining table on the windows side.

The computers all seem to be running just fine, so I really do not have anything more to do on them except normal usage. It has been a long process of upgrading my overall network of computers for the last 10 months, and it has been quite costly for me.

The current computer setup is <http://mikelouisscott.com/computer.htm> .

I suppose once I have extra funds, I will have to start paying my automobile insurance policy again once the new policy starts for the first four months of the policy starting in October 2010, with payments in November 2010, December 2010, and January 2011 with the new policy expiring around April 7, 2011. I also probably should get the brake fluid changed on the Audi, which one is suppose to do every two years regardless of the amount of mileage one drives. The local Audi dealer would charge me $165 to replace the brake fluid. The Audi just turned to 67,000 miles the other night, so I am still only driving about 3,500 miles a year. I also usually spend about $55 in the fall to have the oil and the oil filter changed and the fluids checked. I have new tires on the Audi, so I should have better traction when driving in the winter conditions. I will wait until after I return from Kennebunkport, Maine later in September 2010 to do any more maintenance on the Audi. I also should wax the Audi, which I have not done since I have owned it, but it was waxed just before I got it about three years ago. It still runs fine as far as I can tell.

I also need to get a crown put on one of my teeth, which I need to have done once I get back from Maine. My Connecticut state medical insurance will pay for it, but I did not feel like making two trips to the Stamford Town Center where the dentist is to have it done in the hot weather. Once it gets cooler and the schools start back in session, this area tends to slow down a bit which it already has done with recent recession.

I ate a three day old muffin.

I will now send out my weekly notes.

Sunny today and 66 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 08/29/10 Sunday 12:10 A.M. I posted pictures of the IBM ThinkCentre setup, the older IBM Netvista setup, and the new living room window shades.

Note: <888> 08/27/10 Friday 8:00 P.M. I went to my 3:30 P.M. appointment. I then returned home. I picked up the mail. I was thinking about setting up the IBM ThinkCentre on the place on the oak dining table where the Dell Latitude D410 laptop is. I was thinking about setting it up with two LCD monitors. However, when I threw out the bedroom Gigabyte computer last winter, I also threw out with it my dual 256 meg. Nvidia PCI video card which was installed with it. It would have provided support for three monitors on the IBM ThinkCentre system. However, I thought about it, and I decided to leave the IBM ThinkCentre where it is on the right side of living room desk on the small blue bedroom night stand. However to make it more workable I took out the oak keyboard drawer from the bedroom Abit computer, and I set it up with the IBM ThinkCentre that the keyboard is easier to use with it. I pulled out the oak dining table about a foot more away from it, and I put the bent pine chair from in front of the bedroom window in front of the IBM ThinkCentre with a pink cushion on it. There is plenty of room to work at the IBM ThinkCenter, so it is a more useful setup. I put a round cushion on the secondary Dell Latitude D410 laptop chair, and the remaining cushion from the bedroom chair, I put on the bed. This all took a while. I did try an older non plug and play 64 meg PCI card in the IBM ThinkCentre to make sure the ATI PCI 16 Express works with a PCI video card, so I know I would have been able to set it up with two LCD monitors if I had wanted to. There is a video cable connector on the ATI PCI Express 16 video card, and one could get an adapter cable to set it up with two monitors.

I chatted with a relative. CIO

Note: <888> 08/27/10 Friday 2:40 P.M. I changed the BIOS setting on the IBM ThinkCentre from PCI to PEG, which I think stands for PCI Express Graphics. IDG is for the onboard video. However, the PCI Express 16 graphics card disables the onboard video, so one can not use two monitors with it.

I chatted with a relative. I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will get ready to go to my 3:30 P.M. appointment, and then I will return home. CIO

Note: <888> 08/27/10 Friday 1:05 P.M. On the IBM ThinkCentre, I installed the latest BIOS update. I also installed the Lenovo PC Doctor utility. It passed all of the Quick Scan tests.

Initially when I set up the IBM ThinkCentre, and it had a boot problem with the USB Pen drive installed, I would get an earlier boot option for Ctrl-S, and it would display a small boot menu for the bootup startup features which are not controlled by the BIOS. However, I can not seem to replicate that event anymore, and I really do not need to change any of the preliminary boot options anyway. Possibly if I cleared the BIOS, I might get it again, but as I said it is not necessary.

I ate a 18 ounce can of Progresso New England clam chowder with a glass of watered down punch and a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance Spread. CIO

Note: <888> 08/26/10 Thursday 10:15 P.M. When I installed the IBM ThinkCentre Office 2007 Enterprise updates, I went ahead and installed the Office 2007 Enterprise Validation update. However, when I start Office 2007 Enterprise now, it says that it might not be a valid copy, but in the instructions if one were to remove it, there is suppose to be a notice that it is not a valid copy in the Add and Remove Programs, which there is not, so therefore, it might be a valid copy. I do have a valid product key for it. I am suppose to get a friendly reminder occasionally that I can chose to ignore, so thus there is no problem with it, and it is fully functional. If there were ever a problem, I have a spare product key for Office 2007 Professional. I chatted with a relative.

Since I have the spare DVD/RW drive, I took out the second unused LG SuperMulti from the primary Windows 7 computer where it was already disconnected, so I could install the third hard drive. I put it in as a second DVD/RW drive in the FIC server, so the FIC server can now do DVD to DVD direct copies which is a useful feature. I put a white face plate on the opening of the primary Windows 7 computer. I stored the CD/RW drive I took out of the FIC server on the far right at the top of the bedroom sideboard. I put its case rails in my computer tool holder case.

I ate a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread and a glass of cold filtered water. I showered, and I cleaned up. I said hello to neighbors. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown, and I sat out briefly at the senior and the arts center, and I chatted with a senior about Canada. I used the bathroom there. I then went to the Greenwich Town Hall. I changed the IBM ThinkCentre CMOS setting for Video to PCI. I then shut it down, and I disconnected the Acer 19 inch LCD monitor, and I took off the VGA cable, and I put on a HDMI cable. I installed the new video card without any problems. I connected up the ACER LCD monitor. Windows 7 Plug and Play installed the new video card driver, and I rebooted, and the Acer LCD monitor was also recognized. I changed the Acer LCD monitor to 75 MHz. I installed a Windows update. I tested the system with the new video card with a few programs, and it is much sharper and faster. The Windows 7 video rating went from 2.2 to 3.4. I did a Windows 7 Ultimate Complete PC backup of the C: drive to the Maxtor external hard drive.

Note: <888> 08/26/10 Thursday 2:35 A.M. I chatted with the Key West Hotel Resorts & Florida Keys Beach Accommodations - Casa Marina Resort Key West , and they are still busy down there. I tried to interest them in buying this 2005 Maybach 57 for a hotel car Mercedes-Benz of Palm Beach | New Mercedes, Maybach dealership in West Palm Beach, FL 33409 . They supposedly get a lot of European guests there, so I guess they would feel comfortable in a slightly used Maybach.

To see all of the activity down there, one can look at Live Duval Street Web Cam in Key West, Florida :: Sloppy Joe's Bar :: . Although it is not as posh as some of the other areas further north in Florida, it can be a lot warmer down there during the winter. When it is 32 degrees Fahrenheit in Palm Beach, Florida, it can be 65 degrees Fahrenheit in Key West, Florida. Of course if you get darkly tanned down there and come back up north, they might treat you like a refugee.

POSH comes from an Old British Expression, when the British Aristocracy used to sail to India. They would demand Port Out and Starboard Home, thus they would have a view of the coast line as they traveled on their ocean going vessels.

Of course, probably down in Key West, most residents probably put more money into their boats than their cars. CIO

Note: <888> 08/26/10 Thursday 1:45 A.M. Back in the Good Old Days, before Greenwich, Connecticut started catering to the Rich and Famous, Greenwich Avenue use to have a lunch bar at Woolworths and also one at the Greenwich Drug Store and the Garden Poultry market. As I recall, the Woolworths hamburger was a square pattie on two slices of toast with French Fries a piece of lettuce and a slice of tomato and a dill pickle slice for 99 cents, and the Greenwich Drug store was a little bit more deluxe with a thicker hamburger on a bun with the same extras for $1.25. Of course a www.coke.com was always about 29 cents extra. I think Garden Poultry charged 59 cents for a crispy fried chicken leg.

Back in the really Good Old Days before I moved to Greenwich, Connecticut in 1962, and my family used to live down south in Martinsville, Virginia; Pensacola, Florida and Decatur, Alabama; and we used to drive to Illinois and Michigan in the summers to visit my grandparents with stops in Champaign, Illinois and a months vacation on Lake Michigan in Holland, Michigan. I recall in down state Illinois where Granddad Scott's farm was near Robinson, Illinois; there was an area called Little Egypt. They produced oil in that area, and around 1960, gasoline was 11 cents a gallon and a package of cigarettes was 13 cents. You could even buy a parakeet at Woolworths for a dollar.

In the back of Superman Comic books, you could buy a Chihuahua puppy for $5, but when they came in the mail as tiny puppies, your mother usually thought they were rats and threw them away. CIO

I went downtown, and I stopped by CVS. I picked up a prescription. I bought a 15 ounce bottle of Alberto VO5 lime hair conditioner for .77 and .05 tax for .82 total. I chatted with the Greenwich Housing Authority Inspector. I left the dog's tennis ball back downtown where I found it last night in case the dog is missing it. I noticed the Bitteridge Jewelers now has blue painted plywood in the their right windows with a picture of the store in older days. Last year somebody removed the glass from those windows and robbed the store at night. There is nothing in the Greenwich Time about them being robbed again, so maybe they just changed their store front. I next walked lower Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I was told by a relative, Starbucks is redesigning their coffee shops where people just stand up at a coffee bar like in Europe, and there will no longer be wireless internet, so people just do not sit there and linger all day on the internet or reading the newspapers. During my walk, I chatted with a local fireman about the internet. I also chatted with a dog walker. I then went by the Stop and Shop. I bought a four pack of yesterday's muffins for $2, two six packs of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.29 each, and fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $1.83 for $6.41 total. I then returned home. I picked up the mail. I chatted with a neighbor. I chatted with a relative. I will now be driving up to Kennebunkport, Maine on my own on Wednesday September 8, 2010. Note: <888> 08/25/10 Wednesday 5:15 A.M. I went out after the last note. I went by the Mobil station across the street, and I chatted with the cashier. Once paying customers showed up, I got paper currency for $14 in change, and then I went by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue, and I made a paper cash deposit, which one can not do with change. I then went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. I found a dog's tennis ball on the way up Greenwich Avenue, and I did some finger exercises with it. I left it on the front seat of the Audi to have available in the future. Starbucks on Greenwich Avenue is closing on September 7, 2010 for new construction. The Versailles restaurant is in the process of moving a half dozen stores further down Greenwich Avenue. There are also a few other new shops on Greenwich Avenue. On the way down Greenwich Avenue in front of Baccarat, I found one of those big $100 black umbrellas with a wooden handle like diplomats and doormen use in Manhattan, similar to what Brooks Brothers sells. It had some bent tangled spokes, and it had been partially detached from its cover. I brought it back home with me. I returned back home about 3:45 P.M.. I then spent about an hour repairing the umbrella. I untangled its spokes. I then reattached the cover where it had become detached. One spoke was broken off about five inches, so I spliced in a piece of coat hanger wire, and it crimped it tight into the existing spoke. I then used loops of thread to secure it more securely. The umbrella does work now, however some of its spokes are bent down a bit, so one side is a bit lower than the other. I hung it with the other umbrellas behind the living room entrance door. CIO two USB2.0 High-Speed 7 Port USB HUB with AC Power Adapter,Black - Meritline.com for $6.99 each for $13.98 total.

I put the sound card and the LAN card in the IBM ThinkCentre, and the LAN card installed plug and play, and I have the Network and Internet connected to it. I installed the software for the Audio card, and I have the 2.1 speaker system plugged into it.

I connected the USB HDTV device to the IBM ThinkCentre, and I installed the software. It is HDTV, so I used one of my small blue HDTV antennas setup in the window to the left of air conditioner to receive the HDTV signal. I set up the stations in the TV software and the Windows Media center.

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed.

I put one of the new USB octopus hubs with a USB extension cable on the primary Windows 7 computer, and I reinstalled the devices plug and play connected to it. I used the existing power supply for it.

I move the older USB hub to the Epox computer, and I stored the old hub from there on the right side of the sideboard in the bedroom with the spare new USB hub.

I still had the problem with the disappearing third hard drive on the primary Windows 7 computer. I was finally able to fix the problem by opening up the CPU case, and changing the cable for the D: drive with the E: drive and vice-a-versa. I did a Windows 7 Complete PC backup of the C: drive to the third F: hard drive.

I am defragmenting the C: drive on the IBM ThinkCentre.

I chatted with a relative.

I will now shower and clean up. CIO

I got the information together to submit for my energy assistance application this Thursday.

On the August 5, 2010 notes, I put in the wrong information on my July 2010 www.cl-p.com bill.

The actual bill for July 2010 was $326.16 for 32 days for 1865 kWh or 58.28 kWh per day with an average temperature of 78 degrees Fahrenheit. However, I did not have the shades in my living room, so I was getting direct sunlight in my living room in the afternoon.

The bill for July 2009 was $177.38 for 27 days and 913 kWh for 33.81 kWh per day with an average temperature of 71.8 degrees Fahrenheit, so this past July ran 6.2 degrees Fahrenheit warmer.

I suppose the August 2010 bill will be equally high. CIO

Note: <888> 08/23/10 Monday 3:45 A.M. I woke up yesterday at noon. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I watched some television. I went back to bed until 4 P.M.. I chatted with Cablevision about the technical problems that I have been having. I also chatted with an out of town security official.

I use to be around New York University in the 1970s and early 1980s. There were a lot of computer people in that area, and a lot of them had lofts in the Chelsea area of Manhattan. However by 1982, when I moved out of Manhattan, I was told a lot of the loft people were moving to Hoboken, New Jersey; so possibly there is some group of computer people there causing chaos on the internet. Once I was being hacked out of Rutgers University.

I also checked my Netgear FR114P router log, and I came up with two IP addresses of well known hacker sites from Hebei, China. They are "221.195.73.86" and "221.195.73.68" . In my Rules for the Netgear FR114P router, I blocked the address range of "221.195.73.0" to "221.195.73.99". I noticed later on the evening, the same sites were coming through my router. I am not sure if the blocking works or not.

I chatted with two friends and a relative. I ate a Stouffer's 21 ounce tomato meat lasagna with grated parmesan and Romano cheese on it along with a glass of watered down punch. I slept from about 10 P.M. to 2 A.M.. I showered, and I cleaned up.

I tried the tip from "Disappear" on the bottom of this page Windows 7 disappearing icons changing the options in the Control Panel under Troubleshooting.

However, not only in the past has the hacker removed my hard drive F: icon, but the hard drive also disappears in the device manager even after rebooting, so I do not think that is the problem. From what I recall my three hard drives and one optical drive are set to "CS" or Cable Select and not Master Slave.

This security site Cisco IronPort SenderBase Security Network gives my server a Poor rating.

Note: <888> 08/22/10 Sunday 1:45 A.M. I put away the laundry. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I watered the plants. I ate the same salad that I have been eating recently with watered down punch.

On a night schedule not much happens in Greenwich, Connecticut, since most people that live here happen to be on a daytime schedule. Still, I seem to always be a night schedule, once I get some of my daytime routines done. The grocery stores are no longer open all night, so one can no longer do grocery shopping in the early morning hours. There are two all night gasoline stations on West Putnam Avenue the Mobil and the Shell stations that have food items. Just across the border in Port Chester, New York; the Cumberland Farms is opened 24 hours. The Glory Days dinner just east of Greenwich Avenue on East Putnam Avenue is opened all night. The pubs usually close here about 2 A.M., but not many people drive over to Port Chester, New York anymore; where they are opened until 4 A.M., since the local police keep a close watch on anyone drinking alcohol and driving. I think the Cos Cob Laundry on East Putnam Avenue is opened 24 hours. All the way back East by exit 5 on I-95 on East Putnam Avenue the CVS is opened 24 hours at the Riverside Shopping Plaza, and possibly the Starbucks there leaves their wireless going on all night. The Walgreen's across the street from the 24 hour Getty station is opened 24 hours. I think the Mobil station in Riverside is also opened 24 hours, and possibly the Mobil station a quarter mile east of exit 5 is opened 24 hours. I think they have food items too.

I am on a limited budget, so I can not really afford to spend hardly anymore money this month, so I will probably be staying home more working on the computers. I do not think at age 60, I should be downtown walking Greenwich Avenue in the early morning hours, but I have plenty of experience doing it. I think they now have cameras downtown to monitor activity downtown, so they do not really need me anyway.

Everyone on the pier on Steamboat Road seems to be Spanish speaking, and they do not like seeing me show up at odd hours of the morning. The office plaza at the Greenwich Train station no longer puts out discarded computer items.

I manage to get by on a limited income, since I try to maintain a thrifty routine. I think McDonalds and Wendy's on East Putnam Avenue might be opened until midnight and 2 A.M..

Of course the Greenwich Police are suppose to be opened 24 hours, if you need help as is the Greenwich Hospital.

I do not know if the diner in Cos Cob is still opened 24 hours or not.

For people whom still can afford to drink alcohol, the A&P at the Port Chester shopping center still sells liquor until 4 A.M., and they sell food 24 hours.

There is suppose to be a 24 hour Stop and Shop somewhere in Stamford, Connecticut; but I do not know where it is. I think the Shop Rite across the street from the Super Stop and Shop on the Stamford and Old Greenwich border might be opened 24 hours. CIO

Note: <888> 08/22/10 Sunday 12:30 A.M. I woke up at 11:30 A.M. today, when a relative called. I then chatted with a friend who called me on his wireless phone as he was driving through town. I chatted with a local friend. I then went back to bed until 5:30 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I chatted with a friend. I went back to bed until 8:30 P.M.. I put clean linens on my bed. I washed the breakfast dishes. I moved the Logitech Communicate web cam that was on the Epox computer, and I put it on the IBM ThinkCentre. I moved the generic USB web cam to the Epox computer. I installed the Windows updates on the IBM ThinkCentre computer. I put a new Libman sponge on the dishwashing wand. I chatted with a relative. I showered, and I cleaned up. I am doing two loads of laundry, and I have five minutes to go on the dry cycle. I chatted with neighbors. I threw out the garbage.

Note: <888> 08/21/10 Saturday 4:50 A.M. I ate a day old muffin with some watered down punch.

Today will be 67 to 81 degrees Fahrenheit and partly cloudy.

Well, it is suppose to be 105 degrees Fahrenheit in San Antonio, Texas in a couple of days, if you like hot weather.

We get so much cold weather in this area with much longer winters, we do not my pay much attention to the shorter periods of summer weather, although a great many of the residents seem to enjoy warmer weather. I actually enjoy hot weather, but one has to keep the apartment cooler to keep the computers cooler, so I never actually ever bother getting use to the warmer weather in this area.

Knowing a cold winter still lies ahead, I maintain my summer routine based on my winter routines. However, on the cold days in the winter, when it is below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, I do not go out much anymore. Thus I get plenty of time for computers in the winter, and I seem to get even more rest.

I ate two bowls of reduced fat Cheez-its.

I installed the two Lotus programs on the FIC computer, and I rebooted it. I will look at them later.

Once I start up the server, I will shut down the primary Windows 7 computer which a'int much use, when you can not connect it to the internet. I suppose it is a new security feature from Microsoft that their users have no business going online on the internet. I know they live in such remote seclusion way out in the Northwest in Redmond, Washington that although they write good software from what I can tell, they do not have much of a worldwide view such as people get from living around the New York City area. Possibly Bill Gate's father knows more, since he was the head attorney for Boeing www.boeing.com aircraft. I suppose living in this area since 1962, I have been expose to people from the aviation industry since Pan Am started in this area, and since www.ge.com is suppose to make aircraft engines besides light bulbs and since there use to be a Scott www.af.mil base in Illinois and since I use to travel by air quite a bit until travel got to be too expensive. I even built a garage apartment out in Long Island in Mr. Grumman's neighborhood for a little old lady whose granddaughter worked for China Airlines. However, I doubt all of China could fit into the garage apartment if they came over to visit. Thus it seems the overflow from Long Island has found their way out here by some odd chance or coincidence. When I lived out there on Long Island, I would frequently drive up to New Canaan, Connecticut to do laundry on Sunday's where relatives lived, so possibly some people from Long Island followed me out to New Canaan, since even back in 1983 and the years before, it was already quite crowded out on Long Island compared to Fairfield County, Connecticut. However, from what I can tell, because Long Island is surrounded by water, it is cooler out on Long Island in the summer and warmer in the winter, even more so than the shoreline of Greenwich. However, I have been to New Haven, Connecticut many times, and it is a lot colder there in the winter. I have a theory that all of the energy used by New York City people tends to blow easterly our way, and make this area warmer in the winter and possibly warmer in the summer.

Remember, not to take any wooden nickels from the Indians. CIO

Note: <888> 08/21/10 Saturday 2:05 A.M. I chatted with the Nantucket Police department on their non emergency telephone number at 1-508-228-1212. I asked them if the electricity was still working there. When I lived way out in the middle of nowhere out in Nantucket until the first of December of 1983, I recalled that the electricity would frequently go off when the island population in the summer season grew from 5,000 to 50,000 people. I recall some time back then, the Nantucket electricity company had a big new fourth heavy duty ships turbine engine installed for a fourth generator. It was hauled over on the Nantucket ferry with very heavy duty equipment. I researched the British company that made it about five years ago, and they were bought out by a German company, and their manufacturing was moved to Germany, so I do not know whether any of it is still made in England or not. Nobody was at the British embassy in Washington D.C. 1-202-588-6500, so I told the Canadian Emergency telephone number at 1-613-996-8885. I did some work in Nantucket with Ian Greenshield whose family were involved Richardson Greenshield now a part of the Royal Bank of Canada.

I threw out an egg carton with three old eggs. I checked the local outside environment. There were reports of bears in the woods up around John Street in Greenwich near where www.ibm.com has their world headquarters in Armonk, New York.

I chatted with www.ibm.com in southern India. I am now downloading the demos of IBM Lotus Notes 8.5 and the IBM Domino Server 8.5 for Windows. The IBM server is very slow compared to what it used to be, so it is taking some time. Specifically it is 240 KB/Sec which is pretty slow for the internet during vacation time in August. I guess I will install them on the FIC server to see how they work. CIO

Note: <888> 08/20/10 Friday 11:50 P.M. I chatted with a relative before dinner.

On my internet security problems, it is too bad I have to work with the primary Windows 7 computer disconnected from the internet. However, nobody seems to look at my web site, and I do not get that much interesting email, so I guess I can write a little bit more with the primary Windows 7 computer, instead of surfing the internet.

During the development of Windows 7, I read about a dozen technology news stories that the www.nsa.gov was trying to install "Back Door Code" into Windows 7, so possibly they have; and that could be the cause of my internet problems. It would seem then that the politicians are using the NSA for Political purposes which would be against the law.

Obviously there are a lot of skilled computer people in this area with www.ibm.com at Armonk, New York about seven miles north of me as the crow flies. Possibly some disgruntled former IBM employee is hacking other people's computers. However, any professional computer person would know that would be against the law, and they could be arrested or sued for property damages.

Possibly it is coming from outside the country. Since the NSA can track all internet activity, and since I have made numerous calls to government and computer agencies about the problem, more than likely the government knows whom the hackers are, and they are possibly tracking them to see what their motives are.

With New York City nearby, we do have a large criminal element with access to this area, so possibly they are trying to cover up some of their activities that some of us local people may not have noticed.

Also we seem to have our share of foreign agents whom work the area, so possibly one of them is misinformed, and thinks my internet activity is more important than I regard it. Thus more than likely their native language would not be English, and they more than likely are interested in corporate espionage or even possibly political espionage. A lot of groups and individuals use Greenwich, Connecticut as a corporate or mailing address, so it might not be a local individual; but as I mentioned earlier someone that is trying to hide some sort of illegal activity.

I have had a number of neighbors tell me that they are in the Italian Mafia, but after working in Manhattan for many years and after having lived in Italy, I have seen more than my fair share of Italians, and I know they lost in World War II, so although they can be skilled engineers, possibly they do not like me tracking volcanology information on the internet, which they and the Japanese regard as their own expertise.

However, as I mentioned, nobody ever looked too much at the volcanology directory. Possibly in logging on to all of the foreign volcanology web sites, I have dealt with a lot of corrupted computers that might not have very good security software. I know so many computer people in this area, I can not even begin to think of anyone local that could be bothered with hacking me. Thus since the government more than likely knows, they are in the process of either shielding a criminal; or they have no jurisdiction in the area it is coming from.

Technically if it were a big enough problem they could block access to the U.S.A. internet from some other foreign destination. When I was able to track hackers before, it appeared to be coming from Rutgers University which is near Newark International airport. However, internet addresses can be faked and so can IP addresses, so it is not really proof of such activity.

If it were somebody that travels a lot, more than likely they would end up in areas with more restricted internet access, in which case the hacker attacks would come and go with their travels.

My primary question has been, "What is the Motive." We live in a fish bowl environment in this area, so my viewpoint it is someone that feels more secure in some other more insolated environment. Thus to use the internet, they would be more likely using a satellite connection which is more expensive, but also probably more easily tracked. The hacker could even be on board a ship. Whatever the case, it seems to me, that the fact that they hack me at this location, they must have some familiarity with this area.

I do not buy many goods and services in Greenwich, Connecticut or in neighboring towns, so it is not like they are trying to compete for my spending power.

Possibly having been a Bush neighbor amongst other important people in this area, they might think that I am somehow connected with the www.cia.gov , but I can assure you a CIA employee would not be running a web site. Possibly since I worked in French restaurants, they got the Culinary Institute of America mixed up with the U.S. Government intelligence agency, neither of which I have any connections with.

My web site pretty much says it all, so possibly someone is trying to take advantage of some friend or relative based on their perceptions, and I am totally unaware of the matters that this may involve.

Since the internet leaves a clear electronic trail to most any point in the world, it would seem to me that a criminal group that tries to use the internet and hacking to take advantage of someone would have to travel a lot to cover the traces of their activity. Thus more than likely they are working out of the areas adjacent to international airports, so they can skip the country in a hurry if they think they might be caught. There is obviously so much of this computer hacking going on through out the internet, that the computer business community tries not to mention it, since it is not good for business.

Having been a neighbor of politicians, I have seen a lot of government employees and have had people claim to be government employees, but the number of times I have been down to Washington D.C., they do not seem to know any of the people that I mention. Also the people in Washington D.C. seem to think I work for www.time.com which is another local company with Greenwich residents.

Thus it would seem to me, that people are not checking their sources when told certain information. Also it would seem to me, since Greenwich, Connecticut is suppose to have people whom claim they have money, more than likely we get a lot of people showing up here hoping some of that money comes their way, which from my viewpoint is not necessarily the case.

I do have suspicions that individuals in neighboring communities try to get part of Greenwich's business. However, from my viewpoint most of our business comes from the large amount of traffic off the highways, and besides having two busy highways, we are not much different than any other community with highways, other than the fact the stretch of highway on I-95 from Port Chester, New York border with Connecticut to Route 7 in Norwalk, Connecticut is suppose to be the fourth most dangerous stretch of highway in the United States of America. I would assume however, other highways like the Long Island Express Way are even more dangerous.

I put one of the medium 3M Command hooks on the left side of the Acer LCD monitor attached to the IBM ThinkCentre. After it sets after an hours, I will hang the Logitech headset from it.

The person that most frequently visited my apartment over the years was originally from Bedford, New York and knew both republican and democrat politicians. He was never too interested in Greenwich, Connecticut; since it is not private enough.

Another friend has the same political connections, and he does not think Greenwich is private enough either.

Both of them are constantly on the road traveling in their work, so they see more than I do sitting at home by the computer keyboard.

All I pretty much see in Greenwich, Connecticut is younger children, house wives and older retired people. Since the working public seems to have a lot of executives, they seem to travel extensively worldwide, so we get a number of visitors whom I have seen plenty of coming back our way. Whether the back country Greenwich people ever go downtown is pretty much open to debate, since they obviously can afford to shop anywhere, possibly they prefer to buy directly from companies at wholesale prices or at the point of origin or even through the government if they have government connections.

When Westchester County airport was not as secure, I use to see plenty of people traveling through there with military uniforms, so more than likely we have some military people living in this area whom probably work for politicians as opposed to tax payers.

I was told by one acquaintance who taught Physics at www.columbia.edu for 50 years that U.S. Government military intelligence had an office nearby Westchester County airport, and from what he could tell, they were a bunch of technology thieves.

I suppose with www.ibm.com and www.ge.com nearby, we have more than our fair share of corporate espionage. However, frequently from what I can tell, the individuals whom come snooping around are not too well informed as to what some companies do, since although they have offices in this area, they produce their product elsewhere in locations that might have better security as far as the company is concerned.

Wall Street is not the only game in this town, since the real estate is suppose to be the biggest business here in town, since we are close to New York City, but pay slightly lower Connecticut taxes.

Of course, one can live further out in the country in Connecticut, but one will spend more time and money commuting, and one will not have all of the urban benefits that some city workers expect.

Obviously, when the primary Windows 7 computer is not online, I do not get hacked. Frequently when I write long notes, somebody seems to monitor my internet activity and crash my web publishing program, so unless I save it frequently, I lose the content. CIO

I also ordered a Buy.com - Siig SoundWave 5.1 PCI for $19.98 with free shipping.

I will put them with the IBM ThinkCentre which comes with two PCI slots.

I went to bed about 5:30 A.M. I woke up at 1 P.M., when I got a no person telephone call. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I made my bed, and I washed the breakfast dishes. I chatted with a couple of people about the computer security problems that I have been having. They told me I might check with www.mcafee.com which I will do, when I have time. I chatted with a friend. I left a message with a Swiss internet company. I moved the 2.1 speaker system from the bedroom Abit computer to the IBM ThinkCentre in the living room, and I moved the generic pair of computer speakers to the Abit computer in the bedroom. I cleaned the Ionic Pro air purifier. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage.

I went downtown, and I stopped by CVS, and I bought a medium 2 hook package of 3M Command hooks for $4.19 and .25 tax for $4.44 total. I then sat out briefly downtown. Not much was happening on downtown Greenwich Avenue. There were just a few younger people walking around. It did not appear as if anyone were going out to dinner or the usual crowd, so I guess most people are still away on vacation.

I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a four pack of day old muffins for $2, a dozen Eggland extra large eggs expire September 17, 2010 for $3.29, a 64 ounce container of Stop and Shop grape juice for $3.49 and a 16 ounce package of Stop and Shop Maple bacon for $3.99, a 5 ounce package of Marzetti cheese and garlic croutons for $1.25, and two cucumbers for .75 each for $15.52 total. I chatted with a local republican security officer who needs to eat more, and he was complaining about the price of food, the last time I saw him.

I then returned home. I put away my purchases.

Note: <888> 08/20/10 Friday 2:50 A.M. I finished installing the 90 day demo of Windows 7 Enterprise on the D: partition on the Panasonic Toughbook CF29. I did a minor configuration, and I installed the updates.

On another matter, my primary Windows 7 Ultimate computer with McAfee Internet Security 2010 was hacked last Saturday morning. Specifically my third hard drive which I use for backup was deleted from the system, although it shows up in the CMOS. I was able to fix it by restoring the backup. Before using McAfee Internet Security but instead Microsoft Security Essential, my primary Windows 7 Ultimate computer was hacked even more. I even had Apple Java Script placed into my web log.

Yesterday at 8:30 P.M., I had the F: drive deleted once again, and I restored the backup in 50 minutes. Late this evening and this morning while installing on the Panasonic Toughbook, the F: drive was deleted again on the primary Windows 7 computer, so I restored the backup again. The hard drive on the primary Windows 7 computer was going constantly, while I was working on the Toughbook which it should not have been. I chatted with Microsoft in India about the problem. One has to dial Microsoft at extension 65000 to get through to them in India. The Microsoft number is 1-425-882-8080.

I took the primary Windows 7 computer off line before rebooting it after the restoration. I can post my notes through the network with the Cable modem turned off, and then once the notes are posted, I can shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I can start up the cable modem and let the FIC server go online.

However, that makes it difficult to work with the primary Windows 7 computer for such work as web browsing and email.

I could try booting the primary Windows 7 computer into Vista and see if the same problem happens.

I am a bit tired, so I will shut down the Panasonic Toughbook and the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go to bed soon.

Earlier I finished off a bag of croutons. I will eat a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread before going to bed or watching television.

Whether it is a hacker or a rouge computer I do not know. My router logs as usual do not show any activity. CIO

Note: <888> 08/19/10 Thursday 11:35 P.M. If you think Greenwich, Connecticut 06830 U.S.A. is slow now, once the children go back to school, it gets to be really slow. However, since we are a little bit over 20 miles as the crow flies east of New York City, anything or anyone can show up here sooner or later, since New Yorkers like crossing the border into Connecticut; but they are afraid to venture to far into the greater wilderness of Connecticut. Note: <888> 08/19/10 Thursday 11:15 P.M. I ate the same dinner as last night. I showered, and I cleaned up. I chatted with a relative. I threw out an old shipping box. I used EasyBSD to delete the Windows 7 boot manager on the Panasonic Toughbook CF29. It now only boots XP. However, I could not resize the unused D: partition space with the Paragon Partition Manager. However, the Windows 7 installation disk "Custom" options on installation gives on an option to resize hard drive space. However, I did not use it. I am not putting the 90 demo of Windows 7 on a D: drive on the Panasonic Toughbook. However, this time I will not bother configuring it. CIO

The order for Newegg.com - PNY Optima 2GB 240-Pin DDR2 SDRAM DDR2 667 (PC2 5300) Desktop Memory Model MD2048SD2-667-HS for $42.99 with free shipping arrived. In the IBM ThinkCentre, I moved the 256 meg PC2 5300 memory chip from the first slot to the second slot. I took out the 256 meg PC 3200 memory chip from the second slot. I put in the new memory chip in the first slot. The 3rd and 4th slots have 256 meg PC 3200 memory chips. When I booted the computer, it recognized the memory chips for 2.8 gigabytes, how it gave a memory error message in the boot up post. I could not get the Microsoft wireless keyboard to enter the CMOS setup, so I used a PS2 wired keyboard. Once I entered the CMOS setup, I guess it automatically reset the seated memory, and I no longer got the error message. The IBM ThinkCentre booted up fine with the Microsoft wireless keyboard, and it runs much faster with the extra memory for 2.8 gigabytes of memory total. I also took out the PCI fire wire card. I put the spare memory chip on the right side of the bedroom sideboard with another memory chip, and I put the PCI fire wire card on the bookcase shelf on top of the mahogany bureau in the bedroom.

I then moved the Acer AL1916W 19 inch LCD monitor from the FIC server to the IBM Netcentre computer. It was recognized plug and play in Windows 7. For some reason the screen saver does not seem to work, so I set it to blank. There is an unrecognized device that I found mentioned in the IBM Netcentre notes, but its devices drivers do not work in Windows 7. It is some sort of security feature.

I move the 19 inch LCD Eizo monitor to the left side of the FIC server. To connect it, I had to use a HDMI to VGA adapter on the ATI video card and a spare VGA cable that I had. When I booted the FIC server, it would not recognize the monitors in Vista. I finally disabled in Safe Mode the ATI catalyst program, and I installed the VGA driver for the ATI video card, and the FIC server booted up properly. I then installed the latest ATI driver for the video card, and I setup the left Eizo monitor in Clone Mode with the Sony Television monitor in the living room. When I installed the latest ATI driver, it removed two ATI drivers, which might have been a system error with the newer 2010 single ATI driver. I do not have a 3M hook yet for the headphones to hang from the left side of the IBM ThinkCentre Acer 19 inch LCD monitor. CIO

Note: <888> 08/19/10 Thursday 1:35 A.M. I put a thick hard Duck place mat on top of the Sony Trinitron WEGA television in the bedroom with the JVC videotape machine on top of it and the Cablevision cable box on top of it all. The Sony television does not have a large flat area for supporting the equipment on top of it, so the Duck place mat makes it more stable.

I also strung a coaxial cable from off the spitter connected to the living room Cablevision cable TV box, and I have its end set behind the IBM ThinkCentre to have it ready for the Mygica HDTV tuner. It says it will work with Windows 7 Ultimate which is on the IBM ThinkCentre.

I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go to bed soon.

There is no charge for the second cable box for a year. I returned home in not too much traffic, but there was a lot of traffic going east. I installed the new Cable Modem, and I called up Cablevision to have them activate it. It works just fine. I still have the spare Motorola Cable Modem if anything goes wrong with the new one from Cablevision. I installed the HDTV Digital Cable TV box on the bedroom Sony Trinitron WEGA television. I had to call up Cablevision to activate it. It works just fine. I programmed the Cablevision remote for the Sony Television. I setup the IBM ThinkCentre on the blue night stand with the shelf to the right of the FIC server. It is the IBM ThinkCentre M52 Type 8213. I backed up the original installation to the Samba external hard drive.

The Crucial www.crucial.com memory tester said it has three PC2 3200 256 meg. memory strips and one PC5200 memory strip.

It said it would take a PC2 5400 2 gigabyte memory strip, so I ordered Newegg.com - PNY Optima 2GB 240-Pin DDR2 SDRAM DDR2 667 (PC2 5300) Desktop Memory Model MD2048SD2-667-HS for $42.99 with free shipping. The IBM ThinkCentre has a label on it that it is from the North Carolina Judicial Department Administrative Office of the Courts. From what I can tell, it might be a brand new computer, since there is no dust on the inside of the computer or evidence of any usage.

I chatted with a relative twice and a friend.

I configured the IBM ThinkCentre. I had to use the Vista drivers for the Sound Drivers since the Windows 7 drivers did not work. Still it is a very good rather fast computer. I put a copy of McAfee Internet Security 2010 on it. I am using it with the new headset, the Microsoft Wireless 4000 keyboard and mouse set, the Eizo 19 inch LCD monitor, and a spare control panel. I also was able to use the spare Kingston 2 gigabyte USB pen drive for the ReadyBoost feature. I moved the older Intel web cam to the Panasonic CF29 Toughbook, and I put the new Sirius web cam on the IBM ThinkCentre. I am also using a pair older generic speakers on it. One can place the keyboard on the blue nightstand open drawer to have easier usage. I have the headphones hanging from a hook on the left side of the monitor. Once I configured it, I did a Windows 7 Ultimate Complete PC backup to the Bytecc external hard drive. I have used about 17 gigabytes of the 40 gigabyte hard drive on the IBM ThinkCentre.

The case opens up very easily. There is a PCI three port firewire card in the case that Windows 7 does not install the drivers for, so I disabled it. It has an PCI Express Video card slot, but with the onboard Intel Video, it seems to work just fine with 128 megabytes of memory. CIO

Note: <888> 08/14/10 Saturday 10:15 P.M. I went out after the last note. I threw away the soup can. I went downtown, and I stopped by and browsed CVS. I then walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I chatted with a dog walker about bricks. They make bricks in Decatur, Alabama; since they have lots of red clay. I chatted with a regular walker that works for www.jcrew.com on Greenwich Avenue. I told the walker about Custom Embroidered Shirts, Caps and Accessories!. I toured CVS again. I then completed my walk, and I sat out for a while. I then went by the Courtesy Mobil gasoline dealer at 623 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $9 of self service premium gasoline at $3.299 a gallon for 2.727 gallons for 30 miles driving since last Saturday at odometer reading of 66951 miles for 11.0011 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. I cleaned the outside windows. I then returned home. I ate a few croutons. I chatted with a relative. CIO

When I was an art history student in Florence, Italy back in the winter of 1972, I had a classmate from www.lfc.edu named Juan Echavaria? whose family had the original Spanish land grant for Columbia, South America. He claimed his family was richer than the Rockefeller family, and judging by the other rich people around in Florence, Italy back then, I took him for his word. One night we climbed over the back wall of the Medici Riccardi Palace - Florence - Museums - Monuments - Renaissance and Baroque Architecture - Chapel of the Magi - Frescos of Benozzo Gozzoli, and we explored the Boboli gardens. I do not know if he ever saw the inside during his visit. I later on was able to visit Barcelona, Spain; and Spain had no pharmaceutical laws, so I was able to buy diet pills to stay awake while I traveled on little food. I visited Lanzarote in the Canary Islands, but since I never learned Spanish; I spoke French in both Spain and in Lanzarote, so they probably think I am French. However, I only studied French for six years in high school, so I did not speak it that well. Possibly some of my Spanish classmates might have had a bit of money, since Myles McGough whose family were established in New York seems to be able to afford to live in Palm Beach, Florida; but he studied Spanish; so he does business deals in South America all of the time. Whatever the cost of peace around here, I figure the local English Speaking community is well traveled, so they might know more.

Note: <888> 08/14/10 Saturday 1:15 A.M. Happy Birthday to a relative. I woke up this morning at 11 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I threw out the garbage, and I picked up the mail.

I noticed that neither the Verizon or the Optimum Voice telephones were working. I chatted with a relative. All of the phones were on the hook. I connected one phone directly to the cable modem, and it did not work. After six telephone calls to Cablevision, I was able to get the problems fixed. Basically, the Cable Modem telephone port malfunctioned. When I tried my spare Motorola Cable Modem which I had not tested and which has two telephone ports, it would not work on the first port, but with a Cablevision software upgrade, they got it working on the second port. However, when I repositioned it into place, it would not work. After some trouble shooting, I figured out the Surge Protector on the Power Strip that the Cablevision cable ran through had malfunctioned, so I disconnected it from the power strip, and I connected it directly to the gold cable four splitter, and it worked just fine. I then had to reconnect all of the telephones that I had disconnected. The Verizon line to the computer area runs off a two line AT&T telephone from its Data Port, so it has to be connected properly to select the Verizon line, which took me a while to figure out. Once I had the telephone network working properly again, I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I watered the plants. I moved the pathos plant from the right living room window, where it gets too much sun, to the window ledge just behind the Ethan Allen recliner. I also moved some bric-a-brac around. I ate the same Dinty Moore dinner as last night. I chatted with a relative. I showered, and I cleaned up. I called Cablevision the last two times to get the server going. With the different Motorola Cable Modem, one has to reset the IP addresses on the Router, which I knew; but one also has to open up Port 80 and Port 25, which I forgot. They did that for me. I gave a couple of cable guys that I chatted with lectures on computer history, since I had time to chat. Since I thought the server might have been malfunctioning, I had already restored the backup, and I am now installing the updates and changes before I restart the server.

Early next week, I will drive up to Norwalk to Cablevision to exchange the defective Motorola Cable Modem, and get a new one for free.

It was a lot of work today with not much being accomplished. CIO

I had a system problem. I replaced the first IDE0 cable with another 3 foot Modware IDE cable, but that did not fix the problem, but the cable needed to be replaced anyway. The second IDE1 cable that I replaced a week ago had too much tension on it, so I repositioned two hard drives, so there was less tension on it, and that fixed the problem. I installed the updates on the Vista partition.

I ate half of a 18 ounce can of Dinty Moore beef stew seasoned with garlic powder, ground black pepper, and Italian seasoning and soy sauce along with a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance Spread and a glass of watered down punch.

The tobacco arrived in a big heavy duty five pound bag and two lighter smaller bags. I put the tobacco in the smaller bags in the mason jars, and I will put the rest of the tobacco in mason jars, when I am able to get more Ball wide mouth quart mason jars. There is no rush, since the five pound bag seems to be a heavy vacuum sealed bag.

I put the new bathtub mat on the side of the bathtub, and I put the old one underneath the bed.

I hung the four new shirts in the bedroom closet. They are quite nice. The two blue plaids are slightly different.

I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I chatted with two friends.

I installed the Windows Updates on all of the computers. I threw out the garbage, and I picked up the mail. I straightened up the two Aubisson carpets in the living room. I ate same salad meal with watered down punch.

I installed McAfee Internet Security 2009 on all three laptop computers.

I am now doing Windows XP Professional ASR backups of the three laptop computers to external hard drives. CIO

Note: <888> 08/12/10 Thursday 2:05 A.M. I ate a four day old muffin with some watered down punch.

I have a 3 license copy of McAfee Internet Security 2009 that I think I will put on the three laptop computer, when I have time.

I will put 2 of the 3 license copy of MaAfee Total Protection 2010 on the IBM ThinkCentre and the FIC server, which will leave me only one license left.

I took the IBM Netvista computer off the blue night stand in the living room, and I put it on the floor behind the Ethan Allen recliner. I put a shelf from the living room bookcases on the blue night stand to make it wider. I took one of the two control panels off the bedroom Abit computer, and I put it on the blue night stand. I setup the Eizo 19 inch LCD monitor on the control panel. I put out the Microsoft Wireless 4000 keyboard and mouse with a mouse pad on the left side. I put out two generic speakers. I put out the older Intel web cam. I have two headsets that may or may not work, and I need a Y-splitter to connect them with the generic speakers. I also setup a microphone. Thus I have the IBM ThinkCentre work area setup for when I receive it. I will not discard the IBM Netvista until after I receive the IBM ThinkCentre.

Note: <888> 08/11/10 Wednesday 2:55 A.M. I have not looked at it in a while, but IBM closed today at $131.84 IBM Stock Quote - United States , so despite the economic recession about 7 miles south of Armonk as the crow flies, I still manage to keep busy. Possibly they might need the IBM Netvista which is the 9 to 10 year old model with the built in LCD monitor and CD drive with a 500 MHz processor and 256 megs of memory in the IBM Museum. I was told that up in Armonk, they have a lot of old computers on display. I have only been in the IBM Armonk building a few times over the years, when I was job hunting when it was less busy up there before Microsoft came along. As I recall the last time I was at IBM's gate was possibly around December about five years ago or more. I recall I drove up there to give them a copy of either an XP or Vista beta release, but I can not recall which. I do recall seeing a large white helicopter land there once, and I call it the flying milk truck. However, we are constantly encouraged not to bother IBM in Greenwich, Connecticut; so we tend to forget about it, despite the fact that some days seem busier than other. I just figured most of our visitors in downtown Greenwich are New Yorkers crossing the border to save on taxes in Connecticut. I think they are about 1% less which on expensive items might add up. I noticed today on the way to vote in downtown Byram, Connecticut by the Byram River bridge intersection on the northwest corner just north of the Laundromat, there is a pizza place there that serves souvlaki if there happens to be any Greeks around. I think there is suppose to a restaurant there too that is opened 24 hours too. However, I only drive over that way rarely, so I do not know if times have changed with the recession.

I ate a three day old muffin. I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go to bed soon.

Today partly cloudy and 68 to 88 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

Note: <888> 08/11/10 Wednesday 2:00 A.M. I will put it where the IBM Netvista is now. I guess I will get rid of the IBM Netvista or donate it to a thrift store or church. It is really too slow to be of much use. I will now have a more functional piece of IBM equipment for whatever it is worth. I have a spare 19 inch Eizo LCD monitor to put with it, and I also have a spare wireless Microsoft 4000 keyboard and mouse. Thus my computer laboratory or office depending on one's viewpoint should be able to handle one more person. CIO

Note: <888> 08/08/10 Sunday 11:20 P.M. I ate the rest of the salad with some watered down punch. I chatted with a relative. The relative does not need the Levolor blinds that I found, so I put them out by the dumpster. CIO

Note: <888> 08/08/10 Sunday 10:00 P.M. I went out after the last note. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by CVS, and I bought four 18 ounce cans of Progresso New England Clam chowder for two for $3.19 both for $6.38 total. I then bought two CVS 5.32 ounce Pringles style potato chips for $1 each for $2 total, but I had $2 in CVS bonus bucks, so I did not pay anything. I said hello to a regular walker. I noticed some discarded <http://www.levolor.com/> blinds at the top of Greenwich Avenue by the Italian Deli. After my walk, I drove around, and I picked up the three boxes of Levolor blinds, and I returned home, and I brought them up.

They are the white vinyl blinds Levolor Vinyl Blinds | www.levolor.com . Two of them that are used are 46.5 inches by 72 inches. One set that looks like new is 48.5 inches by 72 inches. They did not come with the mounting brackets which are $20 a pair Installation Brackets for Blinds with 1" slats | www.levolor.com , however, the tops of the two 46.5 inch width blinds are cut several inches shorter, so I am not sure they would work or not. My windows in my apartment are about 4 to 6 inches wider than 48 inches and they are 96 inches or more high, so I would not be able to use them in my apartment. I will check with a relative to see if they can use them. If not I will give them to the building custodian or put them out by the dumpster. CIO

Note: <888> 08/08/10 Sunday 6:20 P.M. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I ate my usual salad with tuna fish along, and I refrigerated about 40% off it. I ate it with a glass of watered down punch and a cup of green tea with splenda and lemon juice. After I finish my tea, I will shower and clean up. I will shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go out for an evening walk. CIO

Note: <888> 08/07/10 Saturday 9:10 P.M. I went out, and I went downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by CVS, and I bought buy one get one free of CVS 60 caplets of B-12 2000 mcg for $8.29 both. I finished my walk, and I sat out for a while. I then went by the Stop and Shop. I chatted with the butcher from the A&P who was shopping there. I bought four day old muffins for $2 all, a half gallon of Minute Maid premium orange juice for $2.50, four 21 ounce Stouffer's meat lasagnas for $2.50 each, five 5 ounce cans of Chicken of the Sea solid white tuna for $1 each, fresh Chiquita bananas for .69 a pound for $1.86, broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.77, two 5 ounce bags of Marzetti large cut croutons for $1.25 each, one garlic and butter and the other garlic and cheese and a 16 ounce package of Smart Balance spread for $2.99 for $28.92 total. I then went by the Courtesy Mobil gasoline station at 623 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $6.25 of self service premium gasoline for at $3.299 a gallon for 1.896 gallons used since last Saturday for 19.7 miles driving since then at 10.35 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. I was told by the person that I chatted with in the Stop and Shop that the old Gulf and Exxon gasoline station next to the Greenwich Library is going to become another www.chase.com bank downtown. I read in the Greenwich Time that the property was owned by the TD bank, so Chase must have acquired it. I returned home. I picked up my mail. I put away the groceries. CIO

Note: <888> 08/07/10 Saturday 4:50 P.M. I took a nap after the last note. I chatted with a friend. I napped some more. I watched "The Prince and the Pauper" on the Turner Movie Channel. I ate a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread and a 18 ounce can of Progresso Lentil soup and a glass of watered down punch. I will now shower and clean up. I will shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will go out to do some errands. CIO

Note: <888> 08/07/10 Saturday 12:35 P.M. I ate a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread and a Nature's Valley granola bar with some watered down punch. I chatted with a relative. CIO

Note: <888> 08/07/10 Saturday 11:40 A.M. I tested the FIC computer server and Sony television and stereo system setup by watching a "The Simpsons" episode on The Simpsons - Full Episodes and Clips streaming online for free - Hulu . It seems to work quite well, but the sound has to be adjusted, so one does not disturb the neighbors. CIO

Note: <888> 08/07/10 Saturday 10:25 A.M. I took a Y splitter cable, and I hooked it up the FIC server sound card speaker connector, and I plugged the computer speakers into it. I also took a small jack Y splitter to RCA cable connector, and I plugged the stereo input cable into it. Thus when one put the stereo amplifier on "Phono", one can play the FIC server sound into the stereo system. This useful for when one watches the FIC monitor in clone mode off the Sony television in the living room, so one can watch video content with amplified sound from the FIC server. CIO

I have not done house cleaning since early June or May, so I really should try to devote some time to it in the near future. Earlier this morning, I installed the updates on the Panasonic Toughbook CF29 laptop computer. The demo version of Windows 7 on it expires in 14 days, but I still have XP Professional on it that it came with. I will not put the spare copy of Windows 7 Ultimate on it, since it is not necessary, and I think Windows 7 is a bit slow on it anyway, and Panasonic does not provide Windows 7 drivers for all of its features. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with a neighbor. I picked up the mail. CIO

Note: <888> 08/05/10 Thursday 2:30 P.M. I put more CVS drain cleaner in the bathroom sink before going to bed. I woke up at 6:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I chatted with a relative twice. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage, and I chatted with a neighbor. I went downtown, and I went by the Chase Bank just west of Greenwich Avenue on West Putnam Avenue. I then went by the Wachovia Bank, and I paid my rent to the Greenwich Housing Authority. I then walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I used the bathroom at the senior and the arts center. I toured CVS. I sat out for a while after my walk. I then went by the new Greenwich Hospital Thrift shop, and I bought a Dutch Blue night stand for $20. I then returned home. I took the IBM Netvista off the folding oak TV table, and I put it on the Dutch Blue night stand. Thus it is on a more stable platform on the right side of the living room desk. I put the folding oak table behind the bedroom door. I keep the IBM Netvista computer, since it runs Ubuntu 10.8, although it is an older nine year old computer. It is a well designed computer with a built in LCD monitor. Thus with Ubuntu it still functions.

Note: <888> 08/02/10 Monday 5:35 P.M. I had a telephone call from a friend about 9 P.M. last night. I ate a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread. I woke up at 6 A.M. this morning. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I showered, and I cleaned up. I threw out the garbage. The yellow flash light in the Audi had corroded, and it did not work, so I saved the batteries which were still good and the bulb, and I threw it away. I put the black rubber flash light from the apartment in the driver's side pocket. I chatted with a neighbor.

I made 133 Premier Lights 100 MM filter Peter Stokkebye Norwegian shag pipe tobacco cigarettes while watching www.foxnews.com .

The order for two NEW Portable Travel First Aid Kit, 70 Pieces, Plasti... - eBay (item 400140268209 end time Jul-31-10 08:00:47 PDT) for $5 each with free shipping for $10 total arrived via UPS. I put one in the bookcase shelf in the bathroom, and the other on the back seat of the Audi.

I ate two hog dogs on buns with ketchup and mustard and 1/4th of a 5.3 ounce tube of Pringles salt and vinegar potato chips and a glass of watered down punch.

The primary Windows 7 computer was acting funny, so I restored the backup from the Samba external hard drive that I made on July 14, 2010, but it still was running funny. I restored the backup from the second hard drive that I made on July 27, 2010, but there was still a problem with it recognizing all of the drives. I finally figured out the problem probably was not hackers, but the two USB pen drivers in the USB 2.0 hub were causing conflicts, so once I removed them, the problems went away. I restored the changed files, and installed an update. The primary Windows 7 computer seems to be running just fine now.

The windows installer and the building custodian paid me a visit. They will install the trim pieces and the screen tomorrow morning starting at 8 A.M.. I removed all of the items from the living room window shelf and the bedroom window shelf, so they can have room to work. Thus the apartment is a mess.

I picked up the mail. CIO

Note: <888> 08/01/10 Sunday 7:35 P.M. I will now shut down the primary Windows 7 computer, and I will try to go to bed.

Note: <888> 08/01/10 Sunday 4:45 A.M. After the last note, since the Cablevision television does not work without a digital cable box, I used a splitter, and I connected the Sony Trinitron television in the bedroom to the Cablevision Digital Cable Box. However, to change the channels, one has to change the Digital Cable Box in the living room. I removed the direct cable from the Radio Shack cable switch box. I went to bed about 5:30 P.M.. I woke up at 2 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and a sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truevia sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed.

I connected up the HDTV Digital antenna to the HDTV converter box which I put on the right side of the Sony television in the living room, and I connected it to the Radio Shack cable switch box, so when the left button is pressed on the Radio Shack cable switch box, one gets the Air HDTV which has 18 channels about half in Spanish. Of course one has to turn on the digital converter box with the remote control that I place below in front of the Sony television. I put the HDTV antenna in the right living room window pointed west. The right button on the Radio Shack cable switch box is for the Cablevision Digital Cable Box. To get a second Cablevision Digital Cable box, so I could change channels on the bedroom Sony television would cost me $6.95 plus tax more a month. Since I hardly ever watch television in the bedroom, I will not get one. Perhaps when I get older, and I want to spend time in bed watching television, I might get one. CIO
